Medical Costs To be Frozen In Phase Two

Recent Rapid Increases Cited By HEW Director

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Elliot L. Richardson says the administration plans to control medical costs in the second phase of its economic program.

Richardson said Sunday the department has been working with the Cost of Living Council for a brake on hospital and doctors' costs after the wage-price freeze ends Nov. 13.

"Because of . . . the very rapid rate these costs have been rising year after year, we do intend to include specific measures to deal with them," Richardson said.

His remarks were on the NBC radio-television program "Meet the Press."

Newsweek magazine published a poll Sunday that said 69 per cent of American families want wage and price controls continued after the freeze expires.

Newsweek said 55 per cent favored what it called "Nixonomics."

Telephone Consultation

The magazine said the poll was conducted by the Gallup Organization by telephone of a cross-section of American voters.

In his television appearance, Richardson also said the Nixon administration may send a proposal to Congress supplementing the President's health-insurance bills to deal with costs and quality of medical services.

He said that since the administration has "proposed to mandate health insurance coverage for all families and all workers . . . that we should also hold out assurances that cost and quality of medical care are going to be protected."

Richardson said it would be possible for Congress to complete action on the President's welfare reform program by Dec. 31.

Plane Hijacked, Three Are Killed

By F. T. MacFEELY
Associated Press Writer

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A real estate salesman hauled his kicking, screaming wife aboard a private plane today at Nashville, Tenn., commandeered the craft with a .45 automatic pistol and then killed the woman, the pilot and himself when trapped at Jacksonville, police said.

The FBI said George Mallory Giffe Jr., 34, died en route to a Jacksonville Hospital. Susan Giffe, his beautiful 25-year-old estranged wife, and Brent Quinton Downs, the pilot, were found dead inside the plush, twin engine turbo prop air Hawk Commander.

Two other persons, a copilot and a man charged with aiding Giffe, survived unharmed.

Nashville police and the FBI said the drama began shortly after midnight when Mrs. Giffe, described as a gorgeous brunette, got off work from her job as a switchboard operator at a Nashville motel.

Charter Flight

They said she showed up at the Nashville airport a short time later and was put aboard the private charter flight by Giffe. When his wife began fighting and screaming she was being abducted, they said Giffe told Downs he was a doctor taking the woman to Atlanta for treatment.

But Downs asked for identification, they said, and Giffe whipped out his pistol and ordered the pilot to fly him to the Bahamas.

Once airborne, the pilot radioed he was being hijacked. FBI agents said Downs persuaded Giffe he was low on fuel and landed the plane at Jacksonville International Airport.

After the craft touched down, FBI agents surrounded it and shot out the tires and one engine that was still running. Police said Giffe fired twice through the plane's windshield and then turned the gun on his victims.

Shot in Chest

They said Mrs. Giffe, mother of a 21-month-old child, had been shot twice in the chest. Downs also was shot twice, once in the leg and once in the back of the head.

When agents boarded the plane they found Giffe dying near the door, the pilot dead in his seat and Mrs. Giffe dead in the rear of the craft.

Bobby Wayne Wallace, 32, surrendered without a fight and was charged with air piracy, the FBI said. Randall Crump, the co-pilot, was unhurt but was treated for shock.

Agent Jim O'Connor, who arrested Wallace, said, "I took a loaded .38 off him. Asked if the bullets came close to him, the agent said, "I heard the shots scream past me."

Agents who stormed the plane also took off a small, gray box which they said had been described as containing a bomb.

No Bomb

Newsmen said military demolition experts who opened the box found no bomb. It contained some personal papers and pictures of partially nude women, the newsmen said.

Giffe was described as weighing about 300 pounds. Agents who took him off the plane said they had to use a rope to get him through the door of the plane.

In Nashville, police said Giffe was a former instructor at Peabody College who was operating a real estate office at the time of the hijacking. They said that Giffes separated a week ago.

When contacted about the death of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Lakich of Nashville said, "When she had not got home by 2 o'clock, I knew something was wrong. I knew George had gone down there."

Mrs. Lakich said her daughter had been living with her since the separation from Giffe.

Say Goodbye

She said Giffe had called her Sunday night and said he wanted to meet with Susan "just long enough to tell her goodbye and give her back her jewelry. I'm sorry to have caused you all the trouble I did but you will have happiness now because I'll be out of your life."

Mrs. Lakich said she learned of her daughter's apparent kidnapping shortly after 2 a.m. when she monitored a police radio broadcast that said the FBI was looking for Giffe and the plane.

The plane belonged to Big Brother Aircraft, Inc., of Nashville. Police said Giffe had leased the plane Sunday night for a trip to Atlanta.

Charter Employee

At Nashville, police quoted Larry Reed, an employe of the charter firm as saying he was standing near the plane early this morning with Downs and Crump "When the car pulled up and this gentleman got out and came up to us and said he was a doctor and had a girl that was sick or on drugs or something like that and needed to get her to Atlanta.

"That's when I noticed her. She was screaming and hollering and beating against the glass in the car window. The other guy in the car was trying to hold her."

Police said Reed told them the woman was screaming "I'm being kidnaped. Don't listen to what they say."

Police said Reed told them the two men pulled guns when their credentials were questioned. Later, police said, they found five suicide notes in the car.

Mistake Precipitated Bloody Attica Uprising

NEW YORK (AP) — An inmate at Attica State Prison says that a guard's chance misunderstanding of the actions of two prisoners practicing football moves led directly to the bloody four-day rebellion, the New York Times reports.

Both the Times and the New York Daily News today published lengthy background accounts of the Attica uprising. Both accounts emphasized that confusion reigned before and during the assault that crushed the insurrection

The News, in the first of a five-part series on the revolt, said there exists "no single objective record" of the events during the assault Sept. 13 when most of the 42 deaths at Attica occurred

Both the Times and News told of prisoners, accused by their fellow inmates of not going along with the rebellion, being found with their throats cut.

Information Gathered

The Times said its 10,000-word chronology of events leading up to and including the assault was pieced together from inmates, doctors, lawyers and legislators and from tapes, films, letters and notebooks

The Times said the misunderstanding that sparked the rebellion occurred late Wednesday afternoon Sept. 8 as the prisoners gathered in the yard.

A white inmate, Ray Lamorie, said to be a coach of the prison football team, was demonstrating a lineman's moves and feints to a young black inmate, Leroy Dewer, the Times said

At that moment, Lt. Richard Mulrooney, a prison guard, stepped into the yard and saw what he mistakenly assumed was a fight between the two, the Times said.

Stepped In

The paper quotes an unidentified inmate as saying that Mulrooney stepped up, put his hand on Dewer's shoulder and Dewer spun around and hit him in an apparent reflex action.

Lamorie defended Dewer, who was encircled by other inmates for protection, and the guards did not press a demand that he leave the yard, the Times said. But it added that two hours later the two inmates were summoned from their cells and rumors circulated that they had been beaten.

The following morning prisoners on the way to the mess hall burst into rebellion, overpowered five guards, then moved down a passageway to Times Square—the intersection of four cellblock walls in the yard, the Time said.

Manual Gate

At Times Square the lone guard on duty, William Quinn, was unable to secure the manual gate in time and the inmates fractured his skull in two places as they subdued him, the Times said. Earlier reports had stated that Quinn's skull was fractured when he was thrown from a window

Later, inmates with "scores to settle" sought out and beat individual guards among the hostages until leaders of the uprising set up a security force to protect hostages, the Times said.

The News account, assembled by a five-man team of reporters and the writer, Donald Singleton, said that among the many unanswered questions was whether there was ever an official order to the state troopers during the assault to open fire.

"The available evidence suggests that there was not," the News said, suggesting that one possibility was that the troopers mistook the sound of the exploding CN gas canisters for opposing fire.

The News said that electricity was turned off during the assault because prison authorities had reports that convicted bomb plotter Samuel Melville, who was to die in the assault, had electrified the gates and doorways.

Two Vacancies Will Delay Hearings

Seven Remaining Justices Open Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The seven remaining Supreme Court Justices returned solemnly to the bench today to begin the 1971-72 term without two illustrious colleagues, Hugo L. Black and John M. Harlan.

Black's death and the serious illness of Harlan cast gloom over the 11-minute session, which was devoted largely to a tribute to their careers by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger. Their high-backed leather chairs had been removed and the remaining justices were seated in a new order of seniority

Black had sat at the right arm of Chief Justices since 1945. His place as the most senior member was taken by Justice William O. Douglas, now the only remaining appointee of President Franklin D. Roosevelt and himself a 32-year veteran of the court. At Burger's left sat Justice William J. Brennan Jr., who moved up two places with the departure of Black and Harlan. Rounding out the seven-man court were Justices Potter Stewart, Byron R. White, Thurgood Marshall and Harry A. Blackmun.

The two vacancies are delaying a vote on the constitutionality of the death penalty and other important questions.

Burger said Black's departure was a profound loss. He said "throughout his entire life he never wavered in his unbounded faith in the people and in the political processes of a free people under the American Constitution."

Black retired Sept. 17 and died Sept. 25. He had served as a justice for 34 years.

Burger's tribute accented Black's reverence for the Constitution, respect for the Presidency and for Congress, but especially, his belief in the people, He said.

"In a period when institutions are under attack and when people themselves are having doubts about their own capacity to govern themselves, this should give heart to all, for Hugo Black had no doubt whatever about the ability of an informed and free people to govern their own destinies."

Tribute to Harlan

In tribute to Harlan, who retired Sept. 23 and is suffering from spinal cancer, Burger said his 16-year record as a justice attests "to his prolific and erudite contributions to the work of the court." Burger expressed wishes for Harlan's recovery.

Burger spoke under new bright lights that had been position in the high ceiling of the chamber during the 13½ week recess.

The lawyers and visitors who filled the court room were somber throughout the brief session. The only normal point of business was the admission of nine lawyers to practice before the high court.

Throughout the week the justices will consider at private conferences hundreds of petitions and appeals and motions that have accumulated since last spring.

Rulings on many of these will be released to the public and the bar on Oct. 12, the day of the next public meeting.

Officer to Get Top Level Review

WASHINGTON (AP) — The secretary of the Army is reviewing the case of Lt. Col. Anthony B. Herbert, who says his career was destroyed after he accused two superior officers of covering up Vietnam war atrocities.

An Army spokesman has acknowledged that Secretary Robert F. Froehlke has entered Herbert's case but would only say further that an announcement will be made when the review is completed.

Herbert, the Army's most decorated enlisted man of the Korean War, now spends his days as industrial operations officer at Ft. McPherson, Ga., supervising the post mortuary and laundry service

Congressional sources say Froehlke's review was started only last month after Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, learned of the case and urged a review

The information reaching Froehlke, the sources say, involves papers filed by Col. Fred E Hansard, 3rd Army adjutant general at Ft. McPherson, recommending that a damaging efficiency report against Herbert be taken from the records and the case be resolved in his favor.

The sources said Hansard's recommendation was made a year ago but was still never acted on Hansard, contacted by telephone, said he has never received a reply to his recommendation.

Reported Incidents

Herbert's problems started in 1969 when, as a battalion commander with the 173rd Airborne Brigade, he reported to his superior officers—Brig. Gen. John Barnes and Col. J. Ross Franklin—what Herbert called incidents of murder and torture of Vietnamese civilians.

Herbert said the two officers did not act on his complaints but rather called him a liar and cheat and told him to mind his own business. Barnes relieved Herbert of his post and recommended he never be allowed to command again after Franklin filed an efficiency report describing Herbert as undependable, uncooperative and without integrity, moral courage and loyalty.

Franklin's efficiency report has been used to twice deny Herbert promotion.

Rigging Charged

Thieu Gets Confidence Vote

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu won re-election by a far greater margin that the 50 per cent "vote of confidence" he sought, South Vietnamese election officials announced today.

But even as the final vote tally was reported, opposition politicians charged that the election was rigged. An election official in Saigon said he was ordered to replace anti-Thieu ballots with votes for the president.

The national election center claimed Thieu—the only candidate—won 91.5 per cent of the votes cast, with 5.5 per cent of the votes against him They were unable to account for the remaining three per cent of the votes cast.

"Now, for the moment we can't say where they are," said government spokesman Vu Khanh. "Maybe later "

One election official said the discrepancy could be due in part to the fact that seven ballot boxes were stolen in Da Nang, the scene of bloody anti-Thieu street riots during the election

He added that some voters might have thrown away both the Thieu ballot and the voting envelope after having their voting cards punched, possibly accounting for more of the "missing votes."

Researchers Cheered by Progress on Most Common Crippler--Arthritis

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthritis deforms limbs, inflames joints, inflicts pain and has done so beyond history's annals. It bedeviled cavemen and even the dinosaurs they fought.

But almost overnight, to quote one authority, there's optimism, "a sense of being at long last on the trail to the answers."

An answer would be welcome. Of all man's great cripplers—cerebral palsy, cerebral stroke, muscular dystrophy, multiple sclerosis—arthritis is the most universal, wrenches the bodies and lives of more persons

It affects 50 million Americans to some degree About 17 million require medical attention; nearly 3.5 million are disabled Arthritis' cost to the national economy is $3.6 billion annually in lost wages and medical expenses.

On Right Track

A spokesman for the National Health Education Committee, Inc., a voluntary organization that surveys crippling diseases, said "rheumatologists concur arthritis research is at long last on the right track and making good progress where until recently investigators were, in effect, flying blind."

And Dr William E Reynolds, director of medical and scientific affairs for the Arthritis Foundation, chief voluntary arthritis organization, said in an interview:

"Efforts by scientists and doctors to find the answer to the arthritis riddle have seemed for years to limp along discouragingly on dead center But now—and it seems to have happened almost overnight—most of the authorities in the arthritis field are feeling new optimism, a sense of being at long last on the trail to the answer."

Much of the optimism centers on newly envisioned possibilities of unveiling, perhaps by 1980, the cause of rheumatoid arthritis. The most dangerous, destructive and disabling form of the disease, it afflicts at least 5 million Americans.

But new experimental drugs, surgical techniques and novel research concepts also are creating optimism

Ranging from psoriasis, a common skin disease affecting 4 million Americans, to gout, the term arthritis covers nearly 100 conditions throughout the human body. Most cause aching and pain in joints and connective tissue.

Besides rheumatoid arthritis and gout that makes a special target of the big toe, the other most widespread types of arthritis are —Osteoarthritis, a degenerative disease of the joints that accompanies the aging process

—Ankylosing spondylitis, a chronic inflammatory arthritis of the spine that affects men 10 times as often as women and usually begins in the 'teens or early 20s

—Arthritis related to rheumatic fever, a systemic disease that frequently damages the heart. Victims often suffer arthritis as a complication, but it subsides quickly and never cripples.

Gout Control

When in recent years researchers found effective drugs for controlling gout, their work constituted medical science's first victory over a major form of arthritic disease

Gout, whose sufferers have ranged from Sir Francis Bacon to Benjamin Franklin, is an intensely painful, usually inherited disease that most often attacks small joints such as the toe

Now known to be caused by overproduction of uric acid that deposits needle-like crystals in joints, gout affects at least one

State Budget Delay Threat to Highway Improvement Plans

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Failure to pass a new state budget could cut almost in half the proposed construction during the coming biennium under the state's highway and bridge bonding program, Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's cabinet was warned Friday.

Without enactment of the proposed 1971-73 budget, the 1972 highway improvement program will have to be cut back $93 million, from $198 million to $105 million, said Secretary of Transportation Norman Clapp.

The state's failure to enact a new budget, coupled with unanswered legal questions over the legality of assuming such bonding obligations without the enactment of a budget, has forced on going cutbacks in the department's programs, Clapp told Lucey and fellow department heads.

The budget stalemate in the legislature, which has dragged consideration of a new budget more than three months past the start of the fiscal biennium and more than seven months past Lucey's submission of his proposals to lawmakers, has cut current spending, Clapp said

Clapp said that current highway construction contracts have been cut back from $106 million to $81 million during the past six weeks as a result of the fiscal logjam.

The statements came as Lucey paraded each major department head before fellow cabinet members and newsmen to recite the impact of non-passage of the budget on their programs.

GOP Blamed

The display came after Lucey blamed Republicans for the budget delay. He said that Assembly Democrats would not act on the $2 billion budget until a conference committee, split between Republicans and Democrats, took action of the issue of shared tax reform.

Lucey accused the Republicans of acting on less than one per cent of the shared tax issue when they indicated willingness to change the sharing formula of only utility taxes, totalling $1.5 million. The state's shared tax pot totals about $300 million.

A quarter of the biennial budget is involved in shared taxes, and a budget cannot be acted upon until a more equitable sharing formula is found, he said.

Clapp said that his department also is slowing payments to contracters for work done as a means of keeping down ongoing costs.

Atty. Gen. Robert Warren, a Republican, took part in the cabinet meeting, and said in reply to Lucey's vow that there would not be budgetary action until taxes are redistributed.

"If you instruct me to do it, I can assign a couple of my state investigators to try to find that purloined budget that seems to have disappeared."

Lucey shot back, "All you have to do is find me four responsible Republican votes. I can supply the other 13."

School Board Crisis

Archie Buchmiller of the State Department of Public Instruction said that local school boards are facing a major crisis if the budget is not passed within two weeks. Local budgets must be set by Oct. 18 so that local property tax rates can be determined, he said. If school districts gamble on a higher level of state aid than currently supplied — as proposed in the deadlocked budget — and the aid increase is not forthcoming, they will have to cut back on programs or cut the school year short to make fiscal ends meet, he said.

School districts that cut their teaching year to less than the minimum allowable 180 days will lose all state aids, he warned. Local property taxes are likely to go up as a result. In his prepared remarks, Lucey estimated that those hikes could total as much as $48 million for the state.

University of Wisconsin Pres. John Weaver outlined "austerity" steps he has already taken — freezing all hiring at the school of state-paid positions and making operating cutbacks. But the UW is being forced to teach 1,600 additional students this year on last year's budget, he said.

And Michigan universities have received a ruling that they can grant retroactive pay increases to faculty members despite the federal wage freeze, he said. UW faculty members can expect to demand the same benefits — yet money for the retroactive increases has been cut out of the deadlocked budget, he said.

Lucey Wants List of Veterans

Governor Orders Special Request to Go to White House

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey Friday moved to push federal officials to give Wisconsin's veterans agency the same breaks given the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He told John Moses, head of the Department of Veterans Affairs, to renew his request that federal veterans agency officials turn over to the state the names of all Wisconsin servicemen recently separated from active duty. Those lists are now regularly given the two private military organizations.

Last year Moses asked for the lists on a regular basis, but was refused by the federal officials.

The state had to show a need for the names, Moses said he was told.

When Moses explained that response to Lucey at a cabinet meeting here, Philip Lerman, sitting nearby, exploded. Lerman heads the commission which runs the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

"There are all kinds of uses," snapped Lucey. "We have $122 million in manpower programs and we don't even have access to that list.

"Prepare a letter to the White House for me asking for that list and I'll sign it," Lucey told Moses. Moses said the letter would be prepared.

New Checker Game Offers Challenge

BY CAPPY DICK

Any boy or girl who has a checkerboard and a set of checkers will have fun trying out the new game which is today's fun project. It's called 'Move Any Way Checkers' and as the name suggests, there is no limit on the directions in which you may move your men. They may be moved to the right, left, forward, backward or diagonally. The arrows in figure two show all the possible directions.

At the outset of the game the players lay out their checkers — 12 for each player — as in figure one. Each places eight checkers in the "king" row and four checkers in front. There will be no kings crowned in this game.

The idea is for the players to take turns moving their men into positions which will enable them to jump and capture the checkers of the opposing player. The jumping is done as in regular checkers. Any checker that is jumped is captured by the jumper and removed from the board.

The first player to lose all of his 12 men is the loser of the game.

Your Money's Worth

Private Forest Land Available to Campers

BY SYLVIA PORTER

If you are planning a vacation with a kindred soul in this, the most vibrant, most riotously colorful month of the entire year, how about a camping trip in a private forest owned by one of the leading forest products companies and available to picnickers and campers for free or for an insignificant fee?

Or how about a salmon-fishing trip along one of the hundreds of salmon-spawning streams flowing through these company forests and also open to you without charge or for next to nothing?

Or a hunting trip in these forestlands for game animals in season in accordance with the laws of the states involved?

Or a hiking trip along any of millions of acres of scenic trails in the forests? Or a motor tour in your own car along lightly traveled roads with special tour maps to guide you?

Unaware of Variety

It's improbable that you are aware of the scope and great variety of the facilities open to you on the 63 million acres of land owned by the forest products companies, including:

Porter

Crown Zellerbach, Union Camp, Georgia Pacific, International Paper, Kimberly-Clark, Scott Paper, St. Regis, Weyerhaeuser, Boise Cascade and Potlatch. I found out quite by accident just a few weeks ago when I went on a salmon-fishing trip at Campbell River in British Columbia and on the way, saw some of the vast areas CZ has opened to the public in our Pacific Northwest. (Yes, I caught a big one, 30¾ lb. on 15-lb. test line in a regulation rowboat with no one but me permitted to touch the rod and line, in less than 45 minutes.)

It's also unlikely that you know the extent to which leaders of the pulp and paper industry are welcoming you now — if only to help call your attention to their efforts to control their pollution of water and air. As Clarence W. Richen, a CZ vice president, put it, "We recognize our responsibility to make open space available for the enjoyment of the public." And Richen, who once taught forestry at Oregon State University, quietly added "We must manage our forestlands wisely so that we permit as many uses as are compatible with each other and with the land itself."

Take Advantage

Since this translates into your use of the private forests for your joy and benefit, how do you go about taking advantage of these free or very low-cost recreation areas?

(1) First, recognize that the forests are available to you. While you're waiting for more progress to be made on President Nixon's proposal to convert some 500,000 acres of Federally-owned forest and wildlife land into recreational areas, use the private lands.

To illustrate, Crown Zellerbach has 770,000 acres of managed forests in the Pacific Northwest interlaced with a 7,000-mile network of roads opening up to your areas which would otherwise be inaccessible. Union Camp has a superintendent for each of its three woodlands divisions on the 1,700,000 acres it owns or controls in six Southeastern states whose responsibilities include handling your requests for the use of the lands. These are typical.

(2) For specific information on private forest sites you can use, write to the American Forest Institute, 1619 Massachusetts Ave., Washington, D.C. 20036. Also write to the U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402 for "Guides to Outdoor Recreation Areas" (40 cents), "National Forest Vacations" (30 cents), "Camping" (20 cents).

(3) If you decide to visit any of the sites, write the company in advance for details. Facilities vary and the lands are closed at times because of logging operations, fire danger or poor roads.

(4) Be sure you have precise and accurate information on the kind of vehicles permitted in the private forests; there are varying rules governing trailers, tents, boats. Also check the overall rules on tent sites, limits on stay, etc.

(5) If you're going camping for the first time, rent everything from the recreational vehicle to small accessories. Don't buy a thing until you are sure you like this sort of vacation.

(6) Also check out in advance the charges for facilities which may range from nothing to a minimum few dollars.

Appleton Man Sentenced on Four Charges

An Appleton man was placed on two years probation Friday, with the first year to be served in the Outagamie County jail with Huber Law privileges, after being found guilty of burglary, nonsupport, theft and writing worthless checks.

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer sentenced John J. Befort, 29, of 809 W. Brewster St., and ordered him to make restitution for the damages and losses incurred in the burglaries.

Befort pleaded guilty to the two counts of burglary, one of theft, the worthless check and nonsupport.

He was charged with the Sept. 6 burglary of Minnow and Glens' Bar, N. Richmond St., the theft of $184 cash from the bar; the Sept. 3 burglary of St. Joseph School; and writing a worthless check. The nonsupport charge was filed at the same time by his wife

In addition the burglary of the One More Bar, W. Wisconsin Ave., was read into the transcript and considered in his sentencing. The Sept. 4 burglary of that business netted about $300.

Just Bending Over Can Cause Back Pain

BY G. C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Many of my friends and I have no trouble with our backs. It can happen suddenly, while using a dust mop or bending over for something, and can be uncomfortable for a week or more.

Then perhaps several months later with no warning it happens again. My trouble always comes in the same place, just below the waist line. Why should this be and what treatment do you recommend? — K. E. N.

Dr. Thosteson

If you ever studied an anatomical chart of the muscles of the back, that would explain some of it. The muscles are criss-crossed, and at angles, with one set of muscles balanced against another, so that movement, though it seems simple to us, is really a matter of tightening one set of muscles while relaxing another.

Back pain usually is the result of muscle strain. While there are many causes of back pain, about 80 per cent are muscular.

When we're young and limber, and all our muscles are in use quite frequently (you've seen the outlandish contortions that kids get into!) it takes a lot of strain on a muscle before it goes into spasm.

When we're older, we fall into patterns of movement, and some muscles don't get much use. Put a strain on such a muscle, and it doesn't take much to make it rebel, tighten up and give us a backache.

Add to that the changes that come as we grow older. Some degree of arthritis, or thinning of the discs in the spine, or a curvature or other faulty alignment of the spine can put extra strain on a muscle, or make us habitually "favor" certain muscles until an unusual movement or position causes spasm.

Obesity is a very common factor in such back pains. Less common but worth considering and often overlooked is a shortening of one leg. A half inch can throw the back out of kilter with certain bending motions. But a heel lift can correct it.

A strain while dust-mopping can be because of twisting of the back exerts a particular type of strain, just as bending forward and reaching (as when making a bed) is a greater strain than just bending. In picking up things, squatting and using the leg muscles causes less strain than bending at the waist Tricks like that can prevent a lot of recurrent back troubles

For an acutely stretched muscle, rest is important — I don't mean bed rest, but avoidance of further strain. Some support (girdle or corset) helps. So may a bed board between mattress and spring, to prevent sagging

Heat (hot packs, infra-red lamp, etc.) can help relax a muscle. Sometimes ice packs relieve pain. Aspirin is enough for most strains; in severe ones, muscle relaxants or stronger pain-relievers may be needed.

There are many types of exercises for back muscles, because there are so many muscles and so many possible movements. Just careful bending and twisting exercises are good. Or lying on your back and raising the legs; or lying face down and raising the head. The purpose is to use (and strengthen) muscles not used in most daily activities.

Continuing pain, or constantly recurrent pain, may indicate something more than muscle spasm, of course, in which case a detailed examination is in order.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am diabetic. Is there any possibility of transmitting diabetes through sexual contact? — J. B.

None whatsoever.

Note to Mrs W. K.: There's no known reason for the formation of most kinds of tumors, including fatty tumors. However, fatty tumors (lipomas) are usually harmless, unless they are big enough or so located as to be a nuisance or unsightly.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading the booklet, "The Way To Stop Constipation."

For a copy write to Dr. Thosteson in care of The Post-Crescent enclosing a long, self-addressed (use zip code), stamped envelope, and 25 cents in coin to cover printing and handling.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

JOIN APPLETON'S RECYCLING PROGRAM

Here's the really easy way to prepare your bottles and cans:

— CUT OUT AND SAVE FOR REFERENCE —

The Appleton Common Council and Department of Public Works have recently combined ideas and energies to promote a much-needed solid waste recycling program that can only succeed WITH YOUR HELP! Tons of properly prepared cans and bottles are needed to make the program work and maintain a saving program that will utilize material we formerly wasted. This is a program for everyone because "Conservation Is for Everyone." Adults will be proud of accomplishing so much needed material saving, and their sons and daughters will be proud of their parents and themselves for helping

Check the preparation instructions at the left. It is really very easy! Your family can make a game out of the saving and preparation of used cans and bottles . . . see which member can prepare the most in the shortest time. Just rinse out cans and bottles, remove ends and labels from the cans and flatten . . . just stepping on them will do it! Labels from bottles need not be removed . . . just the metal rings (if any) usually at the neck of the bottle. Keep them separate, and bring them — — or have your children do so — to the school sites listed below and deposit them in the respective receptacles provided.

Remember . . . "Conservation Is for Everyone!" The program is starting now! ONLY YOU CAN MAKE IT SUCCEED!

'Becoming a Person' Program Expands

BY SANDRA SHACKELFORD
Post Crescent Staff Writer

DARBOY — A total of 50 parochial schools in the Green Bay Diocese are implementing the "Becoming a Person" program after a successful study of the pilot project which was put into effect in 15 Catholic schools within the diocese last year

The announcement of the addition of 35 schools to adopt the family-life guidance program was made by Sister Roberta, consultant from the Department of Education for the Diocese of Green Bay, at Wednesday night's meeting of the Holy Angels Home-School Association.

Sister Roberta made the statement at the "Becoming a Person" orientation meeting geared toward providing parents the option of accepting or rejecting its implementation and giving a detailed explanation of its text and concept.

Stating that the role of the parents in the total education of their children would not be usurped by the teaching staff, she remarked that "you are the first teachers of your children," adding that she hoped parents were using correct terminology in dealing with sex education in the home The teachers' role would be only an extension of home training, she assured the parents.

"Your children bring to school what has been learned in the first five years of life in the home," Sister Roberta said of self-concepts already learned before the child embarks on the long educational process.

Why is this human growth and development aspect so important now, she queried "The need is greater now" with science, mobility and changing attitudes reaching a pace never before realized

"Some of the children now in school when reaching the job force will have jobs that don't even have a name yet They will have to be prepared for this," she said

The program which is backed by Bishop Aloysius Wycislo, the Diocesan Board and the Second Vatican Council, deals with all aspects of the personality; the mental and emotional, the social and cultural, the spiritual and moral and the physical.

Sr. Roberta found fault with the grading systems of the past which were geared toward competition with many children suffering ill effects to their self-esteem as a result "The guidance program takes into consideration the ability of children to find their own answers" with parents providing proper training at home

Explaining Unit I of "Becoming a Person," she said it was that of helping children understand what a family is with members loving and needing each other. The gift of life revolves around plant and animal life and the dignity of the individual which is guidance oriented.

Unit II centers around growing as a person, understanding individuals with Unit III titled "Understanding Your Body". In this section children learn of their special powers as people, and the care of their bodies "Discovering You" is geared toward the fourth level preparing the children for becoming little adults. Self-attitudes and feelings are stressed.

Fifth graders use Unit V, "The Changing You"

"We believe that by the time the child reaches this level he is more aware of mental and physical change," she said. Origins of life are taught along with physical change, the role of mother and father in creating life and self-image relating to each of these

The Total Person

Said Sister Roberta, "You're not really talking about the total person by leaving sexuality out" As to whether a child is too young for this type of instruction, she stated children are already aware at this age of what is going on around them because of the mass media and discussion by peer groups. They have not yet become self-conscious about their bodies or their attitudes as they are when they enter the seventh or eighth grade levels.

Reporting on results of a survey of parents of the students taking part in the "Becoming a Person" project last year, the answers were overwhelmingly in favor of the program.

They revealed that 911 affirmative responses were given on the continuation of the program to 86 negative answers.

In conclusion the consultant quoted from a poem written by Dorothy Law Nolte, "Children Learn What They Live".

"If a child lives with criticism, he learns to condemn If a child lives with hostility, he learns to fight. If a child lives with ridicule, he learns to be shy. If a child lives with shame, he learns to feel guilty If a child lives with tolerance, he learns to be patient If a child lives with encouragement, he learns confidence. If a child lives with praise, he learns to appreciate. If a child lives with fairness, he learns justice. If a child lives with security, he learns to have faith. If a child lives with approval, he learns to like himself. If a child lives with acceptance and friendship, he learns to find love in the world."

One question was raised from the floor attesting to the acceptance by parents at the orientation program. That question came from a father.

"Why do you have to have permission to start a great program like that when you don't need it for math?"

Symphony Week Begins in Fox Cities

When area residents dial 734-3413, they won't just hear Hello". They will be greeted by, "Let's hear it for symphony" as Mrs. Robert Roloff and other staff volunteers begin what has come to be known as Symphony Week in the Fox Cities.

Beginning today through Saturday, Heid's Music Company, 308 E. College Ave., will be the focal point of the Telephone Report-in, centered in the store's front window What else will interested persons hear about this season's Fox Valley Symphony Concerts? What music will be played? How do you pronounce Istvan Jaray? Who is Istvan Jaray? Will there be a Pops Concert and children's concerts? Who qualifies for student rates? Where? When? How much? Where there's a question, there's an answer

A phone call will bring a league member to the specified door with season tickets assuring a seat in the Lawrence Memorial Chapel, an assurance that interested persons won't be met with a sell-out Fox Valley Symphony League season like last year.

New Dimension Added

Braless Mistaken for Sexy

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am a young married woman (under 30), no square and certainly not a prude I'm writing about something that has been bugging me for a long time I realize you can't do anything about it but I must get this off my chest.

What's with these slobs who think it's sexy and "with it" to go without a bra. I can't tell you how many times, while walking on the street with a casual friend, or my dad, or my husband, and I see, coming toward us, a cowlike female, her breasts flopping around It is embarrassing and disgusting. A person doesn't know where to look or what to say

And this is only part of it I work three days a week in a dress shop. You wouldn't believe the women who come in here to try on expensive dresses with no bras, and sometimes no underwear I refuse to wait on these pigs and my boss has backed me up Please publish this letter so it can be tacked up in every fitting room in the country Then, instead of having to say something, the salesperson need only point to your column on the wall Much obliged — Hollywood

Dear Much: Here's the column and I hope it helps. But prepare yourself for a shock. Some of those sloppy broads can't read

DEAR ANN LANDERS A personal family problem Can you shed a little light on an already overheated argument? My young cousin was expecting her first baby in a few months. The family got together and furnished her nursery, complete with organdy curtains. A great deal of thought and imagination went into that project, aside from the money.

A few days ago Lila gave birth to a premature baby. He lived only a few hours. Lila is heartsick and, in my opinion, not thinking clearly. She instructed me to phone her sister-in-law and ask her to send her husband with the semi and take everything out of the nursery

The relatives are very upset They say they did not buy this furniture for Lila's sister-in-law. I believe they have a point. What's the best solution to this knotty problem? — Hedda in Erie

Dear Hedda: I agree with you that the young woman is not thinking clearly. In my opinion the best solution would be to put the furniture in storage. She is young, I gather from your letter, and hopefully she will yet have a baby of her own.

DEAR ANN LANDERS I am in love with the man I plan to marry in a few months. He is in love with his ex-girlfriend. If you think I am crazy, let me assure you I am not Fred and I have discussed this in detail and I know the facts He agrees that I have them straight His reasoning is simple He says I would make a much better wife for him than his former sweetheart He states quite openly that she is more beautiful, more sexually appealing and more exciting, but he says I am better educated, will be a better hostess, a better helpmate and a better mother for his children. He also says I will undoubtedly be a more faithful wife to him

I have told him several times that I think we should break up and that he should marry her He says, 'No my mind is made up"

I love him very much and everything is fine — until we run into his ex someplace and then I see that look in his eyes — and in hers, too.

What do you think, Ann? Should I marry him? — The Large Q.

Dear Q.: Not unless you are willing to live a lifetime knowing you are second choice.

Prison Term Pending

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla (AP) — A housewife may become the first person ever to go to prison in Florida for having an abortion

Mrs Shirley Ann Wheeler, 23, was convicted in July of having an abortion and is awaiting sentencing The maximum penalty under the 103 year old law is 20 years, the same as a manslaughter conviction.

At her trial, Mrs. Wheeler said she had the abortion because a doctor in her hometown of Morganton, N. C., had told her a pregnancy could be dangerous because she once had rheumatic fever

Professionals Have Special Concerns About Pregnant Teen-agers

BY ALICE K. HUCK
Post-Crescent Woman's Editor

MADISON — No matter how long a doctor practices, but especially when he first begins, he is startled when general illness symptoms in a 13-year-old turn out to be an indication of pregnancy.

With his opening statement Frederick Blodgett, M.D., Milwaukee, pin-pointed one of the reasons, as he sees it, for the apparent gaps in service for the teen-age pregnant girl in a country whose mores indicate that "proper girls do not marry until they are more adult and do not have babies without being married."

Dr. Blodgett was the first speaker in a Friday morning workshop on "The Pregnant Teen-ager" at the Nurses Association of The American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists (ACOG) which met in Madison Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Park Motor Inn and the Loraine Hotel.

At the District VI meeting nurses and doctors, who this year combined their annual conclave, came from seven states to discuss subjects ranging from "Education for Childbirth" to "The Rate of Embryonic and Fetal Growth in the First Half of Gestation."

Different Problems

Because, as the professionals put it, the problems of the pregnant teen-ager are many times different than those of a mature women, the subject came up in many of the other sections such as those involved with high-risk pregnancies, follow-up of mother and infant, breast feeding and childbirth education.

Dr. Blodgett elaborated on his "doctor's surprise" statement when he told how he was introduced to teen-age pregnancy early in his career. The mother of a 13-year-old called him because her daughter was vomiting violently from early morning until afternoon. After his fourth house call, he finally suspected the truth, which tests confirmed.

Just two days ago, he said, one of his most promising young residents at Milwaukee Children's Hospital sent up a folder with the positive results of two pregnancy tests. When asked, "Why two?" the resident said he "just didn't believe the first one, and neither did the 13-year-old."

The surprise is not just on the doctor, Dr. Blodgett said He is also a professor in pediatrics and director of outpatient clinics, Medical College of Wisconsin. "At least once a week we see a girl, under 16, who "is not feeling good, and does not know she is pregnant."

Denial by Teen-ager

Many times, the doctor said, and added "n fact, more often than not," a teen-ager will deny her pregnancy. "Actually," he added, "they frequently come in as ignorant of their pregnancy as we are about suspecting it."

They are so thoroughly convinced that this couldn't happen to them, that many of them won't even believe the results of the tests, which they have submitted to mainly because they are sure the doctor will be "proved wrong."

When the doctor is "proved right" what should he do? "How do you help a young girl come to terms with the knowledge that she has started a life inside of her body, and convince her that certain steps must be taken?"

As Dr. Blodgett sees it, the first step is to get the girl to obstetric care, which "because of the denials is postponed longer than it should be."

It is the obligation of the doctor, he said, to determine the level of the girl's knowledge about pregnancy, about babies, and he suggested this initial talk should take place without the presence of parents. Then, the physician has to make the judgement of how long he can wait to bring the parents, and-or the father into the picture.

Girl Needs Time

Even if a girl has a couple of days to adjust herself to the "fact" and to figure out with the doctor's help how to communicate the problem. The doctor also should take extra time to find out what angle of the problem worries the girl most, and help her to face it, he said.

Dr. Blodgett gave a recent illustration about a 13-year-old girl who was sent to the Children's Hospital to get help for her asthma. Although there were signs that pointed to pregnancy, it wasn't until the second visit that the youngster was willing to talk, and the doctor found out that the girl's mother had died two months before with cancer. So the first contact had to be made with a grandmother who had moved in to help with the children.

"As usual, the grandmother's first reaction," he said, "was hostility, not in words, but in bearing and manner." But, he added, a concerned doctor can change attitudes, especially with mothers and grandmothers. Then the problem is to inform dad, who is apt to "blow." Next steps include, the father, the boyfriend and the school.

Continue in School

The girl and her family did not know that in Milwaukee there now is a day school designed for pregnant girls, and this knowledge freed the 13-year-old to go to the school officials and to choose an obstetrician.

Although Milwaukee County Hospital is a contact for care, the girl is aware that with this contact, and that of the school, court action will follow. "If there are barriers to good care, this is one of them," the doctor said.

The premise of court action, he added, is one of the reasons why "we almost never see the father who is scared to death of legal action and responsibility."

Dr. Blodgett pointed out that the doctors should know where, when and how help is available for the pregnant teen-ager. "We as professionals must accept our responsibility and respond to help young people," he concluded.

Acts of Man Exaggerate Urban Crisis

BY CAROL HANSON
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

"Metropolitan areas of the U. S. are the cultural, financial, educational and governmental centers of our nation, yet it is there that we face the greatest challenges. Morton D. Schwartz of Lawrence University told women gathered for the first lecture in the 25th series sponsored by the Women of All Saints Episcopal Church. His topic was Urban Crisis-Myths, Realities and Possible Solutions.

According to Schwartz, millions of urbanities are feeling alienated from society because of the problems being faced in the great metropolitan areas.

Looking at the overall situation from the standpoint of the financial crisis and from the nature of the inefficiencies in the urban crisis, Schwartz said that as society becomes wealthier, people want more restaurant food, more education for their children and more health services. It is, he continued, the urban areas that bear the brunt of these demands.

Schwartz cited the shift of southern rural people to northern cities where, though most have found jobs, not all have been able to participate in economic prosperity. Many of these same citizens are those who need special education, health services and training, he said. Since many of these people have not found the American dream, they add to the problems of urban areas.

He explained that we have changed to a service society but that persons involved in services can't increase their productivity

As an example he asked how many people would be willing to see their doctors for five-minute segments of time rather than the usual 15 minutes to increase the physicians' service possibilities. People, he said, would rather pay the rising costs for the longer period of time.

Considering the property tax problem next, Schwartz explained that property tax does not increase as rapidly as personal income, that it does not grow as rapidly as income tax does.

Because we want more opera houses, more schools, more hopsitals, more property goes off the tax roles and contributes to the cities' tax base problems, he said

Wealthier people move out of the cities and take their potential tax dollars with them.

American Dream

"It's part of the American dream that as you become wealthier, you move out into the suburbs," Schwartz said.

But because of this, in 1968 people living in cities paid 7.5 per cent of each dollar earned in property taxes while those in the suburbs paid only 5.5 per cent. Yet, he said, suburbs were able to raise more taxes per capita than cities because they have a larger tax base on which to draw.

According to Schwartz, the situation can be relieved if we recognize that it is not the job of the city to handle the great social problems of our society — the problems that grew when southerners moved north, when we became an urban society and moved from agriculture to service

He suggested funding for secondary and primary education should come from the states and that colleges, on the other hand, should have a national federal credit to draw upon. Why, he asked, should the people of Wisconsin be totally responsible for its great university when so many of the students come from other areas.

Not Insoluble

"I don't think the problems of the cities are insoluble, because the problems are not the hand of God but the hand of man. Much could be done by a more responsible, more cooperative government."

Housing, he said, is another perfect example where instead of helping solve the problem, we are making it worse. Laws often make it more advantageous for people to allow property to deteriorate than to fix it up, Schwartz pointed out, and these laws should be changed.

It's not true that we have built houses for the poor. What we've done is make more ghettos — more crowded areas rather than less dense ones. The only solution is to change existing zoning laws and make this type of housing available in many parts of a city.

I hope, he said, that the radicals are wrong who say this is a pattern of the ruling class, that it is a premeditated way of controling people.

"Cities are the vanguard of our nation and I hope we have made errors and not calculated ways of controling society."

THE ACES ON BRIDGE

World Champions

A finesse is the most tempting of plays. Quite often the play is so obvious and seems so natural that a conscious effort is needed to resist it. Which is why many players follow the words of Don Herold:

"Why resist temptation — there will always be more."

Today's hand was played in a social bridge game where declarer yielded to temptation Mrs. Mary Hills of Tulsa, member of the American Bridge Teachers Association, uses it in her bridge classes on play.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	2 ♣	2 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♠	All pass

Opening lead: King of clubs.

North-South reached the spade game with North accepting South's invitational bid of three spades. North's hand evaluated at nine points and none of the values were wasted in the club suit

West started with three rounds of clubs, East discarding a low heart and South ruffing on the third round. Declarer did not really expect the heart finesse to be onside However, he didn't think he had anything to lose either He could always ruff two of his hearts with dummy's high trumps, if necessary.

So declarer yielded to temptation and crossed to dummy's diamond ace to take the heart finesse. West won the queen with his king and played the fourth high club. East discarded his last heart and declarer ruffed.

Declarer could no longer make the hand. If he drew trumps, he had a heart loser. If he did not. East would ruff his ace of hearts. Down one.

Mrs. Hills points out the winning line of play: "After ruffing the third round of clubs, declarer must forget about the heart finesse. Instead he must willingly concede a heart trick to assure the contract.

"The heart ace and another heart are played, West winning the trick. If West continues with a fourth club and East discards his last heart, declarer still makes the hand. He ruffs the club and ruffs a heart with one of dummy's high trumps. A diamond to the king provides an entry to ruff the last heart with dummy's remaining high trump. Finally, a trump is led from dummy to draw trumps and claim the contract, losing only two clubs and a heart."

The winning declarer may well twist Herold's words, "Why take risky finesses — there will always be more."

High Level Decisions Stall City Budget Preparations

BY CLIFF MILLER
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

At the mercy of undecided decision-makers in state and federal government, Appleton is "treading water," according to the city finance director, rather than preparing a 1972 budget.

Finance Director David Champion said the current stand-off between houses of the legislature in Madison on how to share state tax revenues with local governments, and future actions by President Nixon and Congress on stabilizing wages and prices, are holding up the local budget process.

Champion said the best the city can do at present is put together a tentative list of expenditures, based on budget proposals from city department heads, and then wait until the state and federal actions are taken.

But the finance director hasn't yet taken the first step toward turning department heads loose to draft their own budgets. Uniform budget forms issued by the finance department are ready to be distributed for department heads to fill in the blanks, but Champion hasn't yet taken them off his desk. He said this morning that he will distribute the forms "when I'm ready," depending on other segments of his office work load.

Last year, Champion distributed budget forms to department heads on Sept. 1.

Spending Only

But the estimates by the department heads deal primarily with only one side of the budget picture — spending. The other side of the budget, revenues, is determined to a major extent by the amount the city receives in state aids and shared taxes. And the legislature has been at loggerheads for months over proposals to revamp formulas for distributing shared taxes.

In addition, Champion pointed out, President Nixon is expected to announce in mid-November his plan to stabilizing wages and prices after the 90-day freeze imposed Aug. 15 expires.

Until guidelines on wage increases are known, Champion explained, the city can't estimate likely increases in wages, salaries and fringe benefits — a large chunk of the total spending package.

Mayor George Buckley also is undecided on whether to issue an order setting a ceiling on departmental budget increases as he has done the past two years.

He has ordered budgets held to increases of 6 per cent or less in the past, but this year he said, "Without knowing the revenues in advance, you cannot set anything."

Up 2 Per Cent

He said he could issue a statement reminding department heads that the city's tax base expanded by only about 2 per cent this year, the smallest increase in assessed valuation in many years, and urge keeping that in mind in setting new budgets. "Or I could take a guess at it. That's always a possibility — but you hate to guess on a budget," Buckley said.

Champion said one rule of thumb that might be followed, assuming minimal increases or perhaps decreases in state

Red Cross Is Combination Of Motherhood, Training

"Don't you have a bullet for me to bite on?"

That question, from an innocent little TV watcher, caused some initial consternation in the health room of an Appleton elementary school recently.

The little cowboy had a sliver in his finger, and he thought surely the Red Cross volunteer would do something to help him stand the pain of removing it. Like maybe sticking a bullet between his teeth.

Such incidents are everyday occurances for most of the volunteers involved in the school health program of the Outagamie County Red Cross chapter, a United Fund agency.

Art Linkletter doesn't have any advantages over these volunteers when it comes to hearing "kids say the darndest things." But these volunteers, almost all mothers themselves, do have a big advantage over Linkletter. No little ones climb up into his lap and say, "Thanks, Mommy," for patching up a cut or scrape. Quite a few of the younger children call the volunteers, "Mommy."

Mrs. Martin Weber, general chairman of the program, emphasized that none of the volunteers function as nurses or professional counselors. "But motherhood provides a good bit of knowledge about how to take care of and talk to youngsters, from kindergarten through high school" she points out. "In addition, they take a Red Cross training course in what to do and how, all in close cooperation with the school nurse and counselors."

For good measure, here are a couple more "kid sayings." One little guy got sick and didn't quite make it to the bathroom, the Red Cross volunteer took off his soiled pants to wash them. As she doused then in water he said, "You forgot to pre-soak 'em." A little gal cautioned as she was getting a cut cleaned, "My Mommy uses a bar of soap to wash me." The volunteers use disinfectant, no-stain liquid soap.

Stomach aches, toothaches, headaches, cuts, bruises and twisted ankles lead the list of ailments the volunteers deal with daily, in elementary schools.

At the high school level, many of the ailments are imagined, caused by emotional stress and confusion. Volunteers there need to be good listeners. "Some young people have a problem at home, and some of the girls have boyfriend problems," Mrs. Weber says. "They feel the need to talk to someone, either in addition to their parents or instead of their parents. Sad to say, some parents don't listen well." High school students often are happy, and surprised, to find someone who is interested enough in their problems, little or big, to listen to them. They sometimes find it hard to believe the Red Cross volunteers don't get paid. Mrs. Weber said. "Why do you do this for nothing?" they asked. And the volunteers give the only answer they can. "Because we're interested in people and we want to help."

In high school most of the physical ailments are the same as in elementary school, except for some serious injuries with power tools in shop courses.

A record is kept of every

Capitol Outlays Suffer

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton public school administrators combed about $230,000 out of the proposed 1972 school budget last week to meet the $11,225,000 total approved on a 4-3 vote a week ago by the board of education.

The reduction again hit hard at maintenance and instructional supplies, which are capital outlay items perennially deleted at budget time.

The individual requests of schools had totaled over $12 million but the central administration immediately chopped about $700,000 from that before presenting it publicly to the board two weeks ago.

The school is faced with a possible $150,000 deficit this year, chiefly because of the Edna Ferber School bond referendum. Even if the deficit is reduced slightly, the amount of operating funds for 1972 still would be down to about $11.1 million.

The administration annually is faced with cutting the budget where it can be cut, and this doesn't include certain operational costs, fixed charges and other areas. Strongest cuts are in capital outlay, as the current $10.1 million budget had less than $20,000 budgeted for that area after cuts. Some $368,500 had been sought this year.

Dr. Kenneth Johnston, director of administrative services, has the primary responsibility for budget preparation and reductions.

He said the administration went through the budget and totaled up all items it believed could be cut, then came up with additional lump sums for certain areas to bring the cut total to $230,000.

The new total is approximately at $11,225,000. "We're getting down to it but we know it will create some problems," he said.

He noted, for example, that problems might eliminate an overhead projector planned for a class for which transparencies had been prepared or may bring about chemistry experiments without test tubes.

Johnston said that some departments' areas already are out of funds this year. Teachers are bridging the gap to some extent by innovating he added.

"Capital outlay got hit harder than anywhere else because it's the area you can hit the easiest," he said.

Eliminations here included auditorium seating at Roosevelt Junior High, the foreign language lab equipment for the new lab room at West High, the senior highs' textbook rental fund and large amounts of audio visual supplies.

Capital outlay is "easiest" because it is one of the major areas not considered a fixed cost. Items, such as salaries, fixed charges and operations, are considered unreducable.

Some of these items rose significantly, according to Johnston.

Delay Sought for Proposed Felony Squad for County

Outagamie County Executive Alvin Woehler has asked that development of a proposed felony squad be delayed until an attorney general's opinion is obtained regarding jurisdiction over such a squad.

In a letter to District Atty. James Long, Woehler wrote, "I suggest that a general meeting be held including yourself, with the judiciary and enforcement committee, Sheriff Spice, Chiefs of Police and other law enforcement officials within the county as soon as your office can obtain a decision from the attorney general's office setting forth specific recommendations as to the jurisdiction of such a felony squad as well as its overall authority."

He added that it was his opinion that "the proposed development of a county-wide felony squad be held in abeyance," until those questions were answered.

Long has proposed a 12-member squad which would have jurisdiction throughout the county for investigations of felonies. When he made the proposal on Sept. 14, he cited what he felt was a large number of unsolved buglaries in Appleton this year and the problems municipal boundary lines pose for policeman investigating crimes.

The county board's justice and enforcement committee met last week with some law enforcement officials and will meet again Tuesday night on the same question.

At last week's meeting, Spice estimated the cost of equipping and operating a 12-man squad at $160,000 a year.

A possible makeup of such a squad that was suggested at the meeting was four county and eight Appleton policemen. They would investigate all felony offenses committed within the county.

Long had urged the request for such a squad be included in the 1972 county budget. He said there was a possibility of federal aid being obtained for such a program.

Woehler said he "respected" Long's proposal and complimented him for recommending specific direction for a felony squad under the sheriff. But, he wrote, "At this time, I am not sure who would in fact have jurisdiction and what municipality in fact would be financially responsible."

7-Year-Old Killed By Car at Freedom

FREEDOM — Mary Kay Murphy, 7, route 5, Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murphy Jr., was killed Sunday morning when she reportedly ran into the path of an auto driven by Michael R. Nechodom 23, route 5, Appleton (Freedom).

The accident occurred on County Trunk E near the State 55 intersection. The girl reportedly was crossing the road between two stopped cars and entered Nechodom's lane about eight feet in front of his auto.

The girl was returning across the road from her grandparents home and light ram was falling at the time of the accident, according to Outagamie Sheriff's investigators.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps reported that her death was due to severe head injuries.

Mary Kay was a second grader at St. Nicholas Grade School, Freedom. She was a member of the Kaukauna Electro Lites Twirling Corps.

She is survived by her parents, two brothers and three sisters.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Nicholas Catholic Church, Freedom, with the Rev. Alfred Hietpas officiating. Interment will be in St. Nicholas Cemetery.

Friends may call at Ellenbecker-Anderson Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Tuesday. The children's liturgy service will be conducted at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The deaths of 12 other people in weekend accidents, including three victims of a three-car crash raised the highway fatality toll for the year to 380 today compared with 879 on the same date last year.

Iowa County authorities said a three-car crash in a predawn rain Sunday east of Spring Green claimed lives of Arthur J. Henry, 34, of Belleville, Robert R. Burke, 43, of Viroqua and Howard Richardson of Wausaukee.

Two Ozaukee County victims, Roger Lanser, 18, of Port Washington and Dennis Pierron, 20, of rural Belgium died Sunday when their car struck a utility pole beside a rural highway.

Timothy Socha, 20, and Judith Herbrechtsmeier, 19, both of Kenosha, died Sunday when their car struck a freight train at a rural crossing. Kenosha County authorities said the train had halted after striking an abandoned car.

Patricia Helsing, 27, of Port Wing was fatally injured Sunday when her car crashed beside a Bayfield County highway.

A rural Bowler youth, Dean Thiex, 18, was fatally injured Sunday when his car hit roadside trees near Bowler.

Other weekend deaths include Julius Yonker, 70, of Schofield; Charles Noel, 21, of Newton; Rochelle Stevens, 15, of Oneida

Winneconne Burglary

Ruling Due on Shootout

OSHKOSH — Winnebago County Coroner Duane Moore said he will meet today with Dist. Atty. William Carver before issuing a ruling Tuesday morning on circumstances surrounding the shooting death of a young burglary suspect in Winneconne last week.

Moore had told reporters last Wednesday that he intended to confer with Carver the following Friday afternoon.

Carver told The Post-Crescent today that he has not yet been shown any statements, affidavits or written reports concerning the death of Warren Schroeder, 24, Appleton, outside Ryf's Shell Service Station early last Tuesday.

Carver said he was briefed orally on the situation. He added that he could not decide on a ruling relative to the shooting on the information he now has.

No Formal Inquest

Moore said he would announce his decision Tuesday morning. Indications are that the shooting will be ruled justifiably and that there will not be a formal inquest. However, Moore said he would make no ruling until he confers with Carver.

Schroeder was shot during a gun battle with Anthony Ceelen of the Winnebago County Sheriff's Department who, along with Winneconne Police Chief Lee Bush, responded to a call from a citizen who noticed suspicious activity around the service station about 1 a.m. Tuesday.

Authorities at first indicated that Ceelin fired the shot that killed Schroeder. However, on Wednesday they admitted that

Fremont Man Drowns While Duck Hunting

Robert Danke, 29, Dies in Mishap on Lake Poygan Sunday

OSHKOSH — A 29-year-old route 1, Fremont man drowned Sunday morning in Lake Poygan while duck hunting with two Appleton companions.

The victim was Robert W. Danke, who apparently fell from his skiff while hunting just off Clark's Point.

Winnebago County sheriff's authorities said Danke was with Ron O. Beduhn, 27, 932 W. Oklahoma St., and Ronald M. Griesbach, 29, route 5, both Appleton, when the accident occurred about 8 a.m.

The men had downed two ducks, one of which was still alive. Danke, although he reportedly could not swim, got into the skiff alone and went to retrieve the birds. His companions told authorities they heard three shots, apparently fired by Danke who was attempting to kill the wounded duck.

They then saw his overturned skiff. Authorities recovered Danke's body about 2½ hours later in about six feet of water.

Final Touches for the United Fund drive were made this morning at a billboard on the corner of Northland Avenue and County Trunk A. The drive, which begins Tuesday, has a $458,000 goal

Ripp Vows Another Try To Fire Case Worker

An Appleton supervisor who last Friday was unsuccessful in his attempt to have a county social worker fired for allegedly living with a married welfare recipient, said today he intends to renew his efforts Wednesday.

Herman Ripp, vice chairman of the Outagamie County Board of Social Services, said he will bring the case up for reconsideration at a board meeting Wednesday morning.

The same board, meeting in executive session at the courthouse Friday, voted to retain the 24-year-old caseworker who Ripp said had been living, in Oshkosh, with a woman whose husband is in the Wisconsin State Reformatory at Green Bay.

Ripp said she has a child less than a year old and has been receiving Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) assistance through Outagamie County for several months. The social worker cited by Ripp has been with the Outagamie agency about a year and is assigned to work with AFDC cases.

Mrs. Virginia Klinke, a member of Concerned Outagamie Mothers (COM), said today she and other representatives of the welfare mothers group will be at the Wednesday meeting.

Mrs. Klinke said she was displeased with the action taken by the welfare board. "We feel as though you should be able to look up to the caseworker," she said. She said members of COM had not yet talked with James Stampp, new director of the county Department of Social Services, who had recommended to the board that the social worker be kept on the job.

Stampp told reporters Friday that he felt he could resolve the problem.

Mrs. Klinke said she was not in a position to say the worker should be fired, but she said there should be an open hearing on the matter. The welfare board, before voting to retain the worker, met for 1½ hours in secret sessions.

Dist. Atty. James R. Long was critical of the board for not allowing him to attend the meeting. He said he had done some investigating after being approached by Ripp several days ago and had some information that he wanted to present to the board.

Long said Ronald Scheid, a

Menasha's Dumps Closed for Pollution As Permits Expire

MENASHA — The city no longer has a dump, but no one seems to be losing any sleep over it. Especially the Department of Natural Resources (DNR).

The two dumps — at the Badger Quarry and along Brighton Drive — officially succumbed to state pollution abatement policy Friday. The city must now have most of its non-burnable material (that which cannot be sent to the Twin City incinerator) transported to private dumps in the area.

But although the Badger Quarry dump site will be closed to public dumping, it will still be available for the dumping of materials like stone and dirt by the city and its contractors.

The first haul to a private site will be made Wednesday by the Lehrer Sanitary Service of Kaukauna. The cost, according to Director of Public Works Bruno Haas, will be $3 per ton

The total cost for the rest of the year is difficult to assess. Haas said, but the city normally doesn't handle more than about five tons of such waste every other week. That would be about $30 per month.

Luckily, the city wrapped up fall cleanup last week, and hauled all the rubbish to the Badger Quarry site. Heavy amounts of cleanup rubbish would have been costly to haul to private dumps, Haas said.

Haas received a verbal commitment from the DNR district engineer Alan Schoen Friday for continued limited dumping at the Badger site. The use will be "only to continue using our Badger site as a storage area for things like soil, rock and gravel," the public works director said.

Contractors will also be allowed to dump such materials there Haas said, "provided this is not used at any time for any other materials."

Locked Entrance

A lock will be kept on the entrance to the dump, with keys provided only to city and contracting crews.

The Brighton Drive dump, which is nearly filled to the limit, was also closed. That dump must also be filled over with finishing materials like soil before all dumping is ended

The loss of Badger Quarry as an all-around dump site not only leaves the city dumpless. It also, and more happily, ends the long-standing problem the city has had with fires at the site surrounded by Town of Menasha residents

Recurrent fires, along with the danger DNR said the dump posed to drinking water draining from the dump site, was the reason for the 1970 order to close the operation

The Badger site was acquired by the city several years ago with the hope that eventually its 17 acres could be covered and turned into a park.

"I doubt very much if we'll ever fill it," Haas said today, with the limitations now placed on the materials that can be dumped there. "But, of course, we don't know what's going to happen in the future "

State Legislation Needed

Winnebago Landfill Site Awaits Bill

OSHKOSH — Although stalemated, a Winnebago County board subcommittee charged with finding a suitable site for a sanitary landfill was hopefully to have some of its questions answered this afternoon when the Assembly Natural Resources Committee met in Madison.

The special four-man committee was named in mid-August by the board's sewage study committee, which had earlier been given 60 days by the full board to come up with suitable locations for a landfill site.

But the special committee bogged down, according to one of its members, Herman Brandt, Towns of Omro and Utica. It was because, upon finding two persons who were willing to sell their property for landfill purposes in the Omro area, the county's authority to designate land for such a purpose came into question.

So Brandt and other committeemen, including James Coughlin, supervisor of the town and village of Winneconne, decided to watch legislation that would enable counties to form metropolitan sewage districts. One of the rights of a county under the bill (A-36), would allow counties to declare that a certain part of a county could be included in a sanitary district. At one time, only a court had the right to make such a declaration.

Rep. Gordon Bradley, Oshkosh, said this morning that the Assembly committee was to meet at 3 p m this afternoon to hasn over the bill. Bradley said he was told Brandt would attempt to attend the hearing along with four others from the county

Metro Districts

The bill, if okayed by the legislature, would allow counties to form a metropolitan solid waste landfill operation. Officials hoped that by such formation, pressure on local townships would be eased. Local townships in the county presently must constantly maintain existing sites, if fortunate to have one of their own, and remain alert for finding new locations when others become filled or unusable.

Coughlin said he wanted clarification on whether Winnebago County could purchase a property okayed for use as a landfill, then lease it to a private concern who would run the operation

This method is being utilized now by Fond du Lac County in the operation of its landfill located just west of U.S. 41 off of U.S. 151, he said. That landfill serves the entire county, including the City of Fond du Lac

At the last board session in Oshkosh, Brandt told supervisors he had found two persons in the Omro area who willingly would have sold their property to the county. But he was stopped in his tracks when questions were raised about price negotiation and the county's authority in matters of landfill

Shawano Team Name Is Under Fire

Some Menominee Students Declare 'Indians' Demeaning

SHAWANO, Wis. (AP) — A 40 - year tradition at Shawano High School is under seige by some of the 180 Indian students in the school. They want to shed the mascot and team name of "Indians."

A committee of seven Indian students submitted a petition signed by 150 Indians to the school board two weeks ago. But the request bogged down when some of the petitioners complained they didn't know what they were signing and the school board decided to ask adults.

The petition said the use of the Indian symbol, even for athletic events, is demeaning and is "hurting the Indian's pride and integrity."

Board member Mary Louise Kenote, whose husband played football for Shawano and is a Menominee-Stockbridge Indian, said: "I question how demeaning this is to the Indians."

"I'd like to hear from some of the great Menominee athletes who played for Shawano," board member Elmer Beery said.

Carl Carmichael, Shawano principal, said Sunday some of the community's adults responded.

"Most of the adults in the community want the name to stay the same," Carmichael said.

The Indian students conducted a vote among themselves last week on the question, but aren't saying yet what the results were.

A 27-year-old Appleton man was arraigned on four charges in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, this morning after a chase in Appleton Sunday night.

John A. Lewicki, 27, 227 N. Bennett St., is charged with violating the terms of a temporary driving permit, attempting to elude an officer, making an illegal left turn and traveling 30 miles per hour in a 15-mile-per-hour zone.

Lewicki was charged after an Appleton police officer attempted to stop his auto and he fled the scene.

Lewicki will appear at 11 a.m. Friday before Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer.

Wittman Field Bids For Aerobatic Meet

OSHKOSH — The possibility that the International Aerobatic Club competition will be held at Wittman Field in 1974 won't be decided at least until next summer.

In conjunction with the Experimental Aircraft Association annual convention here two months ago, two American Aerobatic clubs decided to bid seriously for hosting the contest here.

The contest, which draws the finest flying teams from all over the world, is rarely held in the United States. The next event will be held in southern France next summer.

Jack Cox, Franklin, who was public relations chairman for the EAA, said today that a "decision will be made on the spot" in France to decide the location of the next show.

Cox' wife, Golda, co-chairman, said that United States bidders would be the International Aerobatic Club, a division of the EAA, and the Aerobatic Club of America.

Any nation can put in a bid for the show, Cox said, but in recent years the contest has been firmly controlled by European countries.

U.S. Team

The United States team will be decided next week in Oakgrove, Tex., Cox said, when flyers from all over the country will participate in the National Aerobatic championships in that Fort Worth suburb. The top five finishers will constitute the team that makes the trip to France, he said.

Cox's wife, Golda, co-chairman of public relations for the EAA, said two months ago that a candidate for the show must meet certain qualifications, among them a "large area" for takeoffs and landings. She described Wittman Field as such an airport.

In related business, Louis Micheln, of the Oshkosh Area Chamber of Commerce, reported today that $1,754 was collected during the EAA convention that will be used for construction of an air education museum at Wittman.

Air Center

Approximately $1,200 was from the sale of buttons at the convention that sold for a dollar apiece, he said. The rest came from private contributions.

A non-profit corporation, calling itself the International Air Education Center, envisions a 30,000 square foot, single story warehouse type facility to house unusual aircraft on a 10-12 acre plot of port property in the flight pattern of the east-west runway.

EAA's present museum is a $500,000 unit in Franklin that houses 70 aircraft significant in airplane history.

Approval of the Winnebago County board fo the purchase of the land is pending.

John Rosebush, chairman of a campaign to raise between $150,000 and $175,000 for the construction of the first in a series of the buildings for the museum, said today that the non-profit group is still in the process of "researching" and had not, as yet, received any funds besides the $1,700.

Rosebush is the director of development at Wisconson State University, Oshkosh, and one of about a dozen citizens who constitute the corporation.

Man's Death Attributed to Bee's Sting

SHAWANO — A bee sting was fatal to a 57-year-old West Allis man Saturday who was visiting his newly-purchased property on Legend Lake.

Kurt F. Gewalt was pronounced dead on arrival at Shawano Hospital where he was taken by two men who had been hunting in the area.

According to Dr. George Handy, state health officer, only about one person in 10,000 is sensitive enough to bee venom for it to be fatal.

Gewalt was a supervisor in the experimental division of Rex Chainbelt Co. He was with his wife and other relatives when he was stung.

Handy said that the sensitivity is an allergic condition that can be treated, if discovered. He said that the antidote for a bee sting would be an injection of either antihistamine or adrenalin, if administered soon enough after the sting.

Groups Attack Mortgage Guidelines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A mortgage buying agency has laid down guidelines for lending institutions that "will deny home financing opportunities to millions of our citizens," a wide variety of organizations said today.

They said the new rules by the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) "flagrantly discriminate against members of minority groups, blue collar workers, families with working women and senior citizens."

Among 30 groups signing the joint statement were the AFL-CIO, the National Council of Churches, the NAACP, the United Auto Workers, Ralph Nader's Public Interest Research Group, the National Organization for Women, the League of Women Voters and the National Association of Real Estate Brokers.

The Emergency Home Finance Act of 1970 authorized FNMA, with approval from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, to buy and sell conventional mortgages. This was to facilitate the flow of credit for home mortgage financing.

The joint statement said: "Although FNMA cannot embark on this secondary market operation until it obtains approval from Secretary (George) Romney, it has published guidelines which must be followed by lenders who want to be able to sell the mortgages they hold to FNMA.

"The guidelines, therefore, will tend to standardize conventional mortgage lending in the United States. . ."

The coalition statement was drawn up by the Center for National Policy Review at the School of Law, the Catholic University of America.

Job Emphasis

It added that the ability to obtain a mortgage to buy a home determines whether a family is able to own its home and whether a wage earner has access to a good job.

The groups objected that the guidelines would: —Direct lenders not to count pay from overtime, bonuses and part-time jobs as effective income and would count only 50 per cent of a wife's income.

— Be overly prohibitive in judging a person's credit rating.

—Impose arbitrary age limitations on the elderly.

— Encourage lending institutions to redline, or write-off, areas in central cities most in need of investment and improvement.

The organizations said they are "disheartened by the complete absence . . . of any mention of the civil rights responsibilities of mortgage lenders."

It also said: "FNMA's status as a quasi-public agency cannot be used to shield it from its public responsibility. It is answerable for what it does, and we mean to hold FNMA accountable for its lack of concern for the public interest."

Lt. Calley Would Have Voted Himself Guilty, Bailey Says

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Attorney F. Lee Bailey says Lt. William L. Calley Jr. told him during Calley's My Lai murder trial that were he a member of his jury "I would find me guilty of manslaughter."

Bailey, who successfully defended Capt. Ernest L. Medina on charges of murder and assault at My Lai, said Sunday night he had questioned Calley about his trial the day Medina testified against Calley.

Calley was a platoon leader in Medina's Americal Division infantry company when it made a sweep through My Lai on March 16, 1968, in which civilians were slaughtered by U.S. troops.

Calley was convicted of murdering 22 civilians at My Lai. He was sentenced to life in prison but this has been cut to 20 years in an Army review procedure which is still continuing.

Medina was acquitted of charges that he was responsible for 102 civilian deaths at My Lai and of charges that he assaulted a prisoner under interrogation.

In a speech before several hundred Yale University students, Bailey said he had asked Calley: "Rusty, if you were sitting on your trial, would you find yourself guilty?

Describing Calley as "a pretty honest fellow," Bailey said the young lieutenant replied: "I would find me guilty of manslaughter."

Calley was not immediately available for comment on Bailey's remarks.

Bailey also said Medina probably would testify in the court-martial of Col. Oran K. Henderson at Ft. Meade, Md.

"Medina very definitely did cover up to some extent what Henderson was seeking to find out and will probably be a witness to that effect," Bailey said.

Henderson is accused of failing to properly investigate and report the slaying of civilians at My Lai and of lying to a Pentagon panel probing the massacre at the South Vietnamese hamlet.

Bailey maintained that the Army was inconsistent to accuse both Medina and Calley in the case.

If Calley had been found to be following orders from Medina, Bailey said, it would have hurt Medina's case. But if Calley had been shown to have originated the orders to kill civilians without Medina's knowledge, it would have cleared Medina, the attorney maintained.

Volunteers Wanted For Testing Marijuana

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wanted: student volunteers for research project. Assignment: smoke marijuana—legally and for money.

The ad in the UCLA student newspaper prompts about 100 calls a week to the school's Neuropsychiatric Institute, which is conducting a study of the long-term effects of marijuana smoking.

The one-year project headed by Drs. J. Thomas Ungerleider and Ira Frank will use about 120 volunteers before it is concluded next June.

"Basically what we're trying to do," says Frank, "is evaluate marijuana as a drug in the same way any other drug would be evaluated.

"We want to be as objective as possible . . . apart from all the emotion and hysterics that are usually associated with marijuana research."

The project, financed by a $250,000 grant from the National Institute of Mental Health, uses marijuana provided by the federal government.

The volunteers must be males over the age of 21, with previous experience with marijuana ranging from none to heavy usage.

Pay ranges from $50 to $500 for up to 30 days of supervised marijuana smoking.

Modern Robin Hood Seeking Refugee Aid

BRUSSELS (AP) — A man depicting himself as a modern-day Robin Hood demanded $4 million today for East Pakistani refugees in return for missing painting, "The Love Letter," by 17th century Dutch master Jan Vermeer.

The Brussels newspaper Le Soir said one of its reporters, Walter Schwilden, interviewed the man at his request and saw the painting. It was stolen last month from the Palace of Fine Arts in Brussels.

The Dutch State Museum in Amsterdam, which owns the painting, valued it at up to $3 million.

Schwilden reported in Le Soir that following an anonymous phone call he met a tall, masked young man in front of a village church. He was then blindfolded and taken by car to view the painting.

Schwilden said the man identified himself as "Thyl" from the Belgian province of Limburg and compared himself to the mythical hero of Flanders, Tijl Uilenspiegel.

According to legend, Uilenspiegel helped the poor against the rich and became the Flemish version of England's Robin Hood.

Schwilden wrote that Thyl demanded that $4 million be given to the Caritas charity organization for use among Bengali refugees.

Abbie Will Cut Hair, 'Go Away'

MADISON, N.J. (AP) — Abbie Hoffman, a Yippie leader and one of the defendants in the Chicago 7 conspiracy trial, is cutting his hair and telling his youthful followers to take part in the American political system.

"I think it's a super idea to register and vote," he told 1,500 students Sunday at Drew University.

He still favors a social and political revolution in the United States, but he thinks it may be achieved through the ballot.

"Perhaps it is possible to have a socialist revolution that supports the needs and interests of the people and to do so peacefully through electoral change," he said, citing the victory in Chile of socialist Salvadore Allende, and the election of several radicals to the city council in Berkeley, Calif.

As for his plans for the future, he said: "I'm cutting my hair and going away."

6,300 on VA's Swelling Hospital Waiting Lists

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of sick and disabled veterans awaiting admission to Veterans Administration hospitals has more than doubled this year as the VA faces increased demands from a growing veterans population.

Even though four of every ten veterans who seek admission are rejected, records show the 166 VA hospitals have a waiting list of 6,300 patients, up 3,439 since last Dec. 31.

VA Administrator Donald Johnson said the present waiting list, although the highest in recent years, still is less than 25,000 patients awaiting treatment in 1958.

"VA is providing more medical care for more veterans than ever before in the history of the agency," Johnson said in an interview. He cited the record 818,000 veterans treated in the hospitals last year, and the 8 million outpatient visits. "The total will likely be exceeded this year," he said, as more Vietnam veterans join the ranks of those eligible for treatment.

Johnson said the agency's medical-care budget has more than doubled since 1965, and that the quality of care is steadily improving.

Care Better

"I firmly believe the VA today is rendering better medical care to more sick and disabled veterans than ever before in history, but I also know that the quest for improvement must be never-ending objective."

An Associated Press study, including visits to a dozen hospitals, found the majority of patients interviewed were satisfied with the quality of care they receive from VA doctors and nurses.

"They're treating me great," said 20-year-old Wayne A. Webber, in the West Roxbury, Mass., VA hospital recovering from injuries suffered in a helicopter crash. Fellow paraplegic Robert Nadeau agrees: "This treatment has just been fine."

Some patients, however, complained of long waits for treatment.

Another paraplegic at West Roxbury, Ted Chute, 23, said: "I can't turn over in bed by myself and I have to be turned every two hours so I don't get sores. There have been a lot of times I've had to wait 3½ or 4 hours to get turned. I don't know if they don't have enough aides or if the aides don't care . . ."

Some Complaints

In another spinal-cord-injury treatment center, at Hines VA hospital near Chicago, Glenn Mayer, 46, paralyzed from the waist down, said: "One day not long ago they took me down to the central bath (for a shower) at 10 in the morning. I didn't get back to the room until 2. My lunch was here waiting for me, but it was cold."

There were widespread complaints among the veterans about difficulties encountered in gaining admittance to the hospitals.

Former Marine Sgt. Richard Evans of Macon, Ga., interviewed at the Atlanta VA hospital, where he is being fitted for an artificial leg, said:

"It took me three days to get into the hospital. I came in one day and waited from 8 'til 4 without being seen. I finally saw the doctor the next day, but he told me to come back the next day. Then I had to sit four hours that day before I got a bed."

The hospital director, Dr. Julian Jarman, agreed "that shouldn't happen," but he said the average waiting time is less than two hours.

Quit Job

Another Atlanta patient, however, said he had to make three trips to the hospital before he was admitted. "Finally," said the 22-year-old Walter Johns of Parsons, Ga., "I got in when I told them I quit my job and was just laying around waiting to get in."

Johns lost his leg to a Vietnam land mine, and Dr. Jarman said admission to the hospital was deferred because the stump hadn't fully healed.

Federal law requires that veterans with service-connected injuries or illnesses receive priority for admission, and VA officials said such veterans are not placed on waiting lists.

However, an examination of the Atlanta's hospital waiting list disclosed that four patients with service-connected ailments were awaiting a bed. So were 10 veterans whose admission was rated "urgent."

"Nobody who needs to be in this hospital at this time is not in here," said Dr. Jarman.

The Atlanta hospital, when built five years ago, was rated as having a 588-bed capacity. It has, however, been operating with funds for an authorized average daily patient census of 410. Because it has never been fully activated by the VA, dozens of rooms intended for patient use are filled with records or have been converted into offices.

Building Closed

At Perry Point, Md., where a VA psychiatric hospital has a waiting list of 99, a 160-bed patient building had disintegrated to the point that it had to be closed down.

The psychiatric hospital at nearby Coatesville, Pa., has a waiting list of only 10, but it also has 24 empty beds in a tuberculosis ward. The hospital director said he asked VA headquarters for permission to convert the vacant beds for psychiatric use.

"They said no," he recalled. "They're afraid there might be a TB epidemic someday."

Dowser Has No Use for Forked Stick

DANVILLE, Vt. (AP) — Nancy Pulsifer of Mere Point, Maine, forsaking a divining rod in favor of her fingertips, has been declared the winner of the annual contest of the American Society of Dowsers.

Mrs. Pulsifer turned up a bag of 50 Kennedy half dollars hidden under an old board near Town Hall.

Finding the bag was the object of the contest and keeping the bag was the winner's reward.

While several hundred contestants used divining rods or other implements to look for the bag, knowing only that it was somewhere near the village green, Mrs. Pulsifer set out on her search bare handed.

"She said she found the money with feelings she got through her fingertips," explained Paul Sevegny, treasurer of the dowsers' organization.

Mrs. Pulsifer is a writer and singer of children's songs.

Dowsers claim to be able to find underground water and metal objects with divining rods—usually forked sticks—which are pulled earthward by the object they are seeking.

Lucey Expected to Consider Issues in Menominee County

MADISON — Gov Patrick Lucey may visit Menominee County before a group of Menominee Indians marching on Madison arrives at his office, a spokesman said today.

In any case, said the governor's aide, "Lucey is interested in the problems of the Menominees and would be willing to meet with them."

The 200-mile march, organized by a group called Determination of Rights and Unity for Menominee Shareholders (DRUMS), began Saturday morning near Keshena and is expected to end at the capitol about Oct. 14.

The Menominees and supporters including Indians of other tribes and non - Indians have expressed a hope to meet with Lucey to seek his personal intervention in various problems of the tribe.

The DRUMS group claims it has support from a majority of Menominees living inside and outside of Menominee County, a reservation until 1960. One of DRUMS aims is a return to reservation status or something similar.

The federal government terminated the reservation's existence as a condition for paying Menominees a cash settlement of a lawsuit over federal management of Menominee land and resources.

The marchers traveled Saturday from Keshena to Clintonville, and arrived Sunday night in Manawa. They left Monday morning for Waupaca

The spokesman for Lucey said the governor had expressed an interest some time ago in visiting Menominee County. At one point, the visit had been scheduled for last weekend, but had to be postponed. The trip still may be taken "sometime in October," the aide said

He said the visit to the former reservation was discussed before the governor knew of the march

The marchers listed several problems they hope to call to the governor's attention, including alleged discrimination in education and law enforcement, health and welfare problems, and differences of opinion with officers of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the corporation that manages tribal land, timber and other resources and runs the former reservation sawmill at Neopit

Enterprises and a private firm are engaged in a reservoir development near Keshena which involves sale of tribal land to non-Indians for vacation and retirement homesteads. The DRUMS group opposes the land sales, but Enterprises argues it is the only way to expand the tax base of the county.

The number of marchers varied widely, from about 20 to 75 over the weekend, as it is expected to during the two-week period. Some marchers left the procession Sunday to return to jobs in Milwaukee, Chicago and elsewhere, but plan to rejoin the march next weekend Others said they intend to march the entire distance

The marchers are accompanied by trucks, cars, campers and a bus carrying food, clothing and bedding. Children accompanying the marchers alternately walk and ride.

Churches and organizations along the route have offered shelter and other forms of hospitality. The group stayed at Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Manawa Sunday night, after staying at St Rose Catholic School at Clintonville Saturday night visit a youngster makes to the health room Volunteers watch for a pattern. If there's an indication of a serious physical or emotional problem, the nurse or counselor is informed, and they handle it from there

These Red Cross women perform an invaluable service for the school nurses by being there every day to take care of routine ailments and to watch for serious problems The Appleton School District has four nurses to service 26 schools. They can spend only a half day a week at the elementary schools and two half days at the high schools

In the four years that the school health program has been in existence several serious illnesses have been discovered simply by keeping a record of a youngster's constant visits to the health room. One was caused by a tumor, discovered by the family physician when the child was taken in for a physical

Not everyone who visits the health room is sick, though Some are just tired of sitting in class, and others are just goof-offs The volunteers learn soon to recognize these symptoms, too, and after a short rest and a little conversation they are sent back to class.

Mrs. Weber stressed that youngsters never are sent home without first calling to see that a parent is there and that the parent approves of the child coming home If the child is ill enough to need transportation and the parent can't come to pick him up, one of the Red Cross volunteers will drive him home

All of the health program volunteers are required to take 19 hours of training, according to Mrs. Kay Kirchberg, Executive Secretary of the Outagamie County Chapter, American Red Cross

They must take the standard First Aid Course, taught by a certified Red Cross instructor. Mrs. Kirchberg gives the orientation to volunteer service. Mrs Lee Trevelyan, R.N., gives the nursing course The school nurse, school personnel and program chairman for a specific school give a course on policy and record keeping

By September of this year, Mrs. Kirchberg hopes to add a fifth segment, on drugs, to the training course It would include information on the different types of drugs, their affects on people, recognition of symptoms, and procedures to follow if they encounter several cases of drug use.

Volunteers work in uniform, and spend a minimum of a half day per week at the schools Many of the women do not have children in school anymore, but continue in the program because they get a lot of personal satisfaction from it, Mrs. Kirchberg says.

The pilot project for the school health program was conducted at Madison Junior High School four years ago. It started in March and classes were finished by the end of May But in that short period, it proved itself so valuable that the Appleton Board of Education gave its okay to install the program in the school district. Since then the big problem has been to find enough volunteers.

As of today there are 63 women working in 10 schools, which means not all of them are being serviced completely. If each volunteer put in the minimum of a half day per week, it would take 10 volunteers for one school.

Schools in the program now are Appleton East and West, Einstein, Madison, Wilson, Huntley, McKinley, Johnston, and St. Joseph.

Two training courses are given each year for health program volunteers.

After the women complete the 19 hour course and have 10 hours of experience, they are capped and receive a pin and certificate. They buy their own uniforms, including the cap.

The volunteers are their own best recruiters, Mrs. Kirchberg points out. They "talk up" their program to other women and try to get them involved

The program has received numerous commendations, in the form of letters from the school nurses and grateful parents who appreciate what these women have done for their children

This school health program is only one of many conducted by the Red Cross, which is an agency of the Appleton United Fund.

George Dubey, chairman of the First Aid Committee, stresses that all Red Cross work is voluntary and service costs nothing. He quoted the Red Cross motto, "First Aid is free — Safety first is cheaper" More people have been asking for Red Cross services at picnics and public events But the age old questions, of "How much will it cost?" persists he says.

That question is a throw back to World War II, when the Red Cross was ordered to charge servicemen in England for food and lodging The order came from Henry L. Stimson, secretary of war (now called the Department of Defense because of complaints from the British Red Cross It could not afford to give free food and lodging and there was grumbling by their servicemen Stimson wrote to Norman H Davis, then chairman of the American Red Cross, commending the organization for its policy of free food and lodging, but saying it was not practical. "The War Department recommends that the Red Cross authorities in the British Isles be authorized to provide these services at such cost as they deem appropriate," Stimson concluded his letter

Last year, out of a total operating budget of $17,983, the Outagamie Chapter spent $7,449 in service to military personnel

First Aid and swimming courses are two other very popular Red Cross programs, Mrs Kirchberg points out. Last year, 1,213 First Aid certificates and 1,991 swimming certificates were awarded

Nearly 7,000 hours of voluntary work were contributed last year at three hospitals — Outagamie County, Riverview General and Winnebago State.

The Red Cross also is well known for its disaster service, blood program, home nursing courses and international cooperation projects for the delivery of mail and food shared-taxes, would be to check the portions of budgets listing operating expenses and eliminate any new expenditures. Spending on major capital improvements would then be determined by the shared-tax figures when they come from Madison.

At present, it is anybody's guess when the legislature will settle the tax sharing dispute Some doubt a new state budget will be adopted before the end of the year.

Champion said officials of state municipalities are also investigating the legal questions that would arise if no state budget has been adopted in time for municipalities to set their spending programs before Dec 31

One possibility being explored is to continue local spending at the current, 1971, rates, and make adjustments after the state-level decisions are made ing coal costs, rose about 40 per cent, he said, and items, such as health insurance, also increased a like amount. There also were strong increases in heating, electrical and water costs, he added.

For example, at Roosevelt fixed costs rose from $14,500 to an estimated $25,800 next year There is a similar hike at Wilson Junior High as both have new additions.

Districtwide, fixed charges including insurance costs, rose from $472,500 to $599,500 for next year Johnston noted that all schools are facing rising insurance costs

Dist. Admin. Orlyn Zieman told the board of education last week he believed the district could live with an $11 million budget, but Johnston noted today that that would be without the deficit Johnston was optimistic that part of the non-Ferber portion of the deficit could be avoided.

The budget still can be affected by other revenue factors, including the amount of aids from the state budget yet to be adopted, President Nixon's promised "controls" after the freeze and the 1972 teachers contract. Teachers' salaries represent over half the total operating budget.

Also, the fiscal board, the school's financial arm, may decide to make additional cuts in the $11,225,000 total. In recent years, it has made cuts, including $600,000 last year.

citizen member of the board, had informed him the purpose of the emergency meeting was not to discuss the caseworker issue. Long further contended that the board entered executive session illegally because it did not state its purpose for the closed discussion.

Long told a reporter he had intended to inform the board that he had obtained affidavits confirming that the social worker had not enrolled in Oshkosh State University as he had told the welfare department he intended to do in his request to move to Oshkosh; that the social worker had misrepresented himself as the husband of the woman he resided with; and that the same welfare worker and same recipient were involved in an incident whereby she used his identification card in attempting to visit a prisoner in the Waupaca County jail.

Long, who said he was making an investigation to determine if a criminal fraud had been committed, said he probably will not attend Wednesday's board meeting He indicated that he will ask Ripp to present the information he obtained. Long's office has not brought any charges against the worker or the welfare recipient

The welfare board's vote to retain the social worker was unanimous. Ripp said he voted with the majority because parliamentary rules dictate that this is the only way he could ask for reconsideration

the shot may have come from a 7mm rifle fired by Emil Niemuth, 227 W Main St, who had alerted the sheriff's department to the probable burglary at the station across from his home

Lt Wilbur Fuller of the sheriff's department told reporters Wednesday that Niemuth (he did not identify him by name) fired when Schroeder turned and pointed his shotgun at Ceelen whose revolver had misfired. Fuller said the Winneconne man probably saved the officer's life. Bush, at the time the fatal shot was fired, was in another area outside the station. He suffered face and arm wounds from a shotgun blast Schroeder fired from inside the station.

Schroeder, according to Moore, was struck in the buttocks and the bullet exited in the groin. He bled to death before he reached Mercy Medical Center.

Moor said today there was some disagreement with the sheriff's department over whether the bullet struck Schroeder from behind He said, however, that his findings were verified by X-rays of the body.

Although Fuller declined to specify where Niemuth was when he shot, informed sources said he was in or near his house. Ceelen or Bush had asked him to assist shortly after they arrived at the station.

Schroeder would have had to turn away from Ceelen in order for Niemuth's shot to hit him from behind. Fuller told reporters however, that since the bullet passed through Schroeder and could not be found, it was not definite that Niemuth's shot was the fatal one.

Schroeder may have turned at the moment the shot was fired, Moore speculated. He said that whether Schroeder was right- or left-handed might have been a factor in his positioning when he reportedly leveled his gun at Ceelen

Moore repeated what Fuller told reporters Wednesday — that Niemuth had numerous occasions to fire at Schroeder earlier, during the nine-minute gun battle Niemuth, however, fired only one shot, authorities said

Schroeder, they said, had fired at least six times from his 16-gauge, pump action shotgun, and Ceelen fired at least six times Moore revealed today that Schroeder's shotgun was fully loaded when he was felled The shells included at least one slug, he said. Authorities had said earlier that Schroeder fired both fine shot and slugs during the exchange

Clutch Defense, Ground Attack Win for Bays

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Willie Wood could have had tongue ever so slightly in check. . .

"I thought it was a good call on the play," the Packers' canny defensive captain said, his expression bland and inscrutable.

Cincinnati's Paul Brown might have been inclined to agree, as far as it went, but he was too busy pondering the effect of a related decision.

With the Packers leading, 20-17, and two minutes remaining on the Lambeau Field clock Sunday afternoon, the ball at the Green Bay 7-yard-line and the Bengals in a fourth down and a-yard-and-a-half situation. Cincinnati had elected to live dangerously and go for it rather than settle for a highly probable tie.

. . .After reconsidering an earlier decision to essay a field goal, that is, and hustling kicker Horst Mohlmann and his supporting cast back to the sidelines.

Victory Preserved

The football fates had taken a large hand in the proceedings, exclaimed Wood, who had joined Dave Robinson in throttling quarterback Ken Anderson's "keeper" for no gain to preserve the Packers' second victory of the infant National Football League season.

"Frankly we had rotated our defense to the strong side, expecting a pass to the tight end, Bob Trumpy, who is their key man in a clutch situation. After Trumpy blocked down, indicating he wasn't going to be a pass receiver on the play. . .I looked into the backfield and saw the quarterback was keeping the ball.

"The fullback just got a partial block on Robby, so Robby was able to get a hand on Anderson's foot. He was trying to pull out of the tackle and as he did, I was able to make the hit on him.

"He has the option to throw to four people on the play, so if your coverage breaks down anywhere, you're in trouble. . . It was just fortunate he decided to keep it and rolled into the strength of our defense."

Brown, of course, saw it a little differently. "On that play, Anderson has the option, but normally the play will go to the outside . . . the blocking is to the outside."

Wood, pondering this point, felt the results would have been largely the same. "He would have had to belly back (whirl around) to go outside," he said, "so I think he made the right decision under the circumstances."

Brown wasn't so sure about the one he'd made. "I second guessed myself," he rapped. "You can slice it anyway you want to . . . We just had to make up our minds in a hurry whether to kick a field goal or go for it . . . It wasn't the first time I've made a mistake and it won't be the last."

Cowboy String Broken

Surprising 'Skins Win 3rd Straight, Tip Dallas, 20-16

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

DALLAS (AP) — To pinpoint the magnitude of Washington's 20-16 shocker over the Dallas Cowboys Sunday you have to go back to 1943 when Slingin' Sammy Baugh was in his glory days with the Redskins.

It was the first time since Baugh was quarterbacking the Redskins that a Washington team has won its first three regular season games.

And the victory under new coach George Allen couldn't have been sweeter, coming at a time when the Capitol had just lost its baseball franchise to Dallas-Fort Worth.

"We had to make up for the Senators coming to Texas," said Allen. "We had to make the folks back home proud of us."

Washington now owns sole possession of first place in the National Football Conference's Eastern Division with a 3-0 record. The Cowboys are 2-1.

The victory kept up Allen's domination over Tom Landry-coached teams.

Nothing Special

"I can't recall losing to a Landry-coached team," Allen said. "They are well coached teams. We do nothing special to get ready for them. We just play our game."

It was Dallas' first loss in nine games, including preseason contests this year and only its second defeat in the last 17 games.

Washington unreeled the big play on the Cowboys with Charley Harraway bolting 57-yards for a touchdown on the Redskins' third offensive play. Quarterback Bill Kilmer hit Roy Jefferson on a 50-yard touchdown shot to give the 'Skins a 14-9 halftime lead. Mike Clark kicked field goals of 22, 9, and 27 yards to keep sputtering Dallas close.

Curt Knight banged home field goals of 25 and 32 yards in the second half as Washington emphasized ball control through a ragged Dallas defense.

Coach Tom Landry, using a two-quarterback system, replaced starter Craig Morton in the fourth period, and Roger Staubach took the Cowboys on a 61-yard drive capped by Calvin Hill's one-yard touchdown run with 3:08 left.

Washington ran the clock out from that point.

Rugged Larry Brown gained 81 yards in 21 carries and Harraway bulled for 111 yards in 18 tries during the day before a rain-drenched crowd of 61,554 fans in the Cotton Bowl.

Landry was not pleased with his defense.

"We just didn't do much as a team," he said. "We gave them two easy touchdowns for a simple lack of quick movements. We weren't moving quick enough to the holes. It's a simple case of knocking them out or getting knocked out and we got knocked out."

Landry said he went to Staubach because "I felt like I had to change things up."

Kilmer was a bit more succinct. He said, "We have a helluva offensive line and that's where we beat them."

The game broke a six-game Cowboy victory string in the series with the Redskins.

Allen said, "It was like New Year's Eve in the dressing room."

Mann's Kick Lifts Lions Over Falcons

Landry Aerials Aid Detroit in Wild, 41-38 Tilt

DETROIT (AP) — Chances were that a spectator who left his seat to get a hot dog missed a scoring play.

That was the kind of game it was Sunday as the Detroit Lions outlasted Atlanta 41-38 to knock the Falcons from the unbeaten ranks in the National Football League.

The total of 79 points was the most scored in Detroit in 20 years and the most in any Lions game since 1960.

Most of the persons in the Riger Stadium crowd of 54,400 are probably still rubbing their eyes and trying to convince themselves that what they saw on the field actually happened.

Among the not-so-so-common occurances were:

—A 52-yard fumble return for a touchdown by Detroit safety Mike Weger.

—A 56-yard touchdown pass for Detroit's Greg Landry to Larry Walton in a desperation final play of the first half.

—A 20-yard return of a blocked punt for a touchdown by Atlanta's Tom Hayes with 32 seconds left.

Some Interceptions

Those items were punctuated by a number of less apparent but significant developments—including key interceptions, fumble recoveries and penalties.

Lions owner William Clay Ford summed it up best when he said: "we had something for everybody today."

And Weger offered: "As the game progressed it was like a free-for-all out there. I've never played in a game like that and I'm glad it's over."

It was a wide open game from the outset, with Detroit safety Mike Weger initiating the scoring circus by grabbing Falcon Jim Butler's fumble in the air and racing for a 52-yard touchdown with the game three minutes old.

Moments later, the Lions' Wayne Walker recovered Art Malone's fumble at the Atlanta 25. Four plays and a 14-yard

Motton, Blair Get Clutch Hits

Orioles Rally to Beat Blue

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles talked about heroes while the bitterly disappointed Oakland A's talked about an umpire after the defending champion Orioles beat the upstart A's 5-3 in the opener of their best-of-five Amican League playoff series.

The teams went at it again today in the second game of the set with right-hander Jim "Catfish" Hunter hoping to succeed where ace Vide Blue failed and gain an ever break for the A's before the series switches to the West Coast Tuesday. Left-hander Mike Cuellar, one of four Baltimore pitchers who won at least 20 games this season, pitches for the Orioles.

Despite the key opening game victory, Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver wouldn't even talk about the possibility of the Orioles sweeping the American League playoffs for the third straight year.

"We have one and they don't have any," Weaver said when asked if he anticipated a sweep. "We'll be at the ball park today to play just that game. So will they. It doesn't help to think about a sweep one way or the other."

Clutch Performance

Weaver preferred to talk about the clutch performance of his players, who rallied for four runs in the seventh inning off Blue, the A's sensational 24-game winner.

"We battled Blue," said Weaver. "We kept our bat on the ball. We conditioned ourselves to stay away from the pitch up and around the shoulders. We figured eventually he would slow down and the ball would stop jumping."

The ball stopped jumping for Blue in the seventh inning as Frank Robinson led off with a walk. After Boog Powell struck out, Brooks Robinson singled Frank to second. Blue appeared to have worked out of the jam when he got hot-hitting Andy Etchebarren to fly out as Frank Robinson took third.

Then came the first of Weaver's heroes. Light-hitting Mark Belanger ripped a single to center, scoring Frank Robinson. Brooks taking second.

"That was the key to the inning," noted Oakland Manager Dick Williams. "That put them behind only 3-2."

Now, Weaver turned to the bench that helped him win the American League East title by 12 games, sending up pinch hitter Curt Motton.

Motton slashed a 3-1 pitch from Blue into the left field corner for a double, scoring Brooks Robinson and tying the score 3-3.

At this point the A's got hot under the collar. They thought plate umpire Hank Soar made some dubious calls and that Motton should have been a strikeout victim.

"He (Soar) called what he saw to the best of his ability, I guess," commented Blue after the game. "Everybody makes mistakes. I'm not saying he made mistakes, but the umpiring wasn't the best."

Williams was even more specific.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The sign in Candlestick Park's upper right field seats boldly proclaimed in fire engine red: "The Year of the Fox."

It may be the year for San Francisco Manager Charlie Fox. Who knows? But Sunday was the day of the rabbit ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates tormented the San Francisco Giants with 15 hits, including Bob Robertson's three home runs, to secure a 9-4 victory and deadlock the homer-happy National League playoffs at one game apiece.

The best-of-five-game series continues Tuesday with game No. 3 in Pittsburgh.

Whole Story

"That guy on first base (Robertson) was nasty," said Fox, pointing to the Pirate slugger's playoff-record performance that drove in five runs, the winning margin.

"Robertson was the whole story today," agreed Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh.

Oh, boy, was he ever! The brawny, carrot-topped slugger hadn't reached the fences in six weeks. After hitting a double in the second inning, he went to work with circuit shots in the fourth, seventh and ninth.

"Six weeks without a homer is too long for a man with his power," said Murtaugh.

Robertson, himself, was just happy to be playing—let alone turn out to be the hitting hero. He once sat out a season with a kidney ailment.

"I am thankful to be in baseball after the scare I received from my kidney trouble," said Robertson amidst the joyful euphoria of the Pirates' locker room.

While Robertson turned on the power, reliever Bob Miller helped to turn off the Giants with four innings of lofty work. His performance was almost lost in Robertson's herculean performance.

Great Job

"Miller did a great job," said Murtaugh. "He hasn't been outstanding lately. But I thought he was outstanding out there for four innings against the Giants."

The right-hander had some tough work to do when starter Dock Ellis, the Pirates' slender, 19-game winner, got in hot water in the sixth inning. The first two batters reached base, one hit by a pitch and the other with a base hit, and Miller came in to protect a 4-2 lead.

Miller got pinch-hitter Frank Duffy to bunt foul for a third strike, but slipped deeper into quicksand when he walked Ken Henderson to load the bases. Then the cool reliever struck out Tito Fuentes and got out of the jam when Willie Mays lined to Roberto Clemente in right.

"If there was a key play, it was when Miller struck out Fuentes in the sixth," said Murtaugh.

"I struck him out with a fastball on the outside," declared Miller. "I noticed Saturday the pitch he hit for a home run was inside and he hit a couple of other good balls off inside pitches.

Outside Pitches

"I was determined to keep the ball outside on him. I'd have to say this was the most satisfying game since joining Pittsburgh, even though I didn't get through the ninth inning."

Tarkenton's Passing Paces New York to 21-20 Win Over Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals have absorbed another defeat in the National Football League, one coach Bob Hollway says could have been turned into victory except for a fumble.

"If we knew we were going to fumble, then we would have gone for a touchdown," said Hollway, elected instead to settle for a field goal that fell short, 21 - 20, against the New York Giants Sunday.

"At that stage and in that football game it was the thing to do," said Hollway, who ignored the partisan pleas of 49,571 in dispatching Jim Bakken to kick a 22-yard field goal with 5:48 left.

"With five minutes to play we figured we'd get the ball twice more," Hollway added. "We did as we expected to do, but we fumbled. I felt that by getting the three points it would take only three more, a field goal, to win."

Pass Intercepted

Hollway's decision to go for the field goal came after linebacker Mike McGill picked off a Fran Tarkenton pass and scurried 19 yards to New York's 48-yard line as the clock began ticking toward the finish.

Running back Roy Shivers gouged out most of the yards on a drive to the 15 in eight plays, but on fourth down the Cardinals came up a yard short of first down.

Hollway immediately sent in the veteran Bakken, who had opened Cardinal scoring with a 14-yard field goal in the first quarter, and the placement specialist's boot was true.

St. Louis had the ball back for plays later, but burly running back MacArthur Lane fumbled finishing a 10-yard run and cornerback Willie Williams recovered to extinguish the Cards' hopes.

Pete Beathard's two long bombs to rookie receiver Mel Gray had lifted St. Louis back into the game after Tarkenton, long a Cardinals nemesis, and fleet Rocky Thompson shot New York to a 21-3 lead in the first half.

Runs 93 Yards

Following Bakken's field goal, Thompson tucked in the ensuing kickoff at the Giants' seven, swung to his right and raced 93 yards down the right sideline to score.

The Cardinals, stunned by the run, then gave way to a 75-yard drive climaxed by Tarkenton's 10-yard pass to tight end Bob Tucker and were pierced again by Tarkenton's two-yard trot into the end zone with 4:07 gone in the second quarter.

Tarkenton, completing 14 of his first 17 passes, had the Cards on the ropes again but Rich Houston, alone in the end zone, dropped a pass.

Pete Gogolak missed a second try for a 42-yard field goal and Beathard, seizing the opening, unleased a 64-yard touchdown pass to the speedy Gray as the first half ended.

Two Series

Thoroughly dominated until the bomb, St. Louis required only two series of downs in the third quarter to pull to 21-17 on another pass from Beathard to Gray, this for 60 yards.

The outcome left New York 2-1 in the NFL's National Conference East and St. Louis 1-2 in the same division.

New Orleans Caps Comback Against Houston, 13-13

HOUSTON (AP) — Charlie Durkee, released earlier this year by the Houston Oilers, took his revenge Sunday by kicking a 37-yard field goal with nine seconds remaining, to give the New Orleans Saints a come-from-behind 13-13 tie with the Oilers in a National Football League thriller.

HOUSTON, Tex., New Orleans-Houston add: thriller.

Durkee's kick came only seconds after the Oilers' placement specialist Mark Moseley had kicked a 44-yard field goal with 59 seconds left in the game to give the Oilers a momentary 13-10 advantage.

The Oilers were trailing 7-3 late in the fourth quarter when veteran quarterback Charley Johnson, benched in Houston's last two starts, uncorked a 70-yard touchdown bomb at wide receiver Charlie Joiner with only 4:23 left in the game.

Manning Harrassed

Saints rookie quarterback Archie Manning was harrassed by the Houston defense all afternoon except on New Orleans' first possession when he scrambled loose and hit Dan Abramowicz on a 63-yard touchdown strike that provided the Saints with a 7-3 halftime bulge.

It was a juggling act for Abamowicz, who caught the ball after it bounced off a group of players at the Houston 20. Houston's John Charles and Zeke Moore and the Saints' Dave Parks met at the 20 where Abamwoicz snagged it and raced down the right sidelines for the score.

Moseley, who was released by Philadelphia on waivers, kicked a 22-yard field goal for Houston's only points in the first half. Following Durkee's gametying field goal, Moseley missed on a 60-yard attempt that fell far short with four seconds left to play.

Rams Whip Bears

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lance Rentzel sank the hopes of Chicago with a spectacular 50-yard run on a reverse in the fourth quarter Sunday as the Los Angeles Rams handed the Bears their first loss of the season, 17-3, for Tommy Prothro's first win as a coach in the National Football League.

A crowd of 66,957 turned out on a day when the temperature on the field in Memorial Coliseum was over 100 degrees at kickoff time. And until Rentzel took the ball on a double reverse, the fans reserved cheers for the Rams defense, which snapped out of a two-game lethargy.

The defeat for Chicago, after upsetting Pittsburgh and Minnesota, was doubly tough. The Bears' No. 1 quarterback, Jack Concannon, suffered a severe knee injury one minute after the second quarter opened and will undergo surgery Monday.

Nix Fails

The back-up signal caller, Kent Nix, whose heroics led Chicago to victory in the fading moments twice, was unable to keep it up against the fired-up Ram defense, which intercepted four passes.

Los Angeles scored its first touchdown in the opening period as the roundly-booed Roman Gabriel steered the team 47 yards in four plays. Gabriel passed 20 yards to Jack Snow, then Rentzel scampered 23 yards on a reverse to the Bear six.

Les Josephson carried it over for a 7-0 lead.

Chicago's only score was a 36-yard field goal by Mac Percival. It was set up when linebacker Dick Butkus recovered a Ram fumble on the Los Angeles 36.

David Ray's 23-yard field goal with one second remaining in the half gave the Rams a 10-3 lead. The third period was scoreless, while Rentzel's run was the only scoring in the fourth quarter.

Eagles Defeated, 31-3

Brodie Sparks 49ers

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback John Brodie threw three touchdown passes, two of them to tight end Ted Kwalick, as the San Francisco 49ers defeated hapless Philadelphia, 31-3, before a sellout National Football League crowd of 65,358 in Veterans Stadium Sunday.

It was the third straight lopsided defeat for the winless Eagles. The 49ers now are 2-1, the lone setback being an upset by Atlanta.

Brodie was sharp with long strikes that tore the Philadelphia secondary apart. The Eagles were kept off balance with a successful running game paced by rookie halfback Vic Washington and veteran Ken Willard.

Brodie, before he departed in the closing minutes, connected for 14 of 28 passes for a total of 262 yards while Washington and Willard picked up 112 yards between them in 26 carries.

Sub quarterback Steve Spurrier ran the 49ers for the last touchdown in a drive that went 76 yards in eight plays with Willard driving over from the one.

Brodie tormented Philadelphia throughout the first half, connecting on 10 of 16 passes for 189 yards and two TDs to Kwalick, one a three-yard swing pass, the other a 42-yarder with only 26 seconds left in the half.

The struggling Eagles averted a shutout on a 50-yard field goal by Happy Feller in the third period. He had tried one in the first half from the 49 but it was short and wide.

Rockets Win 'Volley' Title At Kaukauna

KAUKAUNA — Neenah captured the Kaukauna volleyball championship Saturday with an 11-1 record.

The Rockets' only loss was to Baraboo in the round-robin tourney. Kaukauna, which dropped two games to Neenah, was second with a 9-3 mark.

Appleton East won a playoff for third place against Antigo and Baraboo who all posted 6-6 marks in the regular play. The Kaukauna junior varsity and Appleton West varsity had 2-10 records.

Dolphins Handed 14-10 Setback

Late TDs Give Jets Win

MIAMI (AP) — Cornerback [illegible] Earlie Thomas practically picked Paul Warfield's pocket to put the New York Jets into position and the crazily bouncing [illegible] did the rest.

"[illegible] say we're [illegible] break," said [illegible] Jets quarterback Joe Namath. "[illegible] wave plays [illegible] football [illegible] good."

[illegible] Sunday the Dolphins [illegible] 10 [illegible] two-beaten Jets.

Warfield had [illegible] bullet from Bob Griese [illegible] the ball away and went 11 yards to the Miami 44.

New York [illegible] down, George Nock slamming in from the one to make it 10-7.

Then came the bounce.

Steve O'Neal punted from his own 30-yard line as New York was apparently headed for a three-point loss with five minutes to play.

Dolphins scrambled to get out of the way when O'Neal's punt bounced on the Orange Bowl turf. Safetyman Dick Anderson didn't make it.

[illegible] recovered for the Jets and New York boomed 77 yards for the winning touchdown, with Nock going over from the two with 1:35 to play.

"Anderson should have known where the ball was," said Miami Coach Don Shula. "We kept missing in scoring situations all afternoon. There is no excuse for us losing that ball game."

Warfield said Thomas "may have lucked into the steal. His hand just happened to get between my chest and the ball. I don't think he was trying to steal it. [illegible] just happened."

Anderson admitted the hastily booted call on the bouncing punt was accurate. "It hit me," said the four-year veteran. He really didn't want to talk about it.

Intercepted Pass

Miami scored all its points in the first five minutes. Tim Foley intercepted Al Woodall's pass on the game's first play to set up a 16-yard touchdown dash by Larry Csonka. Garo Yepremian later booted a 13-yard field goal.

The 10-0 edge stood up through a somewhat-boring game until Thomas pulled his steal to start a wacky final few minutes.

Runners and receivers—even Miami quarterback Griese trying to set up for passes—continually slipped on the Orange Bowl's artificial surface.

"They washed the turf after last January's Super Bowl," said Miami linebacker Nick Buoniconti. "It hasn't been the same since. But, what do you expect them to [illegible] up a $250,000 surface?"

Shula admitted the matted surface was slippery but wouldn't blame the turf for Miami's defeat. "The Jets had to run on the same field," he said, "and they didn't seem to slip as much as we did."

Sweeps and Reverses

Cavaliers Rally to Hand St. John 14-6 Upset Loss

BY DAN VANDERPAS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — A combination of sweeps and reverses with halfbacks Tom Komp and Brad Walters doing the ball carrying helped the previously winless Marinette Catholic football team upset St. John's Dutchmen, 14-6 here Sunday afternoon.

The Cavaliers, who had to forfeit a previous Fox Valley Christian Conference triumph, are now 1-2 in league play, while the unpredictable Chuters are 2-3.

After failing to get a drive going after receiving the opening kickoff, Little Chute punted to Marinette on its own 11. Two plays later, St. John's Scott Hietpas pounced on a fumble to give his team a fine opportunity from that point.

On a third-and-5 situation the villagers' quarterback, Mike Casey, the league's second-best passer going into the game, connected with Dave Joosten on a 6-yard TD toss. Tom Van Asten's run for the 2-point conversion went for naught, but the Dutchmen held a 6-0 advantage with 5:26 left in the first canto.

Pilfers Aerials

At the 4:20 mark, the Chuters were knocking at the door again when Steve Blohm pilfered a Mark Konyn aerial on the Cavaliers' 34. Two plays later, Casey hit one of his receivers on the numbers with no one between him and the 6-point country, but the leather was dropped. With 2:06 remaining in the first quarter, Greg Beneser halted Little Chute's threat with an interception on his own 24.

Marinette went ahead to stay in the second segment. With [illegible] until intermission, the Cavaliers' Beneser [illegible] Casey aerial on the enemy's 19. A pair of downs thereafter Konyn threw an option pass to Komp and the 2-yard stripe. On the ensuing down, the latter plunged over and added the PAT boot to give Central a 7-6 edge.

The visitors drove 57 yards in 11 plays for their second touchdown. On a key third-and-one play, Walters swept around the right side for a 6-yard gain. He took a hand off on the next try and went over from the three. Komp added his eighth point of the afternoon with his PAT boot to end the scoring with 11:30 left in the game.

Gains 68 Yards

The Dutchmen's defense held the Cavaliers to only 85 yards rushing, but sweeps and reverses yielded Marinette some substantial real estate around the ends. Walters led all pigskin toters with 68 yards in 20 tries, while Komp picked up 35 in 11 attempts.

Van Asten was once again the workhorse for Little Chute gaining 59 yards in 20 tucks, and junior Jeff Hietpas tried twice for 21.

The Chuters' Dave Van Lieshout, the conference's top pass catcher with 16 receptions going into the tilt, hauled in two for 16 yards. Casey's only other pair of completions were grabbed by Joosten for a total of 20 yards.

Packer Sweep Works to Perfection

Brockington Enjoys 120-Yard Day

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Slipping a peace medallion around his neck, John Brockington repressed an involuntary shudder and confessed, "I almost passed out there on the bench in those last couple of minutes.

"I said to myself, 'You can't play this hard and lose.'"

Brockington, dressing in front of his locker in the wake of the Packers' tingling 20-17 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals here Sunday afternoon, lugubriously added, "When I saw the ball bouncing around out there, I said to myself, 'Oh, goodness gracious, this can't be happening to us.'"

The reference, needless to say, was to Dave Hampton's late fourth quarter fumble, recovered by the Bengals at the Packer 15 with 3:59 remaining in the game.

Had not the Packer defense blunted a fourth down Cincinnati gamble at the seven to save the day, it would have been a dismal end to a great effort for every member of the Packer family, but a particularly unhappy denouement for the gifted rookie fullback.

100-Yard Day

Brockington, now able to celebrate his first 100-yard rushing performance as a professional, said simply, "That's what every running back wants to do, get a hundred yards a game."

The Brooklyn native emerged with 120 yards in 19 carries, a 6.3 average, and moved into the team ground gaining lead in the process with 239 yards in 40 attempts.

It is hardly a new experience for the 1970 All-American, who shattered Ohio State's single season ground gaining record last year by amassing 1,041 yards.

Paying sincere tribute to the offensive line, Brockington shook his head in admiration and said, "Those holes were there . . . When you see the linebacker get cut down on one side and Gale Gillingham knock down a scrawny halfback on the other, all you've got to do is walk through there."

Imaginary Fallen

Whereupon the fleet freshman strode down the dressing room, between imaginary fallen of the enemy, to illustrate his point.

Brockington expressed concern over the condition of Cincinnati defensive back Ken Dyer, injured in tackling the 225-pound fullback in the first quarter.

"He was crouching down on the play and I sort of jumped at him and threw his timing off," Brockington said. "I don't think he was set for my jump. When I hit him, his head snapped back.

"I suppose it was something like a whiplash. I don't imagine it's anything too serious. At least, I hope it isn't anything serious."

Bill Lueck said, "We're not running the sweep any different than we ever did. And we don't run it as much. But when backs run as hard as Brockington, Donny Anderson and Dave Hampton are running, the play has to gain ground.

"If a back reads his keys right, he's going to make some yardage every time . . . But the play hasn't changed at all as long as I've been here."

Scott Hunter said, "That keeper I ran for the first down in the last two minutes was not a call. Brockington was supposed to get the ball, but I figured why not take a chance. It was a lucky piece of work.

"I'm glad it did work or I would have been the goat of the week . . John didn't know I was going to run it — that's what made the play work. If the back knows he's not going to get the ball, he might relax a little on the play and not be as convincing."

Colts Romp Over Pats

Tough Baltimore Defense Contains Plunkett, 23-3

By DAVE O'HARA

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts sent Tom Matte and rookie Don Nottingham crashing for first period touchdowns and Jim O'Brien added three field-goals Sunday in a 23-3 National Football League romp over the New England Patriots.

Baltimore's tough defense led by Bubba Smith applied heavy pressure on rookie quarterback Jim Plunkett and the only Patriots score was Charlie Gogolak's 34-yard field goal late in the opening half.

Veteran Earl Morrall, continuing to start at quarterback ahead of Johnny Unitas, picked apart New England's defense, completing 13 of 17 passes for 162 yards. However, he had two tosses intercepted.

With running star Norm Bulaich sidelined with a knee injury, Matte and Nottingham shared the heavy workload. Matte, an 11-year veteran carried 14 times for 47 yards and caught four passes for 38 yards. Nottingham carried 16 times for 49 yards.

O'Brien, a sophomore pro from Cincinnati, continued his hot kicking streak, booting field goals from 42, 41 and 50 yards out, the longest of his career.

He has now been successful on nine consecutive three-point attempts. The Colts shocked New England by scoring the first time they had possession, taking over at the Patriots' 45 after rookie Rex Ken partially blocked a punt.

Nottingham, filling in for Bulaich, ate up 34 yards on a brilliant run with a short pass from Morrall. The rookie cracked two yards to the two and Matte went for the touchdown.

Baltimore moved 63 yards in nine plays for a 14-0 lead late in the first period. Nottingham capped the advance by going 10 yards to the New England one and then plunging for the touchdown.

Suns Romp Over Bucks; Jabbar Out

PHOENIX (AP) — With star Kareem Jabbar (Lew Alcindor) sidelined by a minor eye injury, the Milwaukee Bucks were out-classed 110-93 Sunday night by Phoenix in a National Basketball Association exhibition game.

The Suns got off to an early start, built 11-point leads, and were still in front 31-25 at the end of the first quarter despite the energy of Milwaukee's Oscar Robertson, John McGlocklin and Greg Smith.

Rookie Dennis Layton scored 14 points against the Bucks in the second quarter, and his club led by that margin at intermission.

With only four minutes elapsed in the second period, the 6-foot-1 guard sank six of six shots as the Suns moved ahead 43-30.

Phoenix padded it to 55-35 before the Bucks braked it to 61-47 at the half.

Layton led scorers with 23 points. Paul Silas added 22 for the Suns, and McGlocklin had 22 for Milwaukee.

Horn Falters Again

Stenerud Toes KC Past Denver, 16-3

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Kansas City, helped by four pass interceptions and some costly Denver penalties, rode the toe of Jan Stenerud to a 16-3 victory over the Broncos Sunday in a National Football League contest here.

The victory moved the Chiefs into first place in the American Conference's Western Division with a 2-1 record. The Broncos fell to 0-2-1.

On the first play of the second quarter, Denver quarterback Don Horn was hit by Chiefs linebacker Bobby Bell just as he released a pass. Kansas City end Aaron Brown picked off the aerial and loped 68 yards for the game's only touchdown.

Later in the period, a pass from Len Dawson to Morris Stroud clicked for 50 yards and a roughing-the-passer penalty against the Broncos on the play moved the ball to Denver's 13 yard line. When the Denver defense stiffened, Stenerud booted a 20-yard field goal.

Stenerud kicked a 26-yarder with 5:40 left in the game after Johnny Robinson intercepted at midfield and a Denver personal foul had moved the ball to the Broncos' 37.

On the Broncos' first play following the field goal, Chief safety Jim Kearny intercepted another Horn pass and returned to the Denver 17. With 2:58 left, Stenerud split the uprights from 16 yards out.

The Broncos had 220 yards total offense in the game against a grudging Chief defense, while Kansas City managed only 159. But Denver was able to get on the scoreboard only on Jim Turner's 37-yard field goal after 2:14 in the first quarter.

Packers Edge Bengals

factor. "We were still debating it at the time and hadn't made a final decision to kick," he said.

Brown obliquely admitted his players had influenced him, although he insisted the final word had been his. "You know these kids," he said. "They always like to take a shot at it . . . We just took a chance and missed."

There being honor and compassion among coaches, the Packers' Dan Devine refused to second guess the Cincinnati coach after beating the old master in their first professional encounter and moving his team into a four-way tie for the NFC's Central Division lead at 2-1. Everybody knows his own team and what his team needs, what it needs at the time," Devine said. I will say that many times I have gone for it, and many other times I have gone for the field goal . . . Maybe his team needed a victory and not a tie.

Devine earlier had faced the same kind of decision when the Packers found themselves with fourth-down-and-1 at the Cincinnati 14 in the second quarter and in possession of 3-0 lead.

Reverses Selt

The Packer coach first signalled "go for it," then upon placekicker Lou Michaels, whose 26-yard field goal attempt was slightly wide to the right.

"The exact yardage is so important in a situation like that and they were slow in putting the stakes down," he said. "Originally, I said to go for it, but when they marked it on the sidelines, the distance for a first down was longer than it had appeared."

That misadventure, fortunately, had not affected the outcome and Devine was able to jest. "We'd rather win than lose, of course, but I'd just as soon do it easier than that . . . It's sort of the story of my life. I very seldom get to do it the easy way.

"I was very proud, though, of the way the team held down there in the fourth quarter."

As Devine suggested, the Packers had made life unnecessarily hectic for themselves — and a capacity house of 56,263 fans. They first dissipated a 10-0 halftime lead and then threatened to squander second 10-point bulge in the stretch despite another thunderous performance from its running game, which stacked up an incredible 256 yards against one of the NFL's better defenses.

Smith Recovers

Brown's decision, for example, would never have been required but for a first-down fumble by Dave Hampton, fallen upon by Cincinnati's Fletcher Smith at the Packer 15 with only 3:59 left in the game.

Earlier, the Bengals had been permitted to gain 10-10 parity in the third quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Horst Muhlmann, triggered by a 44-yard pass to Trumpy, and a 65-yard runback of an interception by cornerback Lamar Parrish.

The Packers, meanwhile, were having offensive problems, for which quarterback Scott Hunter accepted the blame. "That was primarily my fault," he said. "In the third quarter, I was trying to go outside, water bucket to water bucket, instead of going right at 'em as we did in the first half. On that 80-yard drive for our last touchdown, we went right at 'em."

Speed by a 17-yard pass to John Spilis and a 15-yard sweep by Brockington, it was climaxed by a 19-yard pass to tight end Rich McGeorge, who gathered in the ball at the seven and rumbled down the east sidelines untouched to score.

"It was just an over pattern — almost the same play that scored on against the Giants in the first game here," McGeorge said. "I got off the line of scrimmage pretty clean, which helps. You kind of have to pick your way past the linebacker on that one.

'Lets You Go'

"On an over pattern, the secondary kind of 'lets you go' . . . once you get that past that weak side linebacker, you've pretty well got it made."

And that was the way the Packers appeared to have it when Dave Robinson followed that go-ahead touchdown by intercepting at the Packer 49 and returning to the Cincinnati 28, setting up a 14-yard Michaels field goal which staked the green and gold to a 20-10 lead with only 6:14 remaining.

But Cincinnati's rookie quarterback, summoned to combat when starter Virgil Carter suffered a shoulder separation in the second quarter, rallied the Bengals once more, this time for an 8-play, 69-yard drive capped by a 5-yard pass to Eric Crabtree in the right corner of the end zone.

It brought an accolade from Wood. "I thought Anderson did a helluva job coming in there when there was still a chance to win the game . . . he showed signs of maturity on that last drive."

Carter was not Cincinnati's only casualty. The Bengals also lost defensive back Ken Dyer, who had to be taken to St. Mary's Hospital after colliding with Brockington, and defensive end Ron Carpenter both obvious victims of the Packers' explosive intensity.

"We wanted this game," Devine admitted, "but I don't think it was any dirty play at all. There's a lot of difference between hard hitting and dirty play . . . I think there was more of an emotional pitch to this one that any of our previous games."

A Chance That Didn't Work – Paul Brown

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The faint smile that crept across Ken Anderson's face was in response to a congratulatory word from a teammate, but the Cincinnati Bengal quarterback wiped it off with his own words.

"I was just thinking that I had to make the first down," said Anderson, who was trying to explain his part in the Bengals' fourth down do-or-die play that failed and helped the Packers to a 20-17 victory. "If it works, it's a good deal, but. . . ."

The rookie quarterback from Augustana had just finished saying that he had played in only five quarters this season before being sent in to relieve injured Virgil Carter in the second quarter.

Keyed on Guards

But that play, the fourth and just less than two yards to go from the Packer 7-yard line with two minutes to play, was the subject of the onslaught of questions.

"I thought the blocking was to the outside so I cut in," said Anderson, who was racked up by Dave Robinson and Willie Wood a full yard and a half short of his goal. "I keyed on the guards but I can't really say that I saw a hole to the inside. Maybe I could have walked in if I had stayed to the outside, I don't know."

Bengal Coach Paul Brown wasn't about to fault his young signal caller on the play and, in fact, praised Anderson as "doing a very good job considering he was thrown into the breach like that. It was a chance and it just didn't work."

Brown did express some concern at the Bengals' inability to move the ball consistently, saying that "it surprised us."

Still Not Lost

And, he noted bluntly, he didn't feel the game was lost even after that crucial fourth down failure.

"I felt if we could hold them down there and force a punt, we could make a fair catch in good position," said the legendary coach. "Horst (Muhlmann) can free kick them from 60 to 65 yards away. But Hunter got away on that end sweep so it didn't work out."

Then Brown added, "We were beaten by a team that has a lot of tradition behind it. We just lost the game, that's all."

The Packers' ability to move the ball impressed linebackers Bill Burgey and Ken Avery. Burgey commenting that the Packer offensive line was the "best I have ever played against. Every time I turned around there were three of those son-of-a-guns at me. What can you do?"

Cut Off Pursuit

Avery also lauded the Packer blockers, in particular tackle Francis Peay who "cut off my pursuit all day long."

It was Avery who came within a hair of being one of the Bengal heroes as he knocked the football loose from Dave Hampton's grasp at the Packer 15-yard line late in the final quarter.

"I was pursuing on the blitz on that play," the fifth year linebacker recalled. "Hampton tried to cut back in and I saw him carrying the ball on the inside. It was right there for the picking so I just knocked it out of his hand."

Another potential hero for the Bengals was Lemar Parrish, who stole a Hunter pass in the third quarter and romped 65 yards for the then tying touchdown.

"We were in a man-for-man defense and I had been looking for that cross pattern all afternoon," Parrish said. "I thought they'd never decide to try it. I saw the whole play develop and just timed my interception. When I had it, I knew I could go all the way with it but then anytime I touch the ball I feel I can go all the way."

Charger Mistakes Contribute To Steelers' 21-17 Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh turned two San Diego mistakes—a fumble and an interception—into touchdowns, and the Steeler defense stopped three scoring threats in the waning minutes to give the Steelers a 21-17 victory over the Chargers Sunday.

Quarterback John Hadl ripped apart the Steelers' secondary, but his two mistakes were the Chargers' downfall.

He fumbled deep in his own territory in the first quarter and tackle Joe Greene recovered on the Chargers' five-yard line. John Fuqua raced over for the touchdown on the first play.

In the third quarter, Hadl passed from the end zone toward the sidelines, but cornerback Lee Calland nabbed the ball on the 22. Five plays later, Fuqua bulled over from the one.

With four minutes remaining, the Steelers defense front line held the Chargers on the six-yard line. But the Steeler offense failed to move the ball and the Chargers, after a punt, moved down to the Steelers two, but then were driven back to the four.

Bradshaw Fumbles

With less than a minute left, quarterback Terry Bradshaw fumbled and the Chargers recovered on the Pittsburgh 20. A pass interference call moved the ball to the eight, but again the Steeler front wall held and stopped the Chargers on four successive plays at the two.

The Chargers took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter after Hadl marched his team 68 yards and Dennis Partee booted a 21-yard field goal.

Green's fumble recovery and the ensuing touchdown gave the Steelers the lead at 7-3.

The Chargers pulled ahead with less than five minutes left in the half when Hadl completed seven of seven passes.

A pass to Billy Parks from the 16-yard line gave the Chargers a touchdown.

The Steelers' winning touchdown early in the fourth quarter came on an 82-yard drive in 13 plays with Bradshaw going over from the five on a rollout.

He completed five passes in the drive, good for 42 yards.

AHS-E Harrier Team Posts Victory Over Kaukauna, Menasha

Appleton East took the first seven places in sweeping a triangular cross country meet from Kaukauna and Menasha Thursday at Telulah Park.

The Patriots totaled 15 points, Kaukauna 54 and Menasha 76.

Gary Hohnberger keyed the win with a new course record of 13:01. The first five East runners bettered the existing standard of 13:27 set last season by Neenah's Don Gullickson.

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) — Alan Page peeled off his Minnesota Vikings uniform and stepped onto the scales to weigh himself.

The 245-pound defensive tackle took a shower and stepped on the scales.

"I might have been a little heavier than usual," said Page. "Maybe I would have had a better day if I would have been just a little lighter."

Buffalo Coach Harvey Johnson and quarterback Dennis Shaw probably wouldn't believe that after what Page and his three buddies did.

The Vikings, led by their onrushing front four, blasted the Bills 19-0 in the National Football League, setting team records for allowing Buffalo just 64 total yards and only eight yards passing.

Page and tackle Gary Larsen and ends Carl Eller and Jim Marshall led a rush that swamped Shaw seven times for losses of 59 yards.

Page also threw Shaw for a safety that gave Minnesota a 12-0 halftime lead—the Bills getting only five offensive plays during the span the Vikings scored those points.

"Everytime you've got them that close, Page explained safely, "you're the ones on offense."

Minnesota's defense was very offensive elsewhere on the field.

Charlie West intercepted a pass late in the first period and returned it 31 yards to the Buffalo 47, from where Norm Snead drove the Vikings to a 7-0 lead on Dave Osborn's one-yard run.

Tim Beamer fumbled the kickoff on the Bill 31 after Stu Voight hit him. Noel Jenke recovered and Fred Cox kicked a 40-yard field goal. Wally Hilgenberg intercepted a Shaw pass on the Bill 30 on the next Buffalo series, but Clint Jones was thrown for a three-yard loss on a fourth down play from the one.

But after O. J. Simpson gained three yards, Page threw Shaw back to the one. The next play, Page cracked Shaw down in the end zone.

"In the position I was in all day, on the turf a lot, I couldn't tell which one was the better," Shaw said. "What makes them (front four) so good? They've got all the physical qualities, speed, dedication and desire."

Marshall downed Shaw twice for losses of 25 yards. Eller got him once for eight and combined with Page for a 16-yard.

Orioles Beat Oakland, 5-3

"We thought he missed two strikes," said the A's' skipper. "It's our prerogative to think that way. But we're not calling them. There were some debatable pitches."

After Motton's game-tying hit, pitcher Jim Palmer ran for Motton. Paul Blair, 0-for-11 against Blue this season, then doubled down the left field line, scoring Belanger and Palmer for a 5-3 lead.

Blair said he was looking for a fast ball on the 1-2 pitch, "because Blue throws too hard to look for anything else." Blue didn't disappoint. He threw the smoke and Blair broke his famine against the 22-year-old lefthander.

Dave McNally got the victory for Baltimore with two innings of relief help from Eddie Watt.

Pirates Even Playoff Set

straight hits to open the ninth, including Willie May's two-run homer, before Dave Giusti came in to get the side out.

Along with the home runs by Robertson and Mays, Gene Clines also belted one in the fifth to give the Pirates and Giants a total of seven for the two-game set in San Francisco.

"I think these two clubs are primarily the same," noted Murtaugh. "It's not that the pitching isn't good, it's just that both are good hitting clubs. Our series have been like this all year."

First Playoff Win

The Pirates' victory, first ever in a playoff and only third in Candelstick Park in the last 14 games, doesn't necessarily give them a psychological edge as the teams head back to Pittsburgh, says Murtaugh.

"I don't believe in home team advantages," said Murtaugh. "I think if you're good enough to win a division title, then you're good enough to win home or away.

"I just play the players I think can win on any given day and hope they're hot. The hot team will win the pennant."

Atlanta penalty later, Steve Owens bulled over for a two-yard touchdown.

Atlanta, now 1-1-1, marched back with an 80-yard drive climaxed by Bob Berry's 13-yard touchdown pass to Jim Mitchell.

Wide receiver Ken Burrow, who grabbed six passes for 130 yards, scored two touchdowns, the first on a 56-yard aerial from Berry in the second quarter and then in the third period on a 25-yard Berry toss.

Atlanta opened the second quarter scoring with a 36-yard Bill Bell field goal but on the ensuing kickoff Ron Jessie raced 97 yards for a Detroit touchdown. With only 23 seconds left in the first half, Malone plunged over from the one to give the Falcons a 24-21 lead. However, a desperation pass by Greg Landry to wide receiver Larry Walton on the last play of the half produced a 56-yard touchdown and a 28-24 Detroit lead.

In the third quarter, Sanders spared a 16-yard touchdown pass from Landry and Errol Mann booted an 18-yard field goal soon after Dick LeBeau intercepted a Berry pass to become the third all-time pickoff specialist in the NFL.

Mann Kicks

A 13-yard field goal by Mann late in the fourth quarter proved the winning points. With 32 seconds left cornerback Tom Hayes caught a blocked Detroit punt and raced 20 yards for the final Atlanta touchdown.

Berry was a standout in a losing cause, completing 13 of 23 passes for 309 yards.

Lions back Mel Farr suffered a possible dislocated shoulder in the third quarter.

Late TDs Give Jets Win

MIAMI (AP) — Cornerback Earlie Thomas practically picked Paul Warfield's pocket to put the New York Jets into position and the crazily-bouncing football did the rest.

"I'd say we're due for a break," said injured Jets quarterback Joe Namath. "Luck always plays a big part in pro football. For a change, ours was good."

Ten minutes remained Sunday —the Dolphins cuddling a 10-0 lead—when Thomas turned thief and reversed the tide for the twice-beaten Jets.

Warfield had caught a 17-yard bullet from Bob Griese at the Jet 45 when Thomas snatched the ball away and went 11 yards to the Miami 44.

New York drove for a touchdown, George Nock slamming in from the one to make it 10-7.

Then came the bounce.

Steve O'Neal punted from his own 10-yard line as New York was apparently headed for a three-point loss with five minutes to play.

Dolphins scrambled to get out of the way when O'Neal's punt bounced on the Orange Bowl turf. Safetyman Dick Anderson didn't make it.

Paul Crane recovered for the Jets and New York boomed 37 yards for the winning touchdown with Nock going over from the two with 1:55 to play.

"Anderson should have known where the ball was," said Miami Coach Don Shula. "We kept missing in scoring chances all afternoon. There is no excuse for us losing that ball game."

Warfield said Thomas "may have lucked into the steal. His hand just happened to get between my chest and the ball. I don't think he was trying to steal it ... it just happened."

Anderson admitted the lustily-booed call on the bouncing punt was accurate. "It hit me," said the four-year veteran. He really didn't want to talk about it.

Intercepted Pass

Miami scored all its points in the first five minutes. Tim Foley intercepted an Al Woodall pass on the game's first play to set up a 16-yard touchdown dash by big Larry Csonka. Garo Yepremian later booted a 43-yard field goal.

The 10-0 edge stood up through a somewhat-boring game until Thomas pulled his steal to start a wacky final few minutes.

Runners and receivers—even Miami quarterback Griese trying to set up for passes—continually slipped on the Orange Bowl's artificial surface.

"They washed the turf after last January's Super Bowl," said Miami linebacker Nick Bouniconti. "It hasn't been the same since. But, what do you expect them to do . . . rip up a $250,000 surface?"

Shula admitted the matted surface was slippery, but wouldn't blame the turf for Miami's defeat. "The Jets had to run on the same field," he said, "and they didn't seem to slip as much as we did."

The Green Bay defense makes a crucial stop on the Packer 7-yard line with less than two minutes remaining to halt a Cincinnati scoring threat. The key players in the stop of the Bengals' Ken Anderson were Willie Wood (24) and Dave Robinson Packers include Aldren Roche (87), Al Ma and Jim Carter (50). Cavaliers Rally to Hand St. John 14-6 Upset Loss

BY DAN VANDERPAS
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — A combination of sweeps and reverses, with halfbacks Tom Komp and Brad Walters doing the ball carrying helped the previously winless Marinette Catholic football team upset St. John's Dutchmen, 14 - 6, here Sunday afternoon.

The Cavaliers, who had to forfeit a previous Fox Valley Christian Conference triumph, are now 1-3 in league play, while the unpredictable Chuters are 2-3.

After failing to get a drive going after receiving the opening kickoff, Little Chute punted to Marinette on its own 11. Two plays later, St. John's Scott Hietpas pounced on a fumble to give his team a fine opportunity from that point.

On a third-and-5 situation, the villagers' quarterback, Mike Casey, the league's second-best passer going into the game, connected with Dave Joosten on a 6-yard TD toss. Tom Van Asten's run for the 2-point conversion went for naught, but the Dutchmen held a 6-0 advantage with 5:26 left in the first canto.

Pilfers Aerials

At the 4:20 mark, the Chuters were knocking at the door again when Steve Blohm pilfered a Mark Konyn aerial on the Cavaliers' 34. Two plays later, Casey hit one of his receivers on the numbers with no one between him and "6-point country," but the leather was dropped. With 3:08 remaining in the first quarter, Greg Benesh halted Little Chute's threat with an interception on his own 24.

Marinette went ahead to stay in the second segment. With 7:59 left until intermission, the Cavaliers' Benesh skyjacked a Casey aerial on the enemy's 19. A pair of downs thereafter, Konyn threw an option pass to Komp and the 2-yard stripe. On the ensuing down, the latter plunged over and added the PAT boot to give Central a 7-6 edge.

The visitors drove 57 yards in 11 plays for their second touchdown. On a key third-and-one play, Walters swept around the right side for a 6-yard gain. He took a handoff on the next try and went over from the three. Komp added his eighth point of the afternoon with his PAT loft to end the scoring with 11:30 left in the game.

Gains 68 Yards

The Dutchmen's defense held the Cavaliers to only 85 yards rushing, but sweeps and reverses yielded Marinette some substantial real estate around the ends. Walters led all pigskin toters with 68 yards in 20 tries, while Komp picked up 35 in 11 attempts.

Van Asten was once again the workhorse for Little Chute gaining 59 yards in 20 tucks, and junior, Jeff Hietpas, tried twice for 21.

The Chuters' Dave Van Lieshout, the conference's top pass catcher with 16 receptions going into the tilt, hauled in two for 16 yards Casey's only other pair of completions were grabbed by Joosten for a total of 20 yards.

Suns Romp Over Bucks; Jabbar Out

PHOENIX (AP) — With star Kareem Jabbar (Lew Alcindor) sidelined by a minor eye injury, the Milwaukee Bucks were out-classed 110-93 Sunday night by Phoenix in a National Basketball Association exhibition game.

The Suns got off to an early start, built 11-point leads, and were still in front 31-25 at the end of the first quarter despite the energy of Milwaukee's Oscar Robertson, John McGlocklin and Greg Smith.

Rookie Dennis Layton scored 14 points against the Bucks in the second quarter, and his club led by that margin at intermission.

With only four minutes elapsed in the second period, the 6-foot-1 guard sank six of six shots as the Suns moved ahead 43-30.

Phoenix padded it to 55-35 before the Bucks braked it to 61-47 at the half.

Brockington Enjoys 120-Yard D

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — Slipping a peace medallion around his neck, John Brockington repressed an involuntary shudder and confessed, "I almost passed out there on the bench in those last couple of minutes.

"I said to myself, 'You can't play this hard and lose.'"

Brockington, dressing in front of his locker in the wake of the Packers' tingling 20-17 victory over the Cincinnati Bengals here Sunday afternoon, lugubriously added, "When I saw the ball bouncing around out there, I said to myself, 'Oh, goodness gracious, this can't be happening to us.

The reference, needless to say, was to Dave Hampton's late fourth quarter fumble, recovered by the Bengals at the Packer 15 with 3:59 remaining in the game.

Had not the Packer defense blunted a fourth down Cincinnati gamble at the seven to save the day, it would have been a dismal end to a great effort for every member of the Packer family, but a particularly unhappy denouncement for the gifted rookie fullback.

100-Yard Day

Brockington, now able to celebrate his first 100-yard rushing performance as a professional, said simply, "That's what every running back wants to do, get a hundred yards a game."

The Brooklyn native emerged with 120 yards in 19 carries, a 6.3 average, and moved into the team ground gaining lead in the process with 239 yards in 40 attempts.

It is hardly a new experience for the 1970 All-American, who shattered Ohio State's single season ground gaining record last year by amassing 1,041 yards.

Paying sincere tribute to the offensive line, Brockington shook his head in admiration and said, "Those holes were there ... When you see the linebacker get cut down on one side and Gale Gillingham knock down a scrawny halfback on the other, all you've got to do is walk through there."

Imaginary Fallen

Whereupon the fleet freshman strode down the dressing room, between imaginary fallen of the enemy, to illustrate his point.

Brockington expressed concern over the condition of Cincinnati defensive back Ken Dyer, injured in tackling the 225-pound fullback in the first quarter.

"He was crouching down on the play and I sort of jumped at him and threw his timing off," Brockington said. "I don't think he was set for my jump. When I hit him, his head snapped back.

"I suppose it was something like a whiplash. I don't imagine it's anything too serious. At least, I hope it isn't anything serious."

Bill Lueck said, "We're not running the sweep any different than we ever did run it as much. E run as hard as Donny Anders Hampton are run has to gain groun

Horn Falters Again

Stenerud Toes KC Past Denver, 16-3

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Kansas City, helped by four pass interceptions and some costly Denver penalties, rode the toe of Jan Stenerud to a 16-3 victory over the Broncos Sunday in a National Football League contest here.

The victory moved the Chiefs into first place in the American Conference's Western Division with a 2-1 record. The Broncos fell to 0-2-1.

On the first play of the second quarter, Denver quarterback Don Horn was hit by Chiefs linebacker Bobby Bell just as he released a pass. Kansas City end Aaron Brown picked off the aerial and loped 68 yards for the game's only touchdown.

Later in the period, a pass from Len Dawson to Morris Stroud clicked for 50 yards and a roughing-the-passer penalty against the Broncos on the play moved the ball to Denver's 13 yard line. When the Denver defense stiffened, Stenerud booted a 20-yard field goal.

Stenerud kicked a 26-yarder with 5:55 left in the game after Johnny Robinson intercepted at midfield and a Denver personal foul had moved the ball to the Broncos' 37.

On the Broncos' first play following the field goal, Chief safety Jim Kearny intercepted another Horn pass and returned to the Denver 17. With 2:58 left, Stenerud split the uprights from 16 yards out.

The Broncos had 220 yards total offense in the game against a grudging Chief defense, while Kansas City managed only 159. But Denver was able to get on the scoreboard only on Jim Turner's 37-yard field goal after 2:14 in the first quarter.

Zephyrs Beat Springs, 13-0

FOND DU LAC — Scoring twice on passes, one of their own and the other thrown by their opponents, the St. Mary Central High School Zephyrs stopped St. Mary Springs, 13-0, in Fox Valley Christian Conference play Sunday afternoon.

The Zephyrs, who evened their FVCC record at 2-2, tallied in the second period on a 15-yard pass from Dan Gavronski to Tom Schultz. Jim Griesbach booted the extra point.

The Menashans received good field position when they gained the ball on the Ledgers' 33-yard line after the latter's Bob Freund was thrown for a 14-yard loss trying to pass on fourth down.

The winners retained the narrow lead until 3:04 remained in the game when defensive halfback Dave Michalkiewicz picked off a Freund aerial on his 40 and ran 60 yards for the clinching score. The extra point was missed.

St. Mary's defense predominated and didn't allow the Springers to advance inside its 26-yard line. It also picked off three passes.

In addition to their scoring play, the Zephyrs threatened twice in the first half but were stopped on the two and 26-yard lines.

Tim Engel led the St. Mary ground gainers with 83 yards. Jim Griesbach added 74. Paul Smet paced Springs with 61.

Colts Romp Over Pats

Tough Baltimore Defense Contains Plunkett, 23-3

By DAVE O'HARA

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts sent Tom Matte and rookie Don Nottingham crashing for first period touchdowns and Jim O'Brien added three field-goals Sunday in a 23-3 National Football League romp over the New England Patriots.

Baltimore's tough defense led by Bubba Smith applied heavy pressure on rookie quarterback Jim Plunkett and the only Patriots score was Charlie Gogolak's 34-yard field goal late in the opening half.

Veteran Earl Morrall, continuing to start at quarterback ahead of Johnny Unitas, picked apart New England's defense, completing 13 of 17 passes for 162 yards. However, he had two tosses intercepted.

With running star Norm Bulaich sidelined with a knee injury, Matte and Nottingham shared the heavy workload. Matte, an 11-year veteran carried 14 times for 47 yards and caught four passes for 38 yards. Nottingham carried 16 times for 49 yards.

O'Brien, a sophomore pro from Cincinnati, continued his hot kicking streak, booting field goals from 42, 41 and 50 yards out, the longest of his career.

He has now been successful on nine consecutive three-point attempts. The Colts shocked New England by scoring the first time they had possession, taking over at the Patriots' 45 after rookie Rex Ken partially blocked a punt.

Nottingham, filling in for Bulsich, ate up 34 yards on a brilliant run with a short pass from Morrall The rookie cracked two yards to the two and Matte went for the touchdown factor. "We were still debating it at the time and hadn't made a final decision to kick," he said.

Baltimore moved 63 yards in nine plays for a 14-0 lead late in the first period. Nottingham capped the advance by going 10 yards to the New England one and then plunging for the touchdown.

Brown obliquely admitted his players had influenced him, although he insisted the final word had been his. "You know these kids," he said. "They always like to take a shot at it . . . We just took a chance and missed."

There being honor . . . and compassion . . . among coaches, the Packers' Dan Devine refused to second guess the Cincinnati coach after beating the old master in their first professional encounter and moving his team into a four-way tie for the NFC's Central Division lead at 2-1. Everybody knows his own team and what his team needs, what it needs at the time," Devine said. I will say that many times I have gone for it, and many other times I have gone for the field goal. . . . Maybe his team needed a victory and not a tie

Devine earlier had faced the same kind of decision, when the Packers found themselves with fourth-down-and-1 at the Cincinnati 14 in the second quarter and in possession of 3-0 lead.

Reverses Self

The Packer coach first signalled "go for it," then upon placekicker Lou Michaels, whose 26-yard field goal attempt was slightly wide to the right.

"The exact yardage is so important in a situation like that and they were slow in putting the stakes down," he said. "Originally, I said to go for it, but when they marked it on the sidelines, the distance for a first down was longer than it had appeared."

That misadventure, fortunately, had not affected the outcome and Devine was able to jest, "We'd rather win than lose, of course, but I'd just as soon do it easier than that . It's sort of the story of my life I very seldom get to do it the easy way.

"I was very proud, though, of the way the team held down there in the fourth quarter."

As Devine suggested, the Packers had made life unnecessarily hectic for themselves — and a capacity house of 56,263 fans. They first dissipated a 10-0 halftime lead and then threatened to squander second 10-point bulge in the stretch despite another thunderous performance from its running game, which stacked up an incredible 256 yards against one of the NFL's better defenses.

Smith Recovers

Brown's decision, for example, would never have been required but for a first-down fumble by Dave Hampton, fallen upon by Cincinnati's Fletcher Smith at the Packer 15 with only 3:59 left in the game.

Earlier, the Bengals had been permitted to gain 10-10 parity in the third quarter on a 26-yard field goal by Horst Muhlmann, triggered by a 44-yard pass to Trumpy, and a 65-yard runback of an interception by cornerback Lamar Parrish.

The Packers, meanwhile, were having offensive problems, for which quarterback Scott Hunter accepted the blame. "That was primarily my fault," he said. "In the third quarter, I was trying to go outside, water bucket to water bucket, instead of going right at 'em as we did in the first half. On that 80-yard drive for our last touchdown, we went right at 'em"

Spiced by a 17-yard pass to John Spilis and a 15-yard sweep by Brockington, it was climaxed by a 19-yard pass to tight end Rich McGeorge, who gathered in the ball at the seven and rumbled down the east sidelines untouched to score.

"It was just an over pattern — almost the same play that scored on against the Giants in the first game here," McGeorge said "I got off the line of scrimmage pretty clean, which helps. You kind of have to pick your way past the linebacker on that one.

'Lets You Go'

"On an over pattern, the secondary kind of lets you go . . once you get that past that weak side linebacker, you've pretty well got it made."

And that was the way the Packers appeared to have it when Dave Robinson followed that go-ahead touchdown by intercepting at the Packer 49 and returning to the Cincinnati 28, setting up a 14-yard Michaels field goal which staked the green and gold to a 20-10 lead with only 6:14 remaining.

But Cincinnati's rookie quarterback, summoned to combat when starter Virgil Carter suffered a shoulder separation in the second quarter, rallied the Bengals once more, this time for an 8-play, 69-yard drive capped by a 5-yard pass to Eric Crabtree in the right corner of the end zone.

It brought an accolade from Wood. "I thought Anderson did a helluva job coming in there when there was still a chance to win the game . . . he showed signs of maturity on that last drive."

Carter was not Cincinnati's only causalty. The Bengals also lost defensive back Ken Dyer, who had to be taken to St. Mary's Hospital after colliding with Brockington, and defensive and Ron Carpenter both obvious victims of the Packers' explosive intensity.

"We wanted this game," Devine admitted, "but I don't think it was any dirty play at all. There's a lot of difference between hard hitting and dirty play . . . .I think there was more of an emotional pitch to this one that any of our previous games"

Atlanta penalty later, Steve Owens bulled over for a two-yard touchdown.

Atlanta, now 1-1-1, marched back with an 80-yard drive climaxed by Bob Berry's 13-yard touchdown pass to Jim Mitchell.

Wide receiver Ken Burrow, who grabbed six passes for 130 yards, scored two touchdowns, the first on a 56-yard aerial from Berry in the second quarter and then in the third period on a 25-yard Berry toss.

Atlanta opened the second quarter scoring with a 36-yard Bill Bell field goal but on the ensuing kickoff Ron Jessie raced 97 yards for a Detroit touchdown. With only 23 seconds left in the first half, Malone plunged over from the one to give the Falcons a 24-21 lead. However, a desperation pass by Greg Landry to wide receiver Larry Walton on the last play of the half produced a 56-yard touchdown and a 28-24 Detroit lead.

In the third quarter, Sanders snared a 16-yard touchdown pass from Landry and Erroll Mann booted an 18-yard field goal soon after Dick LeBeau intercepted a Berry pass to become the third all-time pickoff specialist in the NFL.

Mann Kicks

A 13-yard field goal by Mann late in the fourth quarter proved the winning points. With 32 seconds left cornerback Tom Hayes caught a blocked Detroit punt and raced 20 yards for the final Atlanta touchdown.

Berry was a standout in a losing cause, completing 13 of 23 passes for 309 yards.

A Chance That Didn't Work — Paul Brown

Post-Crescent News Service

GREEN BAY — The faint smile that crept across Ken Anderson's face was in response to a congratulatory word from a teammate, but the Cincinnati Bengal quarterback wiped it off with his own words.

"I was just thinking that I had to make the first down," said Anderson, who was trying to explain his part in the Bengals' fourth down do-or-die play that failed and helped the Packers to a 20-17 victory. "If it works, it's a good deal, but. . ."

The rookie quarterback from Augustana had just finished saying that he had played in only five quarters this season before being sent in to relieve injured Virgil Carter in the second quarter.

Keyed on Guards

But that play, the fourth and just less than two yards to go from the Packer 7-yard line with two minutes to play, was the subject of the onslaught of questions.

"I thought the blocking was to the outside so I cut in," said Anderson, who was racked up by Dave Robinson and Willie Wood a full yard and a half short of his goal. "I keyed on the guards but I can't really say that I saw a hole to the inside. Maybe I could have walked in if I had stayed to the outside, I don't know"

Bengal Coach Paul Brown wasn't about to fault his young signal caller on the play and, in fact, praised Anderson as "doing a very good job considering he was thrown into the breach like that. It was a chance and it just didn't work"

Brown did express some concern at the Bengals' inability to move the ball consistently, saying that "it surprised us."

Still Not Lost

And, he noted bluntly, he didn't feel the game was lost even after that crucial fourth down failure.

"I felt if we could hold them down there and force a punt, we could make a fair catch in good position," said the legendary coach. "Horst (Muhlmann) can free kick them from 60 to 65 yards away. But Hunter got away on that end sweep so it didn't work out."

Then Brown added, "We were beaten by a team that has a lot of tradition behind it. We just lost the game, that's all."

The Packers' ability to move the ball impressed linebackers Bill Burgey and Ken Avery. Burgey commenting that the Packer offensive line was the "best I have ever played against. Every time I turned around there were three of those son-of-a-guns at me. What can you do?"

Cut Off Pursuit

Avery also lauded the Packer blockers, in particular tackle Francis Peay who "cut off my pursuit all day long."

It was Avery who came within a hair of being one of the Bengal heroes as he knocked the football loose from Dave Hampton's grasp at the Packer 15-yard line late in the final quarter.

"I was pursuing on the blitz on that play," the fifth year linebacker recalled. "Hampton tried to cut back in and I saw him carrying the ball on the inside. It was right there for the picking so I just knocked it out of his hand."

Another potential hero for the Bengals was Lemar Parrish, who stole a Hunter pass in the third quarter and romped 65 yards for the then tying touchdown.

"We were in a man-for-man defense and I had been looking for that cross pattern all afternoon," Parrish said, "I thought they'd never decide to try it. I saw the whole play develop and just timed my interception. When I had it, I knew I could go all the way with it but then, anytime I touch the ball I feel I can go all the way."

Charger Mistakes Contribute To Steelers' 21-17 Victory

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh turned two San Diego mistakes—a fumble and an interception—into touchdowns, and the Steeler defense stopped three scoring threats in the waning minutes to give the Steelers a 21-17 victory over the Chargers Sunday.

Quarterback John Hadl ripped apart the Steelers' secondary, but his two mistakes were the Chargers' downfall.

He fumbled deep in his own territory in the first quarter and tackle Joe Greene recovered on the Chargers' five-yard line. John Fuqua raced over for the touchdown on the first play.

In the third quarter, Hadl passed from the end zone toward the sidelines, but cornerback Lee Calland nabbed the ball on the 22. Five plays later, Fuqua bulled over from the one.

With four minutes remaining, the Steelers defense front line held the Chargers on the six-yard line. But the Steeler offense failed to move the ball and the Chargers, after a punt, moved down to the Steelers two, but then were driven back to the four.

Bradshaw Fumbles

With less than a minute left, quarterback Terry Bradshaw fumbled and the Chargers recovered on the Pittsburgh 20. A pass interference call moved the ball to the eight, but again the Steeler front wall held and stopped the Chargers on four successive plays at the two.

The Chargers took a 3-0 lead in the first quarter after Hadl marched his team 68 yards and Dennis Partee booted a 21-yard field goal.

Green's fumble recovery and the ensuing touchdown gave the Steelers the lead at 7-3.

The Chargers pulled ahead with less than five minutes left in the half when Hadl completed seven of seven passes.

A pass to Billy Parks from the 16-yard line gave the Chargers a touchdown.

The Steelers' winning touchdown early in the fourth quarter came on an 82-yard drive in 13 plays with Bradshaw going over from the five on a rollout.

He completed five passes in the drive, good for 42 yards.

Chuters 2nd in Wayland CC Meet

Teams from the Fox Valley Christian Conference took the top three sports in the Wayland Invitational cross country meet held at Beaver Dam Saturday.

Fond du Lac St. Mary Springs grabbed the top spot with 29 points, followed by Little Chute St. John with 66 and Manitowoc Roncalli with 103.

Other team scores included Whitefish Bay Dominican 132, St. Lawrence Seminary 148, Milwaukee University School 188, Milwaukee DeSales 203, Waukesha Memorial 215, Milwaukee Concordia 235, Wayland Academy 255, Appleton Fox Valley Lutheran 263, Lake Forest Illinois 274 and Menasha St Mary Central 302.

Rick Petrie of Springs took first place with a time of 17 minutes, one second for the 3-mile course. Don Hornung, Springs, was second followed by Dave Mahlik, Roncalli, third; Bob Nielson, Lake Forest, fourth and Jim Marx, Waukesha Memorial, fifth.

Vikings' Defens Halts Bills, 19-0

MINNEAPOLIS—ST. PAUL (AP) Alan Page peeled off his Minnesota Vikings uniform and stepped onto the scales to weigh himself.

The 245-pound defensive tackle took a shower and stepped on the scales.

"I might have been a little heavier than usual," said Page. "Maybe I would have had a better day if I would just a little lighter."

Buffalo Coach Ha son and quarterba Shaw probably would that after what Pag three buddies did.

The Vikings, led b rushing front four, Bills 19-0 in the Nat ball League, sett records for allowir just 64 total yards eight yards passing.

"We thought he missed two strikes," said the A's' skipper. "It's our prerogative to think that way. But we're not calling them. There were some debatable pitches"

After Motton's game-tying hit, pitcher Jim Palmer ran for Motton. Paul Blair, 0-for-11 against Blue this season, then doubled down the left field line, scoring Belanger and Palmer for a 5-3 lead

Blair said he was looking for a fast ball on the 1-2 pitch, "because Blue throws too hard to look for anything else." Blue didn't disappoint. He threw the smoke and Blair broke his famine against the 22-year-old lefthander.

Dave McNally got the victory for Baltimore with two innings of relief help from Eddie Watt.

Drug Dealing Increasing Problem in VA Hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Phasing out of the Vietnam war and the resulting discharge of its veterans has created a new and difficult problem for the Veterans Administration: drug dealing in its hospitals.

Officials at Veterans Administration headquarters in Washington minimize drug abuse problems as isolated incidents, but VA hospital directors dispute this.

The men who run the hospitals said the problem is already a major one, that it is growing steadily, that it is a source of violent crimes inside hospitals and that it is nearly impossible to stop.

The problem is most acute in those facilities where large numbers of Vietnam veterans are patients, say the hospital directors.

And a new door to abuses opened with creation of drug-treatment centers in VA hospitals. The centers, 32 of which were scheduled to be in operation by next month, seem to draw pushers

Sweet Odor

At the VA hospital in Washington, authorities were summoned recently by the chaplain who detected a sweet odor emanating from his meditation room They learned that six patients had been smoking marijuana there, but haven't been able to learn their names.

Hospital director A A. Gavazzi ordered the meditation room locked. The next night the patients smoked their pot behind the chapel altar. Now the chapel also is locked.

Gavazzi is convinced that the pot parties are continuing in some secluded area of the sprawling hospital complex, "we just don't know where"

"One day I fully expect to get hat sweet odor pouring out of the air conditioning ducts," said the director

Treatment Center

The situation is more serious in the Washington VA hospital's new drug-treatment center.

"We have a constant problem of drugs coming into this unit," said its chief physician, Dr. Norman Tamarkin. "We have periodic unannounced searches and we have turned up some drugs."

"It's not uncommon for a patient to come here from another ward and say he's been shooting up every day. One patient in the neuropsychiatric ward was shooting up every day for four months before anybody discovered it.

"It's not something you can easily put a stop to This is a 694-bed hospital and there are hundreds of people in and out of the building every day. Short of a thorough search of each patient and visitor every day, there's no way to keep drugs out. They're easier to carry and hide than a bottle of liquor"

No one in the VA system can pinpoint how many patients in the 166 VA hospitals across the country use or sell narcotics.

Earlier this year, Michael Burns, executive director of Paralyzed Veterans of America charged before a Senate subcommittee that drug abuse was particularly widespread in spinal-cord-injury wards

"If the VA were ever to open the Pandora's box on drug abuse in spinal - cord - injury wards," he said, "it would make any other study on drug abuse seem like nothing."

Prompted by Burns' charges, the VA conducted an investigation and concluded· "There are some alcohol and-or drug-abuse problems . . . but . . . officials are aware of these problems and are making diligent efforts to control and correct them"

In an Associated Press survey of 12 VA hospital directors. half said they had direct knowledge of illegal drug activities in their institutions and the other half said they suspected but could not prove such activities.

None had been able to do anything about the problem.

"Our internal crime problem is definitely increasing," said Dr. Otto Schaefer, director of the VA psychiatric facility at Coatesville, aP. "We've had a rush of thefts and holdups. The young patients have been holding up the helpless geriatric patients for money to buy their drugs"

"Just last night two young patients here robbed an older patient

They stole his wallet and threw the covers up over the old man's head so he wouldn't scream.

"We've also had a series of thefts in the staff housing quarters and muggings outside the grounds. Most of the time it's impossible to catch the culprits. At night we just don't have enough guards around to stop it."

The director of the Atlanta hospital, Julian Jarman, said he first became aware of the problem when nurses reported they had gone to a patient's room to prepare him for surgery and "found that he already had pre-medicated himself."

"We've had some problems here," said Dr. Victor C. Welch, director of the psychiatric facility at rural Perry Point, Md "On one occasion somebody broke into our supply center where we keep some LSD for experimental purposes. On another occasion we were raided by federal, state and county police who arrested a staff member involved in a local drug ring.

"We have a 1,125-bed facility here but only 51 Vietnam-era veterans. Most of our patients are old users. So while we have a bit of a problem, it's nothing like they have at other hospitals."

As the VA's own investigation pointed out. alcohol used by hospital patients also is a nagging problem in some VA facilities. While drinking is not generally thought of as an offense equal to illegal drug use, for some hospital directors it can be a real headache.

The Coatesville psychiatric facility has 300 acres of land, much of it heavily wooded. Dr. Schaefer said he is trying to get rid of about 30 acres of the heaviest timberland.

"For a psychiatric hospital it's a real problem," he said. "Every once in a while some patients decide to hold drinking parties in those woods and we literally lose them.

"It's no easy task trying to find a couple of men who don't want to be found in 30 acres of trees"

Rock Festivals Termed Worse Than Orgies

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Former Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson, now a high official in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, says the rock festivals of today are worse than the orgies of ancient Greece and Rome

Speaking to the church's semi-annual conference Friday, Benson, a member of the church's Council of the Twelve, said the festivals "are among Satan's greatest successes."

"The legendary orgies of Greece and Rome cannot compare to the monumental obscenities found in these cesspools of drugs, immorality, rebellion and porno-phonic sound," he said.

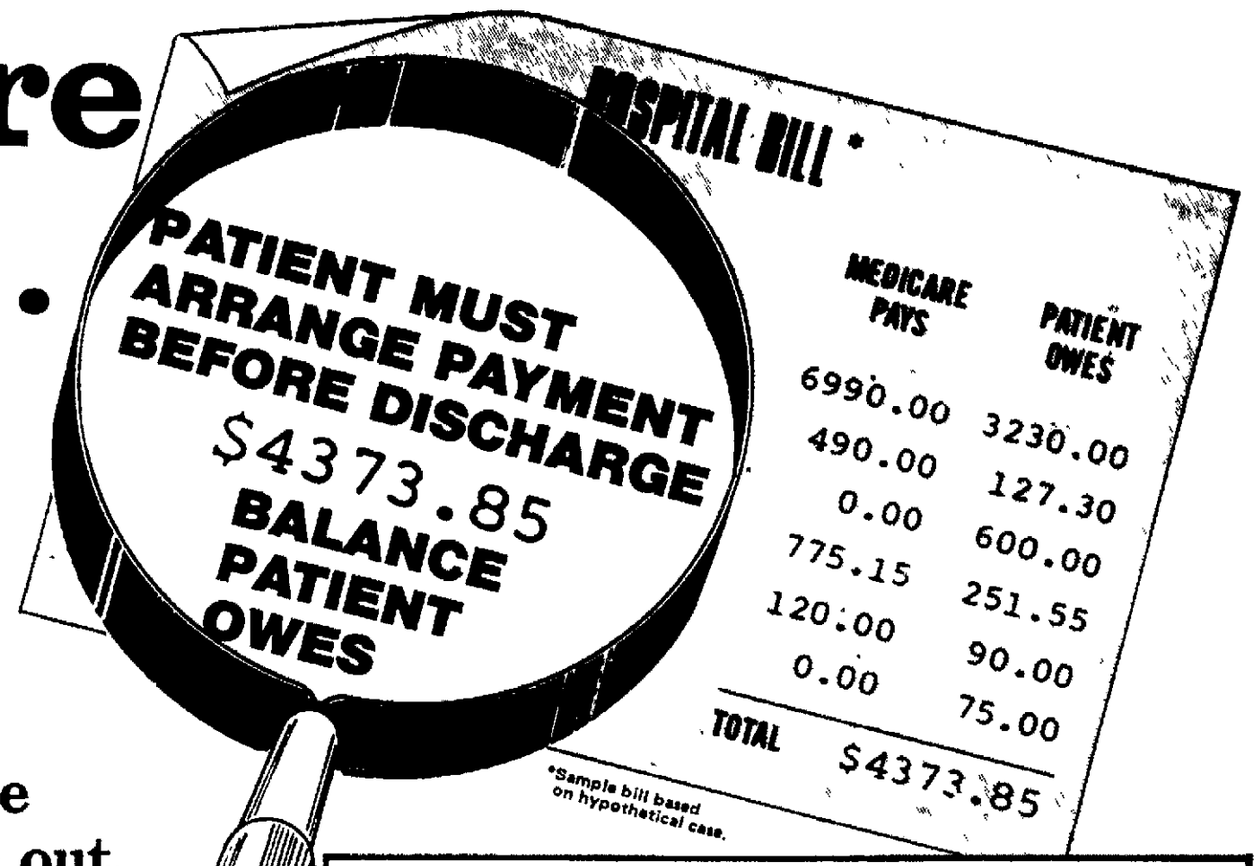
OVER 65 ONLY: ENROLLMENT PERIOD ENDS MIDNIGHT, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1971

Here's when most folks over 65 find out...too late... what Medicare does not pay...



Now, for just $1 for your first month's protection, you can examine 'on approval' this sensible, affordable Plan! New Medicare-PLUS pays you up to $50,000 Tax-Free Cash! It covers every hospital expense that Medicare leaves out, except the initial deductible!

- only $3 a month after the first month!
- no age limit
- no health questions
- all pre-existing conditions are covered!

Your first month is only $1. And you get your dollar back if you're not completely satisfied.

ARE YOUR PARENTS OVER 65? Here's a Special Message To You.

A big worry for all senior citizens is that even one long hospital stay could force them into debt for the rest of their lives. Your parents are no exception. A long illness—the kind they're prone to—could exhaust their savings! It could even force your folks to sell their home and move in with you.

That's why your Mom or Dad should know about this Plan—before the enrollment deadline. It pays them up to $50,000 in addition to Medicare. It helps guarantee financial independence for a worry-free life. Because you want what's best for them, make sure they know about Medicare-PLUS right away. It could save them—and maybe you too—from whopping hospital bills.

What a reassuring gift for them. If you would like your parents to have this Plan, as a gift from you, use the enrollment form to list their information—in care of you at your address. Policy and payment notices will be sent to you. The first month's protection is just $1, but remember your request must be mailed before the postmark deadline.

MEDICARE IS GREAT—BUT! . . .

Wake up friends. Blessing that it is, please realize that Medicare isn't everything many folks suppose. It has Gaps—deductibles, percentages and charges that you must pay out of your own pocket. And recent changes have increased those Gaps. The Government pays less, and you pay more! What a shock to find this out too late. Today, even with Medicare, a long seige of illness in the hospital could leave you with crippling financial debts.

DON'T LEARN THE FACTS THE HARD WAY!

After you're laid up, it's a little late. Under Medicare today you pay the initial deductible for each 'benefit period'. That's the first $60 of hospital expenses. Then from the 61st day of the period you must pay $15-a-day. After 90 days this increases to $30-a-day — $210-a-week, $840-a-month—that you must pay. Plus you start dipping into your Medicare 60-day 'Lifetime Reserve'. And after your Lifetime Reserve is used up, Medicare won't pay you a cent for the rest of that period. Think what a long spell of illness could mean—the slow kind that older folks get more than anyone else! You could be stuck with unpaid bills that could wipe out retirement savings . . . force you into borrowing (at today's rates) . . . selling your home . . . even turning to your children for charity!

THIS PLAN IS A MUST FOR ANYONE OVER 65

If you feel Medicare Gaps are confusing, you're right—they are! Worse—they're expensive! Part 'A' of Medicare is Hospital Insurance, designed primarily for in-hospital costs. 'Part B' is Medical Insurance, for doctors and medical service bills. This Plan supplements 'Part A' to protect you for every eligible Medicare hospital expense that Medicare doesn't pay. After your initial deductible, you're covered for all the Medicare hospital Gaps—100%—with no time limit—no matter how much or how often you collect—up to $50,000.00 tax-free cash! And no matter how Medicare Gaps widen in the future, you needn't worry. This Plan fills in automatically. There's no finer Plan in America today!

MEDICARE GAPS KEEP GETTING WIDER

The law requires that Medicare costs must be reviewed each year—and if hospital charges change significantly, the money that patients contribute must be adjusted the following year. Well, it's no secret; it's already happened twice—in '70 and again in '71. In fact, hospital costs have TRIPLED in the past few years. And are still increasing! There's little doubt about it. You'll wind up paying even more. That's why our Medicare-PLUS Hospital Plan makes so much sense!

EVERY GAP IS ANOTHER PROBLEM FOR YOU:

The Social Security Administration estimates that Medicare will pay less than half of your total health cost! That's why this Medicare-PLUS Plan is so vital. It assures you virtually complete hospital coverage no matter how much Medicare pays (or doesn't pay) in the future. It assures you will never be saddled (or saddle anyone else) with bankrupting hospital bills. It's like having up to $50,000 set aside against a rainy day!

ANY CONDITION YOU HAVE NOW IS COVERED NOW!

There are no tricky "catches" or exclusions. The only exceptions are care in a Federal Government Hospital; care provided by a State agency; or loss already covered by Workman's Compensation or Occupational Disease Laws. Even if you don't have Medicare—we'll pay you as if you did. Your Plan cannot be cancelled no matter how much you collect, up to the total $50,000. What's more, you can't be singled out for a rate increase. Your rate can never be raised unless it applies to every Medicare-PLUS Policyholder in the same state. This Plan covers you no matter how Medicare benefits change—for all the years ahead!

SEND $1 FOR YOUR FIRST MONTH'S PROTECTION . . .

while you examine your Medicare-PLUS Plan. It's yours with a money-back guarantee. Examine it carefully in the privacy of your own home. There's no "fine print". Show it to any trusted advisor. Indeed, show it to your doctor. He knows about the limitations of Medicare. He'll tell you how valuable this Plan really is. Even then, if you're not completely satisfied, return the policy within 30 days and we'll promptly refund your money—no ifs, ands or buts! It makes sense to protect yourself now for such a low amount—while you make up your mind! If you decide to continue, your regular monthly premium is only $3 per person. A small premium for so much peace of mind!

ENROLL AT ONCE—NOW IS THE TIME!

Everyone over 65 is automatically qualified during this mass enrollment period—with no medical questions asked! The closing date, however, is definite! We cannot accept applications after the postmark deadline. So please don't hesitate. You are protected by an iron-clad 30-day money back guarantee. Mail your enrollment form, with only $1 before the midnight deadline. Act now, while the thought is uppermost in your mind!

8 IMPORTANT QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

1 Q. If I have Medicare, why do I need this Plan?
A. Medicare, with its maximum limitations, was never designed to cover all hospital expenses. But the amount you pay gets bigger! $15-a-day is up from $13! $30-a-day is up from $26! Where will it all end? These widening Gaps could cost you thousands of dollars. But Medicare-PLUS relieves your hospital money worries—up to $50,000 security in tax-free cash!

2 Q. If I have other hospital insurance, doesn't it cover these Medicare Gaps?
A. Unfortunately no! Many other plans specify exclusions, riders, and limitations on Medicare. They don't bridge all the Gaps, particularly as benefits are adjusted. But with Medicare-PLUS you know that hospital Gaps are covered automatically with up to $50,000 protection. There's no waiting period—you're covered immediately for pre-existing conditions. And note: this Plan pays in addition to any other coverage you may have. It's your money to spend as you wish.

3 Q. How do I collect my benefits once I'm in the hospital?
A. There's a simple form to be completed by you and your doctor—and that's all there is to it. As soon as your request reaches us, it gets immediate attention. Folks all over the country have praised the speed and efficiency of Union Fidelity's claim service.

4 Q. Can you cancel me, or raise my rates if I go in and out of the hospital, or if I collect thousands of dollars?
A. Absolutely not! Your Plan cannot be canceled as long as you keep up your low premiums—no matter how often, or how much, you collect — up to the $50,000 maximum. And you'll never pay more than $3 per month, unless a general rate adjustment is made on all policies of this class (Form 1-919) in your state.

5 Q. How can it cost only $3 a month?
A. Because the initial deductible is not insured—that's still your responsibility. Without this one provision total Medicare-Gap insurance would be too costly to afford. With it, however, this Plan is exceedingly reasonable. Medicare covers most expenses in the first 60-day hospital benefit period. Then Medicare-PLUS fills in the rest of the hospital benefit Gaps—100%—provides up to $50,000 long-range protection. In addition, mass-enrollment by-mail-only—plus no medical questions to process—keeps policy-issue costs at a minimum. And since no salesman will call, there are no sales commission costs. All these savings are passed on to you!

6 Q. Can I enroll if I'm not in good health?
A. Yes you can. There are no medical questions to answer. No matter how poor your health, any health condition you have right now is covered. There is no waiting period. And of course, any accident or future health condition is covered too.

NO SALESMAN WILL CALL

7 Q. What other advantages are there to joining this Plan right now?
A. During this limited period there is no red tape of any kind. Just fill in the simple Application Form here. And you enjoy a 30-day approval guarantee! You're protected for only $1 while you examine your Medicare-PLUS Policy. If you're not completely satisfied return the Policy within 30 days and we'll promptly refund your money. In the meantime, you're still protected!

8 Q. How do I enroll?
A. Complete the Application Form at right and mail with only $1 for the first month's protection. Your spouse, if over 65, may also be enrolled on this form. But do not send more money! $1 covers you both during your 30-day approval. Be sure to sign your name and mail before the postmark deadline.

Plan for 42 Supervisory Districts Draws Support

A 42-supervisory district plan was presented to a special reapportionment committee of the Outagamie County Board Friday and appeared to get strong support from the committee.

This plan, along with a 21-district proposal, will be presented to the county board, possibly Oct. 12.

The 42-district plan, which would reduce board membership by five, was presented by Jerome Starling of the Fox Valley Council of Governments (COG) and was based on having supervisory district and ward lines coincide in Appleton and Kaukauna.

Starling said the 42-district plan was the closest to Appleton's proposed new ward alignment. He said it also would fit into the thinking of Kaukauna and avoids splitting local government boundaries except in the Appleton metropolitan area.

"We tried to respect municipal boundaries and keep the population deviation to a minimum," Starling told the committee. The greatest deviation from the optimum population of 2,842 would be the Town of Oneida district which would be 7.7 per cent under the optimum. The biggest deviation over the optimum would be one Town of Grand Chute district at 5.8 per cent.

Committee Chairman Charles Wussow, Appleton, wanted COG to provide additional district divisions for 21 and 11 supervisors. but other committee members objected.

Supv. Gene Retzlaff, Hortonville, noted the board had expressed a preference for a number between 41 and 47. Grand Chute Supv. Harold Miller agreed. "I think the direction has been set by the board," he said.

Specific Request

Starling said it would be no problem to produce a map showing 21 districts but if any other combinations were wanted a specific request should be made by the county board.

In several instances to get the best population figure, a number of towns were combined to have two supervisors from the one district. Starling said no effort was made to draw any lines within those districts.

Retzlaff agreed that any decision on whether to have those supervisors run at-large or to divide the districts could be made after a district plan is adopted by the board.

Appleton would have 18 supervisors for the 18 wards that would be totally in the county. The city's proposed 13th Ward, which would run into Calumet County, would share a supervisor with a corner of Kimberly and two Town of Buchanan islands that are entirely surrounded by Appleton.

The remainder of Kimberly would have 2 supervisors; Combined Locks, 1; Little Chute, 2; Kaukauna, 4; Town of Oneida, 1; and the Town of Freedom, 1.

The towns of Buchanan and Kaukauna would combine for 1; towns of Seymour, Osborn and Black Creek, Village of Black Creek, and City of Seymour would combine for 2; towns of Cicero, Maine, Bovina, Liberty and Ellington, and villages of Nichols and Shiocton, 2; and the towns of Deer Creek, Maple Creek, Hortonia, villages of Bear Creek and Hortonville and City of New London, 2.

In the only splitting of towns, Grand Chute would be involved in four districts and Greenville in two.

The portion of Grand Chute inside U.S. 41 would be the one district entirely within the town.

Judy Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roman Schneider, route 3, Chilton, reigned over homecoming activities Friday at the Chilton High School Homecoming. She was selected as a candidate by the football team and elected by the student body. (Connors Photo)

Fremont Man Drowns While Duck Hunting

Robert Danke, 29, Dies in Mishap on Lake Poygan Sunday

OSHKOSH — A 29-year-old route 1, Fremont man drowned Sunday morning in Lake Poygan while duck hunting with two Appleton companions.

The victim was Robert W. Danke, who apparently fell from his skiff while hunting just off Clark's Point.

Winnebago County sheriff's authorities said Danke was with Ron O. Beduhn, 27, 932 W. Oklahoma St., and Ronald M. Griesbach, 29, route 5, both Appleton, when the accident occurred about 8 a.m.

The men had downed two ducks, one of which was still alive. Danke, although he reportedly could not swim, got into the skiff alone and went to retrieve the birds. His companions told authorities they heard three shots, apparently fired by Danke who was attempting to kill the wounded duck.

They then saw his overturned skiff. Authorities recovered Danke's body about 2½ hours later in about six feet of water.

Danke, who was not married, worked at Koplein Electric Co., Weyauwega.

Funeral arrangements are pending through the Borchardt & Moder Funeral Home, Hortonville.

UW Researcher Calls for End to Misuse of Resources

This nation should fear misuse and waste of its resources more than overpopulation, Dr Jon Udell, a University of Wisconsin researcher and director of the UW business program, said.

He told about 275 persons at the first annual meeting of the newly formed Heart of the Valley Chamber of Commerce that the heart of the environmental problem is how resources are used.

The new chamber was formed last July and includes Kaukauna, Little Chute, Kimberly, Combined Locks and their outlying areas.

Udell, as a researcher, has studied Wisconsin industries for years, and has analyzed mergers and the movement of industries to and from the state.

"Consider garbage as a major resource," he said, "and after all, it's the only expanding resource we have."

He urged a change in the ways of using resources — and retrieval, recycling and reuse — to prevent a "rapid decline of our way of life."

He discounted overpopulation because France's population is 4½ times as dense as the United States and England is 10 times. To match England's density, he said, the United States would have to have two billion persons.

And both European countries have less severe pollution problems than this country, he said, noting London has less smog today than it did a century ago.

Udell said that young persons are mistaken to blame technology and affluence for the pollution. He said they shouldn't be demanding a decreasing standard of living because only through expenditures and technology can pollution problems be solved.

He noted that outdoor toilets and old-time stoves were among the worst polluters.

The nation must stop polluting discharges into streams, such as industrial and sewage wastes and phosphates. He defined pollution as "resources being wasted."

He quoted U.S. Sen. Gaylord Nelson's statistics that the United States annually disposes of 200 million tons of smoke and fumes, seven million junked cars and 94 billion disposable cans and bottles.

The nation is spending billions to dispose of wastes and pollute the enviroment — over $5 billion annually on garbage disposal alone," he said, but virtually nothing in research.

The United States uses its resources as it did in the horse and buggy era, he added.

Udell was optimistic that reuse would become more prevalent. He noted that many U.S. industries now were reusing, including the paper industry. Also, nations, such as Israel and Canada, are moving into more retrieval and reuse of resources, he added.

But the surface of reuse possibilities has only been scratched, he said. This process can and probably will be developed in many areas, and often in a profitable manner when marketing and product development begins to move, he said.

Udell said that a tax on pollution rather than severe government requirements probably would be more effective in fighting pollution without destroying the economics of business.

He noted that past standards had been shifted often, causing industries hardships by, for example, making equipment obsolete before its operating.

And it's "far easier to administer a tax on pollution," he added, as an incentive to bring about produce redesign.

7-Year-Old Killed By Car at Freedom

FREEDOM — Mary Kay Murphy, 7, route 5, Appleton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Murphy Jr., was killed Sunday morning when she reportedly ran into the path of an auto driven by Michael R. Nechodom 23, route 5, Appleton (Freedom).

The accident occurred on County Trunk E near the State 55 intersection. The girl reportedly was crossing the road between two stopped cars and entered Nechodom's lane about eight feet in front of his auto.

The girl was returning across the road from her grandparents home and light rain was falling at the time of the accident, according to Outagamie Sheriff's investigators.

Outagamie County Coroner Bernard H. Kemps reported that her death was due to severe head injuries.

Mary Kay was a second grader at St. Nicholas Grade School, Freedom. She was a member of the Kaukauna Electro Lites Twirling Corps.

She is survived by her parents, two brothers and three sisters.

Services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at St. Nicholas Catholic Church, Freedom, with the Rev. Alfred Hietpas officiating. Interment will be in St. Nicholas Cemetery.

Friends may call at Ellenbecker-Anderson Funeral Home after 3 p.m. Tuesday. The children's liturgy service will be conducted at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The deaths of 12 other people in weekend accidents including three victims of a three-car crash raised the highway fatality toll for the year to 380 today compared with 379 on the same date last year.

Iowa County authorities said a three-car crash in a predawn rain Sunday east of Spring Green claimed lives of Arthur J. Henry, 34, of Belleville, Robert R. Burke, 43, of Viroqua and Howard Richardson of Wausaukee.

Two Ozaukee County victims, Roger Lanser, 18, of Port Washington and Dennis Pierron, 20, of rural Belgium died Sunday when their car struck a utility pole beside a rural highway.

Timothy Socha, 20, and Judith Herbrechtsmeier, 19, both of Kenosha, died Sunday when their car struck a freight train at a rural crossing. Kenosha County authorities said the train had halted after striking an abandoned car.

Patricia Helsing, 27, of Port Wing was fatally injured Sunday when her car crashed beside a Bayfield County highway.

A rural Bowler youth Dean Thiex, 18, was fatally injured Sunday when his car hit roadside trees near Bowler.

Rural Berlin Resident Dies of Heart Attack

OSHKOSH — An elderly man, found in a ditch in the western part of Winnebago County Sunday afternoon, died of a heart attack, according to Coroner Duane Moore.

Herbert Brey, 71, route 1, Berlin, had left home early Sunday to work his trap line. Authorities were notified when he had not returned by noon.

Winnebago County sheriff's authorities said the body was found about 5:30 p.m. in a ditch along County Trunk K near County Trunk D, in the Town of Poygan.

They sawed through a 12" hemlock log in 8.4 seconds. Tom Cullen and Pat Burke finished second. Claassen also finished first in the power saw category with Carl Mettrich of Larsen, second.

Timm and Claassen also took first place in the cross cut saw contest using a 14" hemlock log. Finishing second were Keith Wall and Duane Koehler, and third, Cullen and Burke.

Lacking local competition in the professional classes, the north woods lumberjacks presented an exhibition, using 4 different classes of power saws. The jacks also demonstrated their axe throwing and chopping prowess.

Old-time music was featured at the two nights of dancing on Mill Street. During the final evening special prizes were awarded as follows: Howard Hasselinke, Shawano, stereo; Mike Stevens, Neenah, hind quarter of beef; Doug Kincaid, Crandon, front quarter of beef; Ray Dorschner, Hortonville, 3 wheel adult bike; Audrey Karski, Waupaca, boy's bicycle; and Marvin Strey, Weyauwega, girl's bicycle.

Man's Death Attributed to Bee's Sting

SHAWANO — A bee sting was fatal to a 57-year-old West Allis man Saturday who was visiting his newly-purchased property on Legend Lake.

Kurt F. Gewalt was pronounced dead on arrival at Shawano Hospital where he was taken by two men who had been hunting in the area.

According to Dr. George Handy, state health officer, only about one person in 10,000 is sensitive enough to bee venom for it to be fatal.

Gewalt was a supervisor in the experimental division of Rex Chainbelt Co. He was with his wife and other relatives when he was stung.

Handy said that the sensitivity is an allergic condition that can be treated, if discovered. He said that the antidote for a bee sting would be an injection of either antihistamine or adrenalin, if administered soon enough after the sting.

Peterson earned a degree in business administration, with a major in accounting at the University of Wisconsin. He is an officer of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company and co-authored a booklet "Budgeting in Life Insurance."

Approximately 40 Menominee Indians marched through Clintonville Sunday, left, on their way to Manawa, right, where they spent the night. The Indians, a contigent of DRUMS (Determination of Rights and Unity for Menominee Shareholders), are marching from Keshena to Madison for a meeting Oct. 14 with Gov. Patrick J. Lucey. The march which began Saturday, is intended to draw attention to the Indians' grievances, particularly in regard to Menominee Enterprises and alleged oppression of the tribe through the years. Over the weekend, the march was led by James White, Chicago, DRUMS president. The group plans to meet with Lucey to make him aware of their plight and to seek a solution to its problems.

Shawano Team Name Is Under Fire

Some Menominee Students Declare 'Indians' Demeaning

SHAWANO, Wis. (AP) — A 40 - year tradition at Shawano High School is under seige by some of the 180 Indian students in the school. They want to shed the mascot and team name of "Indians."

A committee of seven Indian students submitted a petition signed by 150 Indians to the school board two weeks ago. But the request bogged down when some of the petitioners complained they didn't know what they were signing and the school board decided to ask adults.

The petition said the use of the Indian symbol, even for athletic events, is demeaning and is "hurting the Indian's pride and integrity."

Board member Mary Louise Kenote, whose husband played football for Shawano and is a Menominee-Stockbridge Indian, said: "I question how demeaning this is to the Indians."

"I'd like to hear from some of the great Menominee athletes who played for Shawano," board member Elmer Beery said.

Carl Carmichael, Shawano principal, said Sunday some of the community's adults responded.

"Most of the adults in the community want the name to stay the same," Carmichael said.

The Indian students conducted a vote among themselves last week on the question, but aren't saying yet what the results were.

Lucey Expected to Consider Issues in Menominee County

MADISON — Gov Patrick Lucey may visit Menominee County before a group of Menominee Indians marching on Madison arrives at his office, a spokesman said today.

In any case, said the governor's aide, "Lucey is interested in the problems of the Menominees and would be willing to meet with them."

The 200-mile march, organized by a group called Determination of Rights and Unity for Menominee Shareholders (DRUMS), began Saturday morning near Keshena and is expected to end at the capitol about Oct. 14.

The Menominees and supporters including Indians of other tribes and non - Indians have expressed a hope to meet with Lucey to seek his personal intervention in various problems of the tribe.

The DRUMS group claims it has support from a majority of Menominees living inside and outside of Menominee County, a reservation until 1960. One of DRUMS aims is a return to reservation status or something similar.

The federal government terminated the reservation's existence as a condition for paying Menominees a cash settlement of a lawsuit over federal management of Menominee land and resources.

The marchers traveled Saturday from Keshena to Clintonville, and arrived Sunday night in Manawa. They left Monday morning for Waupaca.

The spokesman for Lucey said the governor had expressed an interest some time ago in visiting Menominee County. At one point, the visit had been scheduled for last weekend, but had to be postponed. The trip still may be taken "sometime in October," the aide said.

He said the visit to the former reservation was discussed before the governor knew of the march.

The marchers listed several problems they hope to call to the governor's attention, including alleged discrimination in education and law enforcement, health and welfare problems, and differences of opinion with officers of Menominee Enterprises, Inc., the corporation that manages tribal land, timber and other resources and runs the former reservation sawmill at Neopit.

Enterprises and a private firm are engaged in a reservoir development near Keshena which involves sale of tribal land to non-Indians for vacation and retirement homesteads. The DRUMS group opposes the land sales, but Enterprises argues it is the only way to expand the tax base of the county.

The number of marchers varied widely, from about 20 to 75 over the weekend, as it is expected to during the two-week period. Some marchers left the procession Sunday to return to jobs in Milwaukee, Chicago and elsewhere, but plan to rejoin the march next weekend. Others said they intend to march the entire distance

The marchers are accompanied by trucks, cars, campers, and a bus carrying food, clothing and bedding. Children accompanying the marchers alternately walk and ride.

Churches and organizations along the route have offered shelter and other forms of hospitality. The group stayed at Sacred Heart Catholic Church at Manawa Sunday night, after staying at St Rose Catholic School at Clintonville Saturday night.

Officers, Directors

Other officers are Richard Yencheski, rural Hilbert, vice president, and Thomas Chila, Stockbridge, secretary-treasurer Officers were selected from a 17-member, all volunteer board of directors named at a meeting about a month ago at Chilton.

James Vennix and Clem Kasper, all Chilton; Harold Bancroft, route 4, Chilton; Dale Zagrodnik, John Shaver Jr., Anton Hoekstra, David Ditter, Wayne Zwart, David Goll and Ted Pagel, New Holstein; Gordon Thome, route 2, New Holstein; the Rev. Man Pleads Guilty, Pays Maximum Fine

Outagamie County Judge Nick F. Schaefer fined a 30-year-old Appleton man the maximum fine of $200 and ordered him to attend traffic safety school Friday after he pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of failure to report an accident.

Robert McCullough, 103 N. Durkee St., originally was charged with felonious hit and run after a May 18 accident in front of the Appleton Coated Paper Co. McCullough's auto struck Richard Carlson, 21, 120 E. Wisconsin Ave., as he left work at 11:58 p.m.

Carlson sustained a fractured skull, internal injuries and a broken leg. He reportedly has not regained consciousness since the accident and is in a nursing home.

McCullough left the scene of the accident, witnesses reported, without stopping to render assistance. He telephoned police about half an hour after the accident from an E. Wisconsin Avenue service station where police found him

His auto was found by an officer around the same time parked behind a vacant building at 1322 E Wisconsin Ave.

In a jury trial Sept. 15, for the hit and run charge McCulloguh did not deny hitting the man, but told the jury that he had suffered from a mental block and could not remember anything after hitting the man until the time he called police.

The jury had been unable to reach a verdict following the trial and Schaefer had declared it stalemated

When McCullough appeared before Schaefer Friday on the reduced charge he pleaded guilty. Schaefer questioned him about his driving record and McCullough told him that he had an "average" driving record and got "about a ticket a year"

Schaefer told him that he did not consider "a ticket a year" average and then imposed the maximum fine and ordered McCullough to attend the safety school "There have got to be some changes in your driving habits" Schaefer told him. "You can't continue to drive this way"

Agnew and Excited Democrats

It's a little hard to work up a lot of perspiration about Vice President Spiro Agnew's effort to link the aims of some Democrats to those of Communist Gus Hall or the righteous indignation then expressed by the Democrats.

In a speech Mr. Agnew pointed out that the stand of some Democratic leaders toward a massive cutback in our military expenditures is just exactly what Gus Hall likes, as expressed in the Communist Daily Worker. This is such an old line it is almost not worth noting. The Vice President failed to mention that the cutbacks would also encourage those who feel more money should be used to help indigent Americans and that in any case we ought to be getting out of Vietnam a little faster. It seems likely that some parents of draftees in Vietnam might agree with this point of view and they don't carry Communist party cards.

But it also gets tiresome to have such a silly reference — and it was silly and immature politically — raised up as a new threat of fascism in the country, a return to the McCarthy (Joe, that is) era and all the alleged persecutions of those who did not follow the proper anti-Communist lines as enunciated by John Foster Dulles. The movie directors are back to work, the academic community is not threatened, the only ones who think there is a real move underfoot to take over the government by Communists set up fantastic gun arsenals in the backwoods or are ultra-sensitive about any criticism of their conservative credentials. William Buckley, the conservative, said it best when he wrote off a long time ago the point of view of Robert Welch and his John Birch Society followers.

It just so happens that people of widely different political philosophies can agree on some matters — the need to cure cancer or improve elementary education or end the slaughter on the highway or maybe they share brown or blue or green eyes. The most recent hassle indicates further that Mr. Agnew is not qualified to be on the Republican 1972 ticket but the reaction doesn't say much for the current Democratic leadership either.

Apple Time in Wisconsin

The names roll off one's tongue almost as juicily as does the fruit itself. For this is the season and in Wisconsin the variety and the pleasure cannot be overestimated.

There are the delectable sauce apples such as the Dutchess, now past their season but still sometimes available for sauce or pie. There are the Rome Beauties, exquisite when stuffed with raisins and brown sugar and baked. There are the Red and Golden Delicious which somehow seem to belong in Christmas stockings, the Ida Red, the Wealthies, the unassuming but no less delicious Transparent. There are Courtlands and Jonathans. In a week or more there will be the Snows with their amazingly white centers under the red. And there are the Greenings which make perhaps the best pies, and the Russets which look so strange and taste so good.

Then of course there are the Crabs, not much to chew upon but the base for jelly and other preserves. And the best of all, if an editorial comment is permitted, the versatile McIntosh, which cannot be bettered as a crisp eating apple but is marvelous also for pies or cinnamon rings or baked.

All right, so it's the corn and squash season too. But somehow apples in Wisconsin belong in October. It wouldn't be the same place or month without them. And they should be accompanied by cheese — the older, the better.

Brezhnev Meets Brandt

Communiques issued after the meetings of government leaders don't necessarily mean much. Often what they don't express is more important than what they do. But when there is any sign of agreement between leaders of opposing or conflicting powers it is at least faintly optimistic.

And it is with the official pronouncement between the Soviet Union and West Germany after Leonid Brezhnev flew back to Moscow after his talks with Chancellor Willy Brandt at the Crimean resort town of Oreanda.

There were two particular matters at issue. One is the desire of the Russians for an all-European security conference to which some West Europeans and Americans have objected, partly on the grounds that it would recognize the status quo of the separation of Germany and the firm reins of the Russians on Eastern European governments. However, such is the status quo and except for disastrous open warfare the best measure to loosen the ties is to increase contacts between East and West. Chancellor Brandt pledged to "accelerate" efforts in the West to hold such a conference.

Secondly at issue is the way in which there could be a reduction of armaments by both sides in Europe. About a year ago Russia conceded that there could be a reduction of "foreign armed forces on the territory of European states" but exactly which countries would be considered "foreign" was not spelled out. This time the communique stated somewhat more liberally that Brandt and Brezhnev had found "common elements in their positions . . . on the reduction of armed forces and armaments in Europe without detriment to the participating states." Admittedly that is a long way from stating that when the Americans pull back so will the Russians but it was at least a more modified position.

Also discussed was the need for ratification of a West German-Russian nonaggression treaty and the "normalization" of relations between the Bonn government and that of the German Democratic Republic. The East Germans have been quite willing lately to discuss allowing more visits of West Berliners to the east but not the other way around. The West Germans have wanted to include movements in both directions at the same conference.

Brezhnev's trip in itself seems to be an interesting beginning of several tours. In his middle sixties, Brezhnev may be feeling a bit of anxiety about President Nixon's flying hither and yon, his meeting with Emperor Hirohito of Japan in Alaska and his proposed trip to Peking. If that bamboo curtain is to be opened a little wider, it appears that the Russian leaders don't want to take up the former Chinese position of world isolation or give the impression that they do. Brezhnev has also recently visited Yugoslavia and has a trip to Paris scheduled for next month. Premier Kosygin will be off to Canada, Algeria, Denmark and Norway. Even President Podgorny is on the travel plans, heading for Hanoi. Several of these visits apparently are aimed at balancing Chinese influence in the areas.

There may have to be recognition of East Germany but one thing is certain at this point. The East Germans will continue to take their orders from Moscow and the meeting between Brezhnev and Brandt should have reinforced that message to them.

Fair Great, Except for Flowers

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Sept. 30, 1871.

While throughout the weather has been cool, windy and very dusty in consequence of the prevailing drought, the exhibition at the Outagamie County Fair as a whole has been one of the best. The attendance was creditable considering the raw winds.

The Floral Department was lamentably deficient, for which every lady in Appleton must consider herself blamable. It might have been an attractive feature of the fair.

The Fine Arts Department was very creditable, as far as it went, but the display should have been three-fold greater.

The display of fruit was worthy of mall praise. For the first time, Outagamie peaches were on exhibition.

No county in any eastern state could make so good a show in the line of vegetables and garden products, and field products such as corn, wheat.

The Dairymen's products of cheese, butter, etc. also will not be excelled anywhere. Even the Bee Growers attracted much attention.

A. H. Hart, of Grand Chute, exhibited the best assortment of extracted honey that we ever saw — 222½ pounds taken from one swarm of Italian bees, in nine weeks, extracted by machinery, so that the comb can be used again. It is much purer than taken out any other way. His apparatus excited universally favorable comments.

25 YEARS AGO

Monday, Sept. 30, 1946.

Leone Guyette was elected homecoming queen at Kimberly High School. She and Richard Gerritts, as the king, lead the grand march at the Homecoming dance.

Mrs. H J Weller and Miss Ferna Taylor were delegates from Fidelity chapter, Order of Eastern Star, to the grand chapter session at Milwaukee.

10 YEARS AGO

Monday, Oct. 2, 1961.

Miss Grace Hannagan was chairman of the Elizabethan Tea and style show held by St. Elizabeth Hospital Auxiliary. Poodles were a feature of the show and Tammy, a poodle owned by Mrs. Harold Hartzheim, even modeled a cotton dress. Mrs. Harold Brautigan, Neenah, presented the poodle show.

John Losselyong and Joseph Ferris were co-chairmen of the Knights of Columbus Landing Day celebration, which was to take the form of a dinner dance.

Leonard Weis, Appleton, was fellowship chairman of the North Central Unitarian Conference. He was a member of the Fox Valley Liberal Religious Fellowship.

Wisconsin Report

Public Will Really Appreciate ORAP In Future Years

BY D. K. TYLER

MADISON — September marked the 10th anniversary of passage of Wisconsin's original Outdoor Recreation Act. Funded at the start by an extra cent a pack tax on cigarettes, the act was designed as the vehicle for the state to acquire and develop rapidly disappearing lands suited for public outdoor recreation uses.

The old Conservation Commission and its successor agency, the Department of Natural Resources, have had responsibility for the program. An indication of the zeal and vigor in implementing the intent of the legislation can be found in the fact that close to 300,000 acres of beautiful recreation land already has been acquired and preserved for use by Wisconsin citizens.

D. K. Tyler, former Price County official, onetime banker, and longtime conservationist, is chairman of the state Natural Resources Board. He has been one of its members since its creation four years ago.

Thus far, about 70 per cent of the acreage goals have been achieved. Approximately $30 million in public funds have been invested in the program. More than 3,500 transactions — an average of almost one a day throughout the 10-year period — were consummated to obtain this acreage.

As a result, Wisconsin citizens now have an expanded network of public parks, forest lands, lakes, wildlife refuges and scenic trails that is envied by the entire nation.

Value Has Increased

Aside from the priceless esthetic benefits derived from the ORAP program, dollar value of these lands has increased in many cases more than 300 per cent since 1961 because of rapidly escalating real estate prices during this period. Had the state not acquired these properties when it did, it is doubtful if we could ever again afford or even be able to do so at any price under conditions existing today.

Obviously, a program as large and costly as this has generated concern among some groups. Public officials in certain communities, faced with mounting costs of government, are not enthusiastic about losing these lands on their tax rolls. A few private investors would have preferred to obtain and develop some of this land for commercial use. On rare occasions, we were forced to use eminent domain authority to acquire parcels the owners did not want to sell.

Generally, however, there has been broad public support for the program, a tribute due primarily to the strict guidelines that were set up and adhered to over the years.

Met Urgent Needs

Highest priority has been given to those lands that were both available and best suited to meeting most urgent public recreation needs. Before a decision to buy was made, extensive appraisals were conducted by state and independent appraisers familiar with local property values. In some cases, the Land Committee of the DNR board personally inspected the properties. In all cases, approval of the governor was obtained before a purchase could be made. In about 75 per cent of our purchases, federal officials also reviewed and approved our recommendations.

There always is a possibility for mechanical errors as well as a mistake in judgment with a program of this magnitude. However, we have set strict procedures, policies, rules of conduct and ethical codes for the department personnel administering the program. When viewed in context of the total effort, I am convinced we have been usually successful in safeguarding the public interest in all of the transactions.

The wisdom and foresight of legislators who launched this vast program will provide extensive recreation benefits to Wisconsin citizens for many generations to come. This will be a lasting monument to the many people responsible for its success.

Auto Makers Threatened By New Cultural Patterns

BY KEVIN P. PHILLIPS

WASHINGTON — Each year, when autumn comes to the United States, it brings football games, falling leaves, and a new lineup of Detroit's chromium-plated ego-wagons.

To be sure, cars could be styled so that we didn't have to change them every year, but that would take all the fun out of things — not only for automotive stockholders but for the average American who likes to bolster his uncertain self-image.

I do not have statistics, but I would guess that a higher percentage of men than women favor Detroit over foreign-made chrome. The names of the cars seem to be aimed at masculine stallionhood and status-apprehension. Presumably women have less interest in wielding Cutlasses, preening like Matadors or posing as Stingrays.

Let's Look at List

If you sit down and draw up a list of the most frequently indulged categories of automotive namesmanship, the following would stand out: (1) Fierce or fast animals, birds or fish; (2) Weapons; (3) Words evoking ferocity; (4) Chic resorts or residential areas; (5) Titles evoking status; and (6) Names conveying space-age technology.

Phillips

Category One — fierce or fast animals — has been with us for some time, but it leaped ahead in the James Bond years of the early sixties: Cougars, Hornets, Broncos, Cobras, Wildcats, Stingrays, Barracudas, Mustangs, Thunderbirds, and Impalas.

In the same vein are the weapon-wagons: Darts, Cutlasses, Le Sabres, and Javelins.

Ferocity is another big seller; witness Valiants, Tempests, Furies, Challengers, and Matadors.

The next big group involves "status" names. First, there are the cars named for chic resorts and fashionable places: Newports, Monacos, Catalinas, Rivieras, El Dorados, Montegos, New Yorkers, Biscaynes, Malibus, Monte Carlos, Torinos, and so forth.

Plushest of all are the creme de la creme, phony-status evocators: Ambassadors, Coupe de Villes (should I say Coupes?), Imperials, Continentals, Marquis, Broughams, Coronets, Grand Prix, Town and Country(s), and Grand Villes.

The last major list fits into neither the "virility" nor the "status" category, but rather expresses a new space-age modernism: Vegas, Deltas, Comets, Polaras, Galaxies, Satellites, and Novas.

New Cultural Patterns

But new American cultural patterns are creating a different demand that even the Vega-type cars cannot satisfy. Scott Ward of the Marketing Science Institute in Cambridge, Mass., sees it this way:

"Well-educated young people are turning inward and are more concerned with personal relationships. The car differs today according to the wide variance of life styles."

To many people unostentatious cars are anti-status status symbols. This involves a rejection of Detroit and its commercial mystique which goes beyond mere automotive body-styling to questions of environmental and social concern.

Small-sized foreign cars, the betes noires of Detroit manufacturers and Washington economists, base much of their appeal on relatively unchanging designs, modest names and model designations. How much of the U. S. market would Volkswagen lose if it started merchandising its beetles as Vagabonds or Varlets?

Foreign automobiles appear to be headed for another record year of U. S. sales, and the answer to this challenge may not lie in economics. Detroit is going to have to devote more and more psychological attention to the growing affluent slice of the U. S. population that is in revolt against the Motor City's basic approach to the U. S. consumer.

This Unemployed Person Objects to Blind Ads

Editor, The Post-Crescent:

I wonder if other unemployed people who are looking for a job hate those sneaky "blind" ads in the want-ad section as much as I do.

Why employers are advertising for help in this manner is beyond me. Although, I have pondered on its practicality many times.

Perhaps this morbid desire for anonymity is justifiable in a few, isolated cases. Such as: a top executive who needs to be replaced without his knowing it. But even then it seems wrong.

I have vowed to never answer a blind ad again. It costs money, it's time consuming, and one rarely receives a reply. Besides this, it is risky giving information about yourself to a person you don't know.

Lately these ads are being used to hire janitors, housekeepers, and even tavern "swampers." And references yet! What is happening here when even these lowly jobs have to be shrouded in secrecy?

The employer is only short-changing himself. The ad for which he paid is being answered by a limited few. He shouldn't restrict himself this way because a better qualified person, with an aversion to this type of advertising, could be out there looking for such a job.

Do employers really feel that a nice-appearing person with a good personality and the ability to get along well with others is not important anymore? Is typing speed and former jobs the only criteria to be used in hiring an individual? What ever happened to the personal interview?

Study of Humanities Enlarges a Person

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

There is no way of deciding the running argument between the people who believe in a liberal arts education and those who believe in a technical education until we ask and answer one prior question. This question is: what kind of persons do we want our colleges to turn out? Is it enough to "train" students, or do they somehow have to be changed in outlook and attitude? If we decide it is not enough just to "train" students, then we must look to the humanities and social sciences for means of changing them.

Literature, history, sociology, philosophy, anthropology — these differ in much more than subject matter from physics, chemistry, engineering, mathematics. They differ in that the knowledge we have of them affects both the future of the subject and of ourselves.

Our knowledge of the table of atomic weights does not change the atomic system. Our knowledge of algebra or calculus does not affect those mathematical concepts Our knowledge of metal fatigue and structural stress does not alter those physical laws. But our knowledge of the humanities and social sciences is an essential part of those systems. In sociology, for instance, once we truly understand the nature of group pressure and the influence of prejudice, both we and the subject have been modified.

If we know what Shakespeare was getting at in King Lear, if we can grasp what was wrong with the Treaty of Versailles, if we see what the existentialists are trying to express — then we are able to utilize this knowledge to reshape our own views of life and to exert influence on those we live with and work with.

The humanities are not "superior" to the technical studies because they are more ancient or more "cultural" or more intellectual; these would be poor, and snobbish, reasons for granting them any sort of priority. They are superior because they expand the imagination, enlarge the personality, enable us to become something different and better than what we were before. Learning a chemical formula does not make a man different; reading Donne's sermons can change his whole life drastically.

Our great need today is not so much for better-trained technicians as it is for well-rounded persons who know how their subject fits into other subjects, and who can relate their experience to some general framework of human experience. Without this, we will breed only a generation of technical barbarians, who do brilliantly what they have been taught to do, but who are blind to the consequences of their actions. This may be an admirable quality in a soldier; it is a disastrous one in a free citizen.

Researchers Cheered by Progress Against Arthritis

million Americans, mostly males

The optimism that the cause of rheumatoid arthritis may be uncovered by the end of the decade is based on signs it may be due to:

—A still unidentified, slow-acting virus

—A disturbance of the body's normal immunity mechanism so that a person becomes dangerously allergic to his own tissue

Maybe Both

—A combination of the two

Further optimism about helping arthritis sufferers is based on four factors

One is the consistent successes at special arthritis clinics in controlling rheumatoid arthritis with conventional drugs, notably aspirin in doses up to 16 tablets daily. This has prompted private arthritis experts to urge the government to provide more such centers.

Another is the increased understanding of the self-perpetuating inflammatory process that characterizes the rheumatoid type of arthritis

A third results from new insights into how drugs work in inflamed arthritic joints, gains which Reynolds said "offer hope that we can develop new and safe drugs to prevent or block that process."

Encouraging Results

Early, encouraging results have been achieved with several new experimental drugs including two, histidine and cyclophosphamide.

Only a few doctors so far have tested histidine, a duplicate of an amino acid occurring in human and animal protein, but one researcher indicates it could have safety advantages

Dr. Donald A. Gerber of New York's Downstate Medical Center said he has treated 70 rheumatoid arthritics with histidine—almost all of them far advanced cases, and has achieved encouraging, though still-tentative, results with no adverse side effects

But Gerber, waiting for results of more scientifically stringent tests, cautions, "we've been through honeymoons with certain (experimental) drugs before. So far, all those honeymoons have ended in divorce."

He notes that arthritics may experience symptom-free remissions of their illness for months and even years without any kind of treatment.

Side Effects

Cyclophosphamide, previously used against leukemia and certain other forms of cancer, appears to have a unique bone-protecting action in arthritis cases, but can produce serious side effects.

Two New York University researchers seeking to control arthritis are testing a group of fatty chemicals called prostaglandins that occur naturally in the human body. Other scientists earlier have envisioned these versatile chemicals for a wide range of possible uses, from treatment for a stuffy nose to a "morning after" birth control pill.

The fourth factor making researchers optimistic are surgical results that Arthritis Foundation experts say were "undreamed of a few years ago."

They say it's now possible to correct the deformities and disability of rheumatoid arthritis and, to some degree, of osteoarthritis.

Attacks Joints

Rheumatoid arthritis can affect the whole body, but primarily attacks the joints, specifically the protective cartilage surrounding bone-ends. Cartilage literally is eaten away, leaving raw bone on raw bone.

Affecting women three times more than men, and farmers and factory workers more frequently than other occupational groups, it tends to subside and flare up unpredictably, causing progressive damage to tissue.

Hands can become misshapen, sometimes claw-like, and thumbs deformed to resemble a swan's neck. Knees, ankles and hips become weak and normal activities are impossible in thousands of cases.

Nearly everyone suffers at least a little osteoarthritis if they live long enough, and the malady usually is mild and not generally inflammatory. But pain and severe disability gradually may develop.

Rubber Implants

Among the latest surgical developments in treating arthritics is a technique that involves use of silicone rubber implants as substitutes for diseased finger joints.

Dr. Alfred B. Swanson of Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids, Mich., says the technique he developed is for selected patients only, and cautions it's not a wonder substitute for the normal finger.

He has reported the technique has enabled a secretary with increasingly crippled fingers to return to an 80-word-a-minute pace at a typewriter

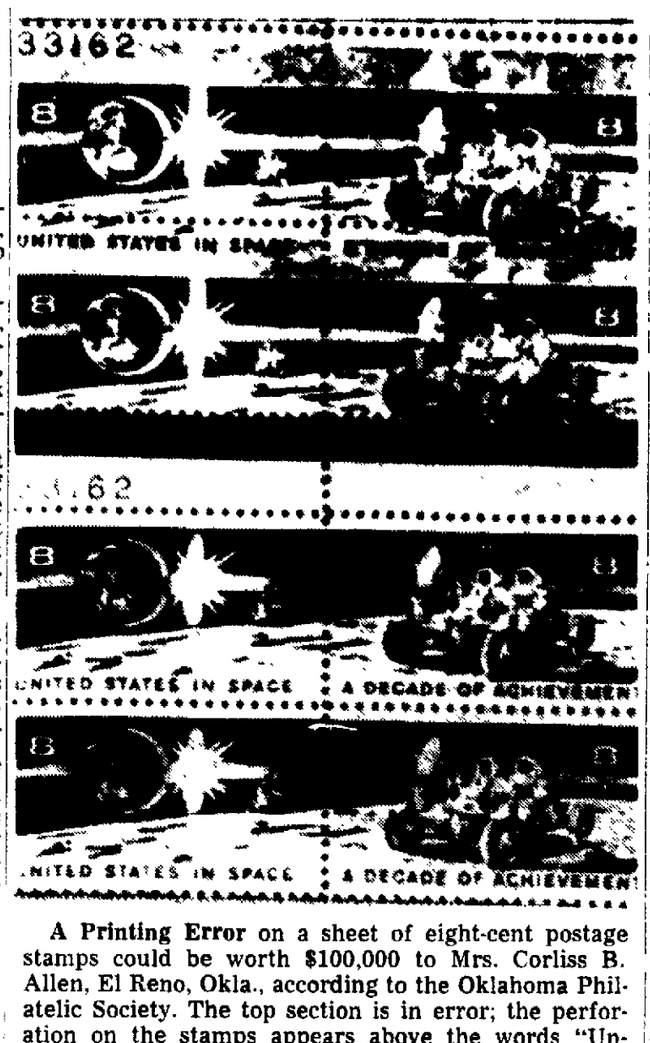
Hip Joint Replacement

In the still controversial field of hip-joint replacement by metal and plastic ball-and-socket substitutes, researchers at the University of California at Los Angeles are experimenting with a relatively new material, pyrolytic carbon.

The material first was used in the nose cones of space rockets to protect them from the wear and tear of atmospheric friction and still is in the laboratory stage.

But researcher Martin Rubinfield and his UCLA associates believe they have developed an improved, more anatomically correct version of artifocal hip joints, already implanted in thousands of arthritics, mostly in Britain.

NEXT: MUSCULAR DISTROPHY



A Printing Error on a sheet of eight-cent postage stamps could be worth $100,000 to Mrs. Corliss B. Allen, El Reno, Okla., according to the Oklahoma Philatelic Society. The top section is in error; the perforation on the stamps appears above the words "United States in Space" and "A Decade of Achievement." Also evident is a ghost-like image at the top of the stamps. The bottom set is printed correctly.

Heart Cut Out of Consumer Protection Bill, Nader Says

By CARL C. CRAFT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — To the average person, Section 204 would be just 97 lines of complicated lingo loaded with unfamiliar legal references.

But to Ralph Nader it is the heart of the proposed consumer protection act of 1971. And his complaint to Congress is that a House committee has given the bill heart trouble.

Nader and Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., are unhappy because, they say, Section 204—on "representation of consumers"—would not give the proposed new consumer protection agency the right to intervene in enforcement proceedings during preliminary, informal stages.

That is important, they say, because most cases involving alleged violations of consumer protection regulations are settled without formal proceedings.

For example, they say:

—The Federal Trade Commission resorted to formal adjudication only 25 times in 1970 to enforce flammability standards while disposing of more than 250 cases through informal proceedings.

— Agriculture Department disciplinary actions under meat and poultry inspection laws against adulterated food and unsanitary processing plants are done informally before a department attorney.

— The Civil Aeronautics Board instituted or concluded more than 1,800 informal complaints against air carriers for violations of law, while settling only 231 cases through formal proceedings during fiscal 1971.

In addition, Nader and Rosenthal say the bill would not give the proposed agency the right to intervene or participate in "all formal adjudications 'seeking primarily to impose a fine, penalty or forfeiture,' all agency investigations and internal procedures."

This means, they said, that the proposed agency could not investigate vehicle defects, food contamination, dangerous toys, possible violations of the Flammable Fabrics Act, or industry compliance with Interstate Commerce Commission rules governing household movers.

They also said the bill would keep the new agency from participating in agency supervisory practices—such as Federal Communications Commission supervision of radio and television licenses

Nader and Rosenthal also lost a battle to give the agency what would have amounted to subpoena powers.

But Chairman Chet Holifield of the House Government Operations Committee which wrote the bill takes a different view.

"The allegation has been made," Holifield said, "that 80 to 90 per cent of federal agency actions would be outside the purview of the consumer agency because they involve 'informal' rather than 'formal' proceedings.

"The Administrative Procedures Act makes no distinction of that kind. There is no valid basis for that allegation."

Holifield said the bill "does not give this new agency the right to dominate its sister agencies of government, nor to stand as a super agency above them, but it does direct the others to cooperate with the consumer agency in furnishing information.

"And it gives the consumer agency's administrator the right to request an agency to initiate a proceeding or publicly explain its failure to do so."

Informal Considerations

Chairman Roger C. Cramton of the Administrative Conference of the United States, who helped draft the current version of the bill, said it would be extraordinarily difficult to write legislation dealing with informal agency considerations.

Similar legislation passed the Senate and the House Government Operations Committee by wide margins last year but died on a tie vote in the House Rules Committee, which clears legislation for floor action.

The current bill was rushed to the Rules Committee Friday, the deadline for filing legislation to be considered for clearance to the House floor this year.

No date has been set for Rules Committee action.

Nader complains that last year's bill was stronger. He says that the White House took a strong role behind the scenes by "disciplining Republican members and holding out carrots to some Democratic members." Holifield and Republican congressmen deny the charge.

Wisconsinites Willing To Forgo Pay Raises

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Most Wisconsin residents support President Nixon's wage-price freeze, would be willing to skip pay increases as long as prices aren't raised, and want some kind of wage-price controls after the price freeze ends, Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., says.

The senator said the opinions stems from a survey conducted by mail in August.

Of those answering, Proxmire said, 84.7 per cent backed the freeze, 86.2 per cent were willing to forego wage increases if prices and rents are held down, 77.6 per cent did not expect to buy more because of the price freeze, 89.2 per cent wanted some kind of wage-price controls after the freeze ends, and 85.9 per cent wanted the freeze extended to cover interest charges.

In other areas, Proxmire said, 83.8 per cent of the respondents wanted Red China admitted to the United Nations, providing Nationalist China remains and 75.9 per cent favored opening trade with Red China.

Busing got a nearly flat "no," with 75.4 per cent opposed to busing to desegrate schools segregated by law and 87.1 per cent opposed all busing to end segregation.

On the President's budget, Proxmire said cuts in defense, foreign aid and space programs were favored, as were increases in health and social security payments.

Proxmire said his poll was submitted to 100,000 persons, and that 18,000 replied to questionnaires.

Compared with the 84.7 per cent endorsing Nixon's freeze, the senator said, 77 per cent had said in a similar poll two years ago they would favor prices, salary and rent ceilings to curb inflation.

Formation of Consumer Body To be Promoted in State

BELOIT, Wis. (AP) — A statewide effort to form a "Wisconsin public interest research group" is planned this week when a member of consumer advocate Ralph Nader's staff visits state college campuses.

Joseph Highland will promote formation of a group similar to organizations already active in Minnesota and Oregon and being formed in 12 other states, a Wisconsin organizer said.

The group hopes to collect $4 from each college student annually, said spokesman Marty Schechtman of Beloit College, and use the money to promote public interest.

"With this kind of money, with a full-time professional staff and with students who know what needs to be done, Wisconsin could become a very different state," said a handbill promoting Highland's visit.

Students would choose and research projects. They would work on them with professionals such as lawyers, scientists and community organizers who would be hired, Schechtman said.

An estimated $600,000 could be available annually if all Wisconsin college students agreed to participate.

Colleges will be asked to hold referendums on collecting the proposed $4 contribution, he said. The program could be functioning by next year.

Highland was scheduled to visit Superior State University, Eau Claire State, Stout State, River Falls State and La Crosse State today.

Other visits include Platteville State, the University of Wisconsin, Whitewater State and Beloit College Tuesday; Wisconsin-Milwaukee and Wisconsin-Parkside Wednesday; Ripon College, Oshkosh State and Lawrence University Thursday, and Stevens Point State and Wisconsin-Green Bay Friday.

Fickle Finger Fated For Sweat-Milwaukee?

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Milwaukee city attorney's office says it finds no humor in a television network plan to bestow a satirical award on a dispute involving a civic group's protest against unemployment

Sweat Associates, organized by unemployed persons in a South Side neighborhood, has been submitting mock expense accounts to the city for various make-work projects—such as boarding up abandoned buildings, clearing vacant lots and organizing a bus picnic for elderly persons.

That caught the eye of writers for comedians Dan Rowan and Dick Martin, who have a skit involving citations for dubious achievements.

A spokesman for the show was quoted by the Milwaukee Sentinel as saying: "We haven't decided whether to give it to city hall or to Sweat."

An assistant city attorney, Joseph McGinn, said show representatives contacted his office concerning possible presentation of a staged award in a few months.

McGinn said he failed to see any humor in a situation which stems from a protest against joblessness.

Doctors Visit Lady Fleming

LONDON (AP) — Lady Amalia Fleming, 62-year-old widow of the discoverer of penicillin, is "in fair health and good spirits" in her Greek prison cell but has serious medical problems, two British doctors reported Sunday

The physicians returned from Greece where they examined Lady Fleming, serving a 16-month sentence for plotting to free the convicted would-be assassin of Greek Premier George Papadopoulos.

"She is being well cared for but she has serious medical problems," said Sir Francis Avery-Jones of Britain's Central Middlesex Hospital. With him was Dr. Christine Hodges.

The doctors did not disclose details of Lady Fleming's ailment

Mr. Les Behm, President:

Recently 6 new Volkswagen 411 4 door sedans were purchased through your firm to be used as taxicabs. Economy, which is our largest item, was the motivating factor in our choice of Volkswagen. Cost has been reduced substantially in that we are getting 23 to 24 miles per gallon in city driving with an automatic transmission.

The 411 sedan although smaller on the outside provides easier handling and still adequately fills all the requirements we desire without sacrificing any of the comfort of a larger sedan. Public acceptance has been exceptionally favorable with many comments on the ease of exit and entry the sedan offers. With such satisfaction that has been experienced through our purchase it looks as though we will be putting more 411's into service.

Calls to either 722-2888 or 722-1515 will bring a 411 sedan to your door if there is one in the area at the time.

Democrat Mills Will Support Byrnes' Re-Election Drive

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — House Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur Mills says that he will come to Wisconsin in 1972 to campaign for Rep. John Byrnes, if necessary, to keep the Green Bay Republican in Congress.

The Arkansas Democrat told reporters this weekend that the loss of the veteran Congressman would be "serious" for the working of the influential committee. In a rare cross-partisan pledge, he said that he would work for Brynes' re-election against either Republican or Democrat if it would help the 8th District congressman.

"I didn't know he was thinking about it," shot back Mills when asked during a press conference about Byrnes' prospects for retirement

With Byrnes sitting at his side, Mills — a would-be presidential candidate — said that the loss of Byrnes as ranking minority member of the committee which handles all tax, tariff and Social Security legislation in the House of Representatives would be a "serious" blow.

"It would be a very serious blow," he said. "We are losing too many good members (of the committee). We have new members put on every Congress, of course, but they are just not as experienced.

"We would have a long, hard job replacing John Byrnes," he said of the man who represents the leadership of the Republican House minority on the committee.

Mills was asked about the Byrnes situation when Mills appeared here to speak to the opening banquet of the World Dairy Expo. Byrnes took the unusual step of flying to Madison to introduce his committee chairman.

Repeated stories of impending retirement have circulated about Byrnes for three years, and he has said often that he must make up his mind before the end of next January whether he will run again for Congress in 1972.

"I wouldn't want to hurt him of course, but I would campaign for him in a primary or a general election," said Mills. "You go ahead and write that up," he said to a reporter for emphasis.

Mills took the occasion to play down his reported presidential dreams, saying that he would take his name off Wisconsin's presidential primary ballot next year if it is listed, but that he would not renounce interest in the White House.

"I never did want to go into a hole that there wasn't another way out of, and that's where you are trying to put me," he said to a reporter pressing him on his interests.

He said that he feels that at the least, President Richard Nixon is a "50-50" chance for re-election:

"He's done what many people in my party were saying he should do about the economy."

There are three issues that could work against Nixon, said Mills. They are the unemployment, inflation, and the Vietnam war.

The President has not taken the economic issue away from the Democratic Party, said Mills.

"But I have never said that there is anything better than a 50-50 chance of beating him with all three of those things working for us. With those things eliminated, he would be even tougher to defeat," said Mills.

Democrats should expect that Pres. Nixon will use the powers of the White House forcefully in the coming months to aid his own campaign without matching what he could spend from the public treasury on projects at the proper time if he wants to," warned Mills.

WSU System Head Will be Presented

EAU CLAIRE, Wis. (AP) — The proposed selection of Eau Claire State University president Leonard Haas as executive director of the state university system is to be presented Thursday to the system's Board of Regents.

Haas, 56, was endorsed unanimously by the regents' selection committee, member John Dixon of Appleton disclosed during the weekend. The head man at Eau Claire since 1950 said he would accept if officially asked to succeed Eugene McPhee, who is retiring.

"I would look upon this as a very significant challenge, particularly in view of the fact that we are moving to merger," Haas said.

Haas, comment was made concerning Gov. Patrick Lucey's proposal to combine the state university and University of Wisconsin systems. He said he had not taken a stand on the proposal which has been passed by the Senate and given preliminary approval in the Assembly.

Merger is something to be determined by the legislature, Haas said, and his purpose as a university president is "to analyze some of the possible results but not to take a position."

McPhee is to retire July 1. Dixon said the selection committee would recommend Haas take over the top position prior to that time and McPhee then serve as a consultant until leaving the system.

A former La Crosse State president, Samuel Gates, had been expected to succeed McPhee and was named associate director of the system last year. Gates recently announced his resignation to head a Colorado college system.

Dixon said the committee quickened its search when it became apparent merger was on the verge of reality.

"I think this actually changed the need and immediacy of it," he said. "So we decided to go within the system if we could to find someone conversant with our problems who knew how the office and staff functioned."

The committee might have sought out more applicants had more time been available, Dixon said.

It was the consensus of panel members that "Haas would be outstanding," he said.

W. Roy Kopp, the regents' president from Platteville, agreed.

"I'm delighted," Kopp said when told of the committee's recommendation. "I support it 100 per cent, and I think Mr. Haas would be an excellent choice."

Haas graduated from Eau Claire in 1935, and returned to the campus in 1941 as an instructor in history and government.

From 1944 until 1946 he had charge of teacher training and placement, and in 1948 he became dean of instruction, holding that position until 1959 when he became acting president.

He was elevated to the presidency the following year.

State Budget Delay Threat to Highway Improvement Plans

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Failure to pass a new state budget could cut almost in half the proposed construction during the coming biennium under the state's highway and bridge bonding program, Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's cabinet was warned Friday.

Without enactment of the proposed 1971-73 budget, the 1972 highway improvement program will have to be cut back $93 million, from $198 million to $105 million, said Secretary of Transportation Norman Clapp.

The state's failure to enact a new budget, coupled with unanswered legal questions over the legality of assuming such bonding obligations without the enactment of a budget, has forced on going cutbacks in the department's programs, Clapp told Lucey and fellow department heads.

The budget stalemate in the legislature, which has dragged consideration of a new budget more than three months past the start of the fiscal biennium and more than seven months past Lucey's submission of his proposals to lawmakers, has cut current spending, Clapp said.

Clapp said that current highway construction contracts have been cut back from $106 million to $81 million during the past six weeks as a result of the fiscal logjam

The statements came as Lucey paraded each major department head before fellow cabinet members and newsmen to recite the impact of nonpassage of the budget on their programs.

GOP Blamed

The display came after Lucey blamed Republicans for the budget delay. He said that Assembly Democrats would not act on the $2 billion budget until a conference committee, split between Republicans and Democrats, took action of the issue of shared tax reform.

Lucey accused the Republicans of acting on less than one per cent of the shared tax issue when they indicated willingness to change the sharing formula of only utility taxes, totalling $1.5 million. The state's shared tax pot totals about $300 million.

A quarter of the biennial budget is involved in shared taxes, and a budget cannot be acted upon until a more equitable sharing formula is found, he said.

Clapp said that his department also is slowing payments to contracters for work done as a means of keeping down ongoing costs.

Atty. Gen. Robert Warren, a Republican, took part in the cabinet meeting, and said in reply to Lucey's vow that there would not be budgetary action until taxes are redistributed:

"If you instruct me to do it, I can assign a couple of my state investigators to try to find that purloined budget that seems to have disappeared."

Lucey shot back, "All you have to do is find me four responsible Republican votes. I can supply the other 13."

School Board Crisis

Archie Buchmiller of the State Department of Public Instruction said that local school boards are facing a major crisis if the budget is not passed within two weeks. Local budgets must be set by Oct. 18 so that local property tax rates can be determined, he said. If school districts gamble on a higher level of state aid than currently supplied — as proposed in the deadlocked budget — and the aid increase is not forthcoming, they will have to cut back on programs or cut the school year short to make fiscal ends meet, he said.

School districts that cut their teaching year to less than the minimum allowable 180 days will lose all state aids, he warned. Local property taxes are likely to go up as a result. In his prepared remarks, Lucey estimated that those hikes could total as much as $48 million for the state.

University of Wisconsin Pres. John Weaver outlined "austerity" steps he has already taken — freezing all hiring at the school of state-paid positions and making operating cutbacks. But the UW is being forced to teach 1,600 additional students this year on last year's budget, he said.

And Michigan universities have received a ruling that they can grant retroactive pay increases to faculty members despite the federal wage freeze, he said. UW faculty members can expect to demand the same benefits — yet money for the retroactive increases has been cut out of the deadlocked budget, he said.

Lucey Wants List of Veterans

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Gov. Patrick J. Lucey Friday moved to push federal officials to give Wisconsin's veterans agency the same breaks given the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

He told John Moses, head of the Department of Veterans Affairs, to renew his request that federal veterans agency officials turn over to the state the names of all Wisconsin servicemen recently separated from active duty. Those lists are now regularly given the two private military organizations.

Last year Moses asked for the lists on a regular basis, but was refused by the federal officials.

The state had to show a need for the names, Moses said he was told.

When Moses explained that response to Lucey at a cabinet meeting here, Philip Lerman, sitting nearby, exploded. Lerman heads the commission which runs the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

"There are all kinds of uses," snapped Lucey. "We have $122 million in manpower programs and we don't even have access to that list.

"Prepare a letter to the White House for me asking for that list and I'll sign it," Lucey told Moses. Moses said the letter would be prepared.

Mark J. Seifeldt, 2100 Island Beach Road, had been jailed by Oshkosh police about 12:45 a.m. Sunday after he created a disturbance at a restaurant. Police said he had been ordered out of the restaurant after he became disorderly. He reportedly continued his actions outside the restaurant and shouted obscenities at police who were called.

A jailer found Seifeldt hanging from an overhead bar at 4:14 a.m Sunday. The detention quarters had been checked at 2:12 a.m. and at 3:10 a.m., authorities said. Seifeldt was alone in the quarters.
